COAL has been discovered in our Alaskan possessions. It is said to be virtually inexhaustible in extent, and can be laid down in San Francisco for $4 a ton. Like all Pacific coast coals it is lignite formation.

In a saloon dispute at Struble, Iowa, Wm. McFarland struck Tony Wenner, the saloon keeper, with a piece of iron, breaking a hole in his skull below the ear so that the brain oozed out. McFarland was lodged in jail within a short time after the murder.

MISS CLARA HOLWAY of Camden, N. J., died suddenly at a card party in honor of her engagement. A post-mortem examination proved her a victim of lightening. The lungs were found heavily congested. This evil is not nearly so bad as in former times, although it is more prevalent now than is generally believed.

CHICKEN was started Thursday when it was discovered that many cheap meat merchants had been using horse flesh for beef. A raid on one market disclosed a lot of horse meat for sale as beefsteak, also a lot of pickled horse meat labeled "corned beef." The proprietor was arrested. His partner escaped with several old horses that were intended for slaughter.

IRISH nationalists denounce priestly influence in political matters in Ireland. One of them, J. Atkinson, says: "I am an ardent Catholic in religious matters, but I think I am a Protestant in politics. Catholic Italy is ruled by non-Catholics, Catholic France by non-Catholics and the same condition is fast approaching in Peru, in Chile and in every country where the prelates of the church meddle in political affairs. I think, then, we had better say (with defiance and firmness) that we have no use for a theocracy, no use for republics in Ireland controlled by a theocracy, no use for a home-rule parliament elected by the aid of theocracy, and that we wish our divinely-ordained spiritual guides would let our statesmen and politicians look after statesmanship and politics entirely."

THE Omaha Bee is after the oil inspection of this state with a sharp stick, and says: "The investigation of the Bee lead to the impression that the politicians who are drawing salaries for inspecting are either negligent or corrupt, and inasmuch as the law has practically driven all competitors out of the state, there is abundant reason for suspecting that this corporation controls the inspection as well as the sale of the oil. Since the law was enacted, three chief inspectors and a large number of deputies have been appointed to enforce it. In no case have these positions been given to experienced men. They have invariably been regarded as spoils of office, and have been dealt out to political rascals on payment of political services. In short, the law has been used to provide a living for these business inspectors, and not for the protection of the people or the regulation of a business in which large profits may be made by selling inferior kerosene at standard prices. The Bee believes reform is necessary in the oil inspection service of this state, and will endeavor to quicken the conscience of the political vipers who are now living at ease at public expense and neglecting the enforcement of the law."

A Shock at Sea. The earthquake shock of Oct. 28, was felt by the American bark Hesper, Capt. Sodergren, at the harbor of Kobe, Japan. Her standing rigging was carried away by the force of the shock. On October 30, when the vessel was about twenty-five miles from Kobe on her homeward trip another violent shock occurred shortly after daybreak. A rumbling as that of a submarine volcano was heard and the sea was dashed into foam, the waves breaking over the vessel. The bark was shaken and tossed about most violently and maintained a crookedness west by the board. The deck was flooded with water of a temperature so high as to seem almost boiling hot, and the air, which was filled with a sulphurous odor, became stifling. The strength of the vessel and her crew was taxed to the utmost for an hour and a half, but it was fully five hours before the storm ceased. Captain Sodergren then steered the vessel to the southward to keep out of the storm. He lost four days by his course, but as fair weather was experienced for the remainder of the voyage a quick run was made to San Francisco.

Now that we have a right good system of voting, the Fremont Fall suggests would be a good time to elect all officers by the popular vote. The JOURNAL has for many years favored this policy on principle, and there is no good objection to it. The people, who at last pay all the bills, are the best judges in their own affairs. The forebodings of some of the revolutionary fathers in regard to the non-ability of the common people to govern themselves have never been realized, the truth being that in every crisis of our history, when as a government the will of the people was most closely adhered to and followed, we had the best results. The class of people who make their living by holding office, are not favorable, and it will never be made if they can prevent it. The less power the people have, the better it will suit professional politicians, but we shall never have a satisfactory administration of the laws, either national or municipal, until they can be enforced with an impartial hand, and outside the pale of local influence. Instead of being allowed to grow from bad to worse, and worst, as is the case in many places, the rule should be reversed and a radical change made along the line of better. Great evils are like great fires—they should be circumvented and quenched, and, when possible, prevented. A dipper of water at the proper moment, would have saved Chicago from the great conflagration that burned like a furnace. The leaven of better ways can work until "the whole lump is leavened." All the people can see better than some of the people, and there is no good reason why they should not. Instead of the rule of local influence, the rule of the people and city, and not elect postmasters, U. S. marshals and senators, or the general government, too, in all things should be an expression of the popular sentiment.

Once a Supporter of Cobden—now of McKinley. John Byrne, ex. of Gladewater, Texas, writes as follows to the American Economist:

I am getting your paper regularly. I am always glad when it comes. It is an encyclopedia from which I can learn the social condition of the world. I am an orphan by birth, but not of the McAdoo or Davis school. I am an American by choice, but not of the sockless tribe or half-breeds. I served my time to a trade. I am now farming, but if I had to fall back on my trade, the robber baron here under, protection would pay me more than twice as much for doing the same work here as his friend in Ireland would pay me, and I can buy beef here for 5 cents a pound for which I would pay 20 cents there. For leeks to drink of, I can get 10 cents a bushel, for leeks to drink of, I can get 35.00 per cwt., and for leeks to chew tobacco, 5 a pound. To earn the price of one pound of tobacco, a farm laborer would have to work five days.

When young I was an ardent freetrader and supporter of Cobden and Bright. I tell it with shame. The big cheap loaf was tempting. I never thought until too late how the poor rack-rented struggling farmer was forced to supply the cheap loaf, till I saw the murderous crowbar brigade, under the protection of troops burning then out of their houses and turning their land into game preserves.

I saw those farmers afterward wheeling barrows on government work for 9 cents a day. I knew a good strong plowman who worked for the rector of Blainville, county Down, for 18 cents per day without board. I have known horsehoes to work in the county Down for 6 a m. until 10 at night for 15—25 cents a day, or of money. Please tell this to Mr. McAdoo, as I see by one of my papers about how degrading protection is to American citizenship. I have worked at my trade in Ireland from 5 a. m. till 7 in the evening for 3 a week without board. I am now getting old, but even now working at the same trade in America, I could earn 48 a week—thanks to our protective system. The only degrading thing would be having to carry a three-quant in dinner pail in place of a more genteel one just holding a small pint.

NEBRASKA NOTES.

A charity ball at Fremont realized $200.

Burglars at Wilcoxville robbed Letson & Artz of $60 in money, Tuesday night of last week.

Elinor Scott, a young lady student at University Place became insane Wednesday.

Four Valparaiso citizens were fined $5 and costs for stealing coal from the railroad company.

J. W. Love, U. S. consul at San Salvador, is spending a vacation at his home in Fremont.

Wayne suffered a $50,000 fire Thursday. They had nothing but a poor hand engine to fight the flames with.

The Edgar casing works have closed for the season after having put up 200,000 cans of corn, and 100,000 cans of tomatoes.

Wenard Hobbie, two miles from Clarkson, was thrown out of his wagon on a bridge near his home, and killed, Thursday.

Ray Lammer, a twelve-year-old lad of York, was drowned while skating on the Desver, last Thursday. The body was recovered.

R. Hogue, a farmer near Crest, missed his year on forty acre 120,000 pounds of pop corn which he shipped to Kansas City and Chicago. Minnie Johnson of Garrettsville had a little spat with her brother and tried to end her life with a dose of rough on rats. Too much of the poison was what saved her life. Mrs. Vessey and her cousin, Miss Meyer, charged with the murder of Mr. Vessey, the husband of the former, were acquitted last week at their trial at Fallston. Mrs. V. is about to become a mother. Joseph Roe of Lincoln has been arrested by Tryber & Sweetland, on a charge of embezzlement of $500, it being claimed that Roe had sold organs and pianos for the firm and had not turned over the proceeds of sales. Through the efforts of Senator Manderson, Julius Grossman, an inmate of the Douglas county poorhouse, lately received a pension of $3,100, with a month's pay of $24 during life. The old soldier's heart was made glad.

Prague was visited by a $10,000 fire Thursday. The general stock of merchandise together with the building was totally destroyed. There was no organized fire department, and they were not prepared to handle the fire.

Johnny Kahn of Beatrice, seven years old, while trying upon a cigar box with a fork Wednesday, was almost killed and flying in his face the tines struck him in the eye, completely destroying the sight. The injured eye was removed.

Private Turner of company D, Eighth infantry, the company tailor, from Topeka, near Fort Robinson. He was in Crawford the day before, drinking heavily, and had evidently wandered off the road and becoming exhausted, laid down in a snow drift and died.

The office of F. J. Mack & Co., lumber dealers at Albion, was robbed Tuesday night of last week, of about $65. The office of Montgomery & Jaycox was also entered, but after tampering with the outer door of the safe, the burglars seemed to have been scared off.

It is said that there are beds of limestone rock in different portions of the state, and the managers of the large Portland cement manufacturer of New York have been in correspondence with the bureau of statistics, with a view of opening their works in Nebraska.

An irrigating canal near Sidney has been completed, thirty-five miles in length, that will irrigate 100,000 acres of land. That is intelligent business, good horse sense, a step in the right direction, the proper thing to do, and will no doubt make the lands productive, and worth four times what they were.

It looks now as though the cement rock of this state will soon be utilized. Two quarries exist—one at Beatrice and one at Sidney. The former was operated at one time, but work was stopped because of high priced coal and freight rates, but these objections are about to be removed, and if the state at large will be greatly benefited.

Last Thursday Dr. Lester removed a large head from the ear of the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Cox, which had become very painful. From what the little girl told it must have been in her ear at least a week, and it was only by her complaining of her ear hurting her that the head was discovered by Mrs. Cox.—(D. O. News.)

Washington Letter. [From our regular correspondent.] The national republican committee held a very harmonious meeting here today; elected Gen. Clarkson to succeed Senator Quay as chairman, and selected the place and date for the meeting of the national convention next year. For two days past the corridors of the hotel in which the committee held its meeting have reminded one of national conventional times, owing to the presence of so many republicans of national prominence. The members of the committee have an abiding faith in the success of the party next year, and for that reason they determined to make no mistake which should be serious enough to jeopardize that success. The selection of Gen. Clarkson for chairman and the date set for the convention meets with unanimous approval, but as we are to be expected after the sharp rivalry, the selection of the place for the convention to meet has caused some disappointment. But no more than was inevitable. Only one place could get the honor, and those who are disappointed because it was not their city have the consolation of knowing that a good and honorable fight was made by them all.

Tammany Hall set Governor Sandoz Hill over here to put in some preliminary bids in favor of the election of its candidate—Crisp—to the speakership. Of course Hill did not dare disobey the orders of Tammany, but it was easy to see that he was out of his element in Washington, and he got away as soon as possible, and it is understood that he will do the rest of his work for the tiger's candidate in New York City, where, surrounded by his "beaters," he feels more at home than he does in Washington.

Secretary Frocker's annual report is a model of its kind, and shows that he leaves the war department in much better shape than he found it. The system of drying paper money by steam has, by order of the secretary of the treasury, been discontinued at the bureau of engraving and printing, and in future, all money printed at the bureau will be dried by the natural process before it is delivered to the treasury to be circulated. It was thought that the steam drying was responsible for the blurred appearance which many of the notes show after a little handling, and that it weakened the fibers of the paper to a marked extent, thus shortening the time the note would last. The annual meeting of the twelve division inspectors of the postoffice department is now going on here. This system of bringing the inspectors from all over the country into contact with each other, for mutual information, once a year, originated with Inspector Rathbone, who is now fourth assistant postmaster-general, and it is considered by the department officials very helpful to the service. The chief inspector of the Canadian postal service was well pleased with his visit to the meeting last year that he is coming again this week. The meetings, owing to the ne-gure of much of the business discussed, are necessarily brief. It has been decided by the executive committee to secure an additional $50,000 for the establishment of the G. A. R. encampment here next year, and the work of obtaining subscriptions is now being pushed with diligence. This, aided by the guarantee fund of $50,000 already subscribed, will make a total of $100,000 to be spent on the encampment. Mr. Dolphin P. Roberts, who is said to be one of the most prominent colored men of Evansville, Indiana, has been appointed recorder of the general land office, to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of the Rev. James W. Townsend.

Among the magazines for December, Peterson's is one of the earliest and the best. This closing number of its 50th year is especially fine, being rich in illustrations and literary matter. Howard Seely's "Two Belles of the Border," is a very amusing sketch of Texas life. The days at St. Augustine? is an able written and illustrated with fine photographs. "My Husband's Cousin," is a capital story, and all the others are good. The fashion department commends itself for the practical character of the plates, the descriptions of style and the plainness of direction for make-up. New writers of well known ability, and new features are announced for 1892 that will add materially to the value of the magazine. Terms, $2 per year, with low club rates, and valuable premiums to club readers. Send for sample copy with full terms and premium offers. Address, Peterson's Magazine, Philadelphia, Pa.

Happy Housers. Wm. Timmons, postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined for the bad feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "I find Electric Bitters to be the best remedy for my kidney trouble, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies." He found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50 cents a bottle at C. E. Stillman's drug store.

Wm. Sawyer, of Rochester, Wis., a prominent dealer in general merchandise, and who runs several peddling wagons, had one of his horses badly cut and burned with a lazar. The wound refused to heal. The horse became lame and still notwithstanding careful attention and the application of medicines. A friend handed Sawyer some of Haller's Barb Wire Lintment, the most wonderful thing he ever saw to heal such wounds. He applied it only three times and the sore was completely healed. Equally good for all sores, cuts, bruises and wounds. For sale by Wm. Keenville.

Mr. McNeill is having his windmill put up again, after being blown down in the storm some time ago.

Not many were at the concert at West Hill church Thursday night last, on account of the dense darkness. We regret very much that this was so, for the Christian home for whose benefit it was given are suffering for money now at the beginning of the cold weather. God help them for the sake of His little ones.

Mrs. Elwell of Albion came down and gave an extremely interesting talk on "Rambles in Hebrides Islands" and she was listened to by an interested audience. A woman's foreign missionary society was formed and over twenty names were given out or spoken for.

Mr. Pearson has just built a new barn. Mr. Wolf is finishing the fencing of his whole farm, 500 acres. He wants another 80 for a garden patch.

Thanksgiving day was a very quiet one in this part of the town, too much corn out in the field yet and of too poor a quality to make farmers feel very happy, yet there are many things to be thankful for.

Miss Ella Birdsell of "Arenia" is visiting the Misses Hanchett for several days.

La Grippe Agata. During the epidemic of the gripe last season, Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, proved to be the best remedy. Reports from the many who used it confirm this statement. They were not only quickly relieved, but the disease did not return. We ask you to give this remedy a trial and we guarantee that you will be satisfied with results, or the purchase price will be refunded. It has no equal in the gripe, or any throat, chest or lung trouble. Trial bottles free at G. E. Stillman's drug store. Large bottles, 50c and $1.00.
