Sell it to a home dealer, in preference every time, because you know then exactly what you are doing, but if you must send off, there are several reasons why St. Louis ought to be a good market. It is increasing yearly in its receipts; it has a varied class of buyers; this competition makes a demand for all grades and qualities of wool, and insures its bringing full market value; the shipping facilities from St. Louis to all points where wool is needed, are unexcelled; it is a quick market-gives quick returns. Some evil minded person tried wreck the Norfolk and Columbus turnround, one day last week in the big cut just north of town, by placing about one hundred feet of lumber, used in building snow fence, on the track. But fortunately the boards were not very heavy and were knocked off or broken by the engine, and as a consequence did no damage. Should the party be found out that did the deed, he will find that placing obstructions on the railroad track is a very expensive business

- Humphrey Democrat. It seems that there is a little rivalry etween Wm. Dietrichs and Leopold Jæggi in regard to new-fangled materials for the construction of sidewalks abuiting their lots on north Eleventh street. On what meat do these, our Casers feed that they can go to the ash vards of the mills and lay sidewalks with materials of their own choosing? By the way, where did Dietrich get the privilege to lat a sidewalk of cinderswe don't remember ever seeing such privilege granted him by the council.

-Mr. and Mrs. Wm. We, as yet, hear no response to the l'elegram's expressed solicitude in regard to the political attitude of County Judge Hensley and Sheriff Caldwell. The Telegram's suggestion was that they must before long choose to which political party they will adhere. Seriously, now, men, can't you relieve the anxious Telegram, and let a waiting world (including the alliance), know where you are standing now and where you are about to stand, in the near fure? It probably won't do very well. to imitate Judge Higgins's example and first accept a nomination other than democratic, presuming upon the forbearance of the old-line democrats to play second-fiddle,-they don't like to do that in old Platte. May be they can't help it this time, but it will go strongly against the grain, and you will be taking risky chances. By the way, how does i happen that the Telegram appears anxious about Hensley and Caldwell, and not about Speice, Phillips and Rossiter?

-- Considerable objection is being made to the employment of A. B. Hughes for three years more as principal of the Schuyler schools. The Quill thinks it taking snap judgment on the people. There are very few teachers of great ability but are satisfied to be employed by the year, depending upon continued satisfactory work for continued employment. More than a little dissat isfaction has been expressed here as to the action of the board last year in entering into a contract with Superintendent Scott for three years, and one of the two members who were candidates day to yesterday. It had been seven for re-election this spring, to-wit, D. F. The Albert referred to is the present county attorney, who was elected to his position by the republicans and the alliance. The committee on printing, consisting of Pollock, Gondring and Boettcher, then made their report, which, (after leave to make a correction) was that they recommend the city accept the proposition of THE JOURNAL and the Sentinel to Farm: and: City: Loans publish all the notices at one-third legal rates for each paper, and that a like sum be proffered for the same service to the Weekly Telegram, thus publishing in all three papers at the rate paid last year to the Telegram. A motion was made to adopt the re port of the committee. Phillips moved to amend by accepting the proposition of the Telegram; seconded by Gondring. This proposition was to charge two-thirds legal rates, for insertion once in a daily Telegram, and one-third legal rate for insertion in weekly Telegram, thus absorbing the full amount appropriated for this purpose, and providing for no publication in either the republican or the alliance newspaper of the city.

Gray believed that it was just an proper that each of the newspaper should be recognized in this matter, and thought the recommendation of the committee would give satisfaction to the Gondring didn't think it was so much a question of satisfaction as advertising He could see nothing at all in this thing of trying to please every body. [He didn' explain how advertising in THE JOURNAL Fresh ! Salt Meats. Sentinel and Telegram all together, would reach fewer people than advertis ing in the Telegram alone, or why, THE JOURNAL or Sentinel would do the work for one third legal rates, the Tele gram should be paid three times as much. He was mistaken when he said accepting the Telegram's bid, would save at least one-third of the legal rates -it would use it all.

Pollock concurred with Gray in say ing that there is no justice in inequality All the papers are doing what they can for the general welfare of the people of this community, and he wished to see the public money, to be used for this purpose to be shared between them. In the private busniess of the councilmen it is different; he certainly had nothing against the Telegram, but he could see no good reason why that paper should Gray moved that the matter be laid on the table until there could be a full council.
