CLEVELAND is not popular with dem cratic politicians, and Hill is not popul lar with the democratic people.

In Minnesota a heavy frost freezing the ground 11/2 inches deep was reported Monday, killing wheat and clover.

THE Platte school, to be opened Kearney September 1st, under the aus pices of the Episcopal church of No braska, promises to be a success from the start. Those in charge are pushing the enterprise with energy and good judgment.

It does seem strange that a town should be isolated in these days of ra roads, but so it is. Pocahontas Center is the only county seat in Iowa without a railway, and it is suffering just now from a lack of fuel. The grocery supply also, is about exhausted, because the nearest railroad station is fifteen miles away, and the unprecedentedly bad roads of the past month have made travel by wagon out of the question. A VIRULENT epidemic of cholera in raging in Benares, 135 deaths having occurred from the disease, and 186 new cases reported. It is said that 40,000 deaths from cholera occurred in India during the last five months of 1891. Most of the deaths are supposed to be due to famine and insufficient and polluted water supply. Cholera travels westward and Europe and America should begin at once precautionary measures-as the Chicago Inter Ocean says "clean up and keep clean."

The Grand Old Man. All things considered, the greatest and the most interesting man who now lives on this planet is William E. Gladstone and it is within bounds to declare that by far the most interesting sketch of Mr. Gladstone's personality, character, career, and methods of work that has ever been written is the brilliant article which is published as the leading feature of the May number of the Review of Reviews. It is quite impossible to characterize this sketch in a sentence or two and we can only affirm that no reader old or young, will regret having obtained a copy of the Review of Reviews for the sake of this account of Mr. Gladstone. It is with a marvellous freshness and youthful vigor that the "Grand Old Man" is preparing to enter upon the stormy election campaign of the present

Paddock's Pure-Food Bill. There are numerous ways of turning a penny to make a shilling; of stealing under the guise of doing business; o cheating your neighbor, to his hurt and your seeming advantage, and all with the name of fair-play. Of all the thousand and one ways of obtaining money under false pretences, not one of them brings in so much "filthy lucre," or probably does such amount of mischief as the adulteration of food products and the like.

A good deal of so-called coffee is made of chicory, peas or beans; of syrup, glucose; of lard, cotton-seed oil; of baking powder,-alum, ammonia, etc.; of jellies, gelatin, apples and enough of any flavor to give an excuse for the name; of butter,-lard, tallow, etc.; of vinegar, any conceivable acid that will bite: of ground spices, anything bearing the color of the spice, and often one-half the weight you get is adulteration. These counterfeits are passing every day for the genuine articles, and unprincipled dealers are trying to make the consuming and consumed public believe that it is through their honest enter. prise in securing good goods at excep. Metherington that husband and wife tionally low prices, that they are enabled to do so well by their customers. The pure-food bill is intended to measurably do away with this business and compel the counterfeiters to show what they've got in stock. Let us have butter under the name of butter, and sell your mixture as a mixture; give us the milk without either chalk or water.

The large "manufacturers" of adulterated goods are the ones that are moving all the clouds of the air and all the dust of the road figuratively speaking, to defeat our senator's just measure, and those interested on the other side as consumers should offset them by vigorous work in favor of the bill.

IT WAS ALL HARMONY.

Ohio Republicans CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 30 .- Delerates and visitors alike to the Repubican State convention took time by the forelock in getting into Music Hall vesterday. It was stormy without, but all the indications pointed toward it being decidedly more stormy inside before the day was over.

The fight between the Sherman and Foraker factions was patched up, however, by the naming of two Sherman and two Foraker men as delegates to the National convention. A reference by Gov. McKinley to the Administration of President Harrison brought out hearty cheers, succeeded a few moments later by an extraordinary hurrah that shook the roof when the speaker gave utterance to the name of Secretary Blaine. The mention of Ohio's son, Secretary of the Treasury Foster, by Gov. McKinley, was also

The following are some of the most mportant planks of the platform: We declare our unbounded confidence n President Benjamin Harrison, and without qualification indorse and commend his administration of the great office which he holds. He has given the country a wise, just and patriotic administration. He has maintained the national dignity and honor at home and abroad. He has upheld the glory of the flag while promoting peace and securing prosperity. He has faithfully redeemed the pledge given before his election and jealously guarded the interests of the whole people. The people of Ohio have a just pride in the administration of the affairs of this State by Gov. William McKinley, Jr. We heartily indorse his administration thus far, and assure him of our great esteem and confidence. The best exemplification of the principle of protection, a cardinal one with the Republican party, that has found expression in the statutes, is the Mc-Kinley bill. And we cordially declare our adherence to the doctrines of that great measure, including, as worthy of particular mention, its reciprocity features.

We condemn the bill recently passed by the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives to place wool on the free list as an unjust and hurtful attack on the agricultural industries of the country, and we insist on such full and adequate protection for

of the Platform. ALBANY, N. Y., April 30.-When th State republican convention was called to order yesterday the delegates found their work all laid out for them, everything having been arranged by the State committee, called the con- time. vention to order and introduced W. A. Southerland as temporary chairman A letter was read from Warner Miller explaining his inability to be present as a delegute. C. A. Snyder was named as his substitute.

The following resolutions adopted: In the success of his administration we recognize the consummate ability of President Harrison and the wisdo: and the sagacity of his Cabinet and especially of his chief Cabinet officer, James G. Blaine, whose strong hold upon the intimate relationship with the management of public affairs have been of lasting benefits to the American people.

We cordially indorse the vigorous declaration of President Harrison made in the city of Albany in favor of an honest dollar. The people must continue to look to the Republican party to maintain the good faith of the nation in all matters of finance, pledged as it is to keep any dollar bearing the stamp of the United States at par with gold, and to repel the assaults of the reckless advocates of free and unlimited coinage of silver.

The delegates-at-large are the big four, Platt, Miller, Hiscock and Depew The electors-at-large who were chosen were Messrs. Sage and Seligman, both responsible citizens.

The facts have been laid before the Minister of Justice at Ottawa and he has been respectfully asked to quietly but firmly lemand the return of the man.

> Washington Letter. [From our regular correspondent.]

The president wisely leaves to others all the worrying about the republican presidential nomination. He finds more than enough to do in transacting the legitimate duties pertaining to the chief magistracy of the greatest country in the world. He would be more than human if he were not gratified by the action of republicans in various states in instructing delegates to the Minneapolis convention to support him for a renomination, but he is doing nothing that might by the widest stretch of the imagination be construed into seeking a renomination.

All the talk about his withdrawing is the weriest bosh. A man cannot withdraw from what he has not entered into. The president has never said to any man that he would accept the nomination again, and his devotion to the principles and welfare of the republican party has been such that it is certain that he ing where it was bought. Failure to will not allow his name to be presented convinced that the leaders of the party consider him to be the most available candidate to lead the party to victory. If it shall be plain after all the delegates to the convention shall have been elected that any considerable portion of them are opposed to his renomination. Mr. Harrison will, I predict, forbid the use of his name as a candidate, and it would in no sense be a withdrawal for him to Plos do so, as he is not by any action of his own, further than by the faithful per-
