Columbus. The entertainment at the opera hous last Friday evening by pupils of the Indian Industrial School at Genoa was greeted by a crowded house.

In many respects it was a unique entertainment. We are accustomed to think of the Indian as untutored, wild. given over to meanness and deviltry of all kinds; this entertainment gave a partial, but indeed a very pleasing picture of the other side of the Indian nature—the susceptibility to the finer sensibilities of human nature; the evident desire to improve: and, as a consequence, the actual improvement, under favoring conditions of course.
