The committee of the W. R. C. is making a canvass of the city in quest of rooms to accommodate the lady delegates, of which there will be about 250. If you have room to take one or two of the delegates during the encampment let the committee know it. There be over 800 members of the G. A. R. here during the same time, and this will fill our hotels and boarding houses to overflowing. So it will be seen that other arrangements must be made for the visiting members of the W. R. C. Lend us a helping hand in this matter, and let us royally entertain the visitors.

They will be here Feb. 17-19. -The following from a San Diego. -The windows of the book and notion stores are hanging full of grotesque and homely colored pictures, representing mankind in all the stages and vocations of life. These are Valentines. It has been the custom for many generations to celebrate St. Valentine's day by getthem a dirty ugly looking scrap of paper, usually representing their trade or calling, also containing a mess of abusive doggerel for poetry. Just when this business commenced we do not know, however, Shakspeare speaks of it. But why it should continue at this enlightened day-the close of the Nineteenth century, is more than we can divine.
