In her suit the other day at Omaha against the Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Des Moines, the widow of John Lisco was awarded a verdict of $2,300: not, however, without an expense of some six or seven hundred dollars. The jury were out about ten minutes. We are told that the company went to unusual lengths to cast shadows upon the career of the deceased, but that it was plain, not only that this could not be done, but, if it could, the jury would not approve of any such proceedings.

Chief of Police Coleman also made a full report of the discharge of his duties the past month; both reports were referred to committee on police.

Pursuant to former instructions of the council, City Attorney Cornelius reported resolutions requiring the Union Pacific and B. & M. railroad companies to put in crossings, move all obstructions and open up K and M streets. The clerk was directed to notify the agents of the companies. There was considerable discussion over this matter by members of the council. Phillips thought it might be best to try for the opening of one street first, say M street He said that of course he was in favor of opening all the streets, but he was inclined to think that one at a time would be the better policy for the city to pursue. Boettcher believed that it would be to the advantage of the railroad companies to have both streets opened, the travel could be so much better accommodated; as it is now, there is more or less kicking resulting because of the few crossings. Besides, it is nothing more than justice to the city that the streets should be unobstructed. Newman, who wanted to include Nebraska avenue in the list when the matter was first broached,-thus taking the U. P. freight depot out of the street-was strenuous for now-making it a part of this proceeding, and insisted that it was not fair to compel private citizens to remove corn cribs, etc., and allow a railroad company to keep its building in the street. It is evident that the representative of the "silk stocking" ward has olding on qualities.

In the discussion it was intimated that the U. P. company would claim present privileges under a statute of 1886 in regard to streets traversing depot grounds. Spoerry suggested that there was a considerable portion of the railroad grounds that was not in use for railroad pur

-There is no danger from whooping cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given. It liquefies the tough, tenacious mucus and aids in its expectoration. It also lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, and insures a speedy recovery. There is not the least danger in giving it to children or babies, as it contains no injurious substance. 50 cent bottles for sale by C. E. Pollock & Co. and Dr. Heinz, Druggists.
