STATE BREVITIES.

The village of Eagle has a six-footed kitten, owned by E. Handrack.

One hundred extra policemen were on duty in Omaha during election day.

Observation shows that in the prairie schooners are nearly all headed west.

The brick work on the opera house block at Rising City was completed last week.

There has been quite an immigration to Pawnee City during the past few months.

A Catholic society at Valparaiso is raising money to build a residence for their priest.

Dan McKay, a laborer of Omaha, to avoid arrest, jumped into the river and was drowned.

The National Farmers' congress will meet at the capitol in Lincoln, November 22 next.

A riot in the Douglas county jail was suppressed by "turning the hose" on the prisoners.

The city of Columbus at the late election went republican for the first time in its history.

The Congregational church at Harvard received an accession of eleven members in one day.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Pringle of South Omaha died from the effects of having drunk concentrated lye.

Sam Adler of Lincoln pinned his faith to Bryan for congress and is ahead $155, 309 cigars and a meal ticket.

The Mercor is Omaha's newest and best hotel, on Tenth and Howard streets. Rates $2 to $4.50 per day, 150 rooms and 60 connected with bath.

The Merrick county Republican says: More sheep will be fed in Merrick this year than ever before. It is safe to place the estimate at 200,000 or more to the acre.

Kelley, Stiger & Co., the popular dry goods house of Omaha, show the largest line of cloaks in the west. Exclusive and correct styles. Corner Farnam and 16th Sts.

Prisoners in the Douglas county jail, held on the night and had to be subdued with a dressing of cold water. They claim insufficient food and that what they get is unfit to eat.

Matthew McEuen, a farmer living six miles from North Platte had his hand torn off during the democratic parade by a dynamite fire cracker, and amputation of his arm became necessary.

Colonel H. R. Wahlquist of the Hastings Democrat and Colonel George P. Marvin of the Beatrice Democrat, both candidates for the legislature, were defeated, but Colonel E. M. Cornell of the Hebron Journal will be seated.

His plans made a raid on North Bend and four private residences were gone through. They secured $5 and some clothing at Mr. Dowling's, a suit of clothes, overcoat and hat at J. H. Johnson's, $32 at Jerry Dion's besides helping themselves to a midnight lunch.

A Juniata correspondent says that John Henertz met with a terrible accident on Monday night by which he suffered the loss of an eye. While coming to town in a cart and when near J. D. Lemon's residence his horse began kicking fiercely, finally throwing John out and kicking his eye out.

It is not generally known, but nevertheless true, that the Woodman Linseed Oil Works at Omaha will this year consume almost the entire crop of flax seed in this state. Shippers have a home market where they can obtain more than its shipping value, and get quick returns, two very desirable considerations.

George W. Hall, manager of the Standard Life insurance company at Omaha, shot and instantly killed himself at his residence. Temporary abridgment of the mind, supposed to be the cause. Mr. Hall had not been in good health for some time, and for more than a year past he has acted queer.

Comparative receipts of live stock at the South Omaha market from January 1 to November 18, 1892, are: Cattle, 1,438,894 hogs, 164,331 sheep, 11,943 horses and mules; showing a gain of 113,860 cattle, a gain of 108,815 hogs, a gain of 18,832 sheep, of 1,213 horses and mules as compared with the previous year.

Charles F. Ruggles, aged 40, a laborer on the new East Omaha bridge construction, fell dead Sunday night. He was playing poker with three friends in the bridge company's boarding house. He was seated at a table and as soon as he looked at it he laughed and fell back in his chair dead. The physician was called and pronounced heart disease the cause.

The regular winter burglaries are coming on as the weather gets cold, says a Lincoln paper. The man who steals for a living objects to going tony clad, and accordingly these nights he is helping himself to such of his neighbor's accumulated wealth as is most useful. One of this genre went through the back window of Fred Brandhorst's shoe store at 1841 G street and got away with about $50 worth of goods.

Receipts of live stock at this market, says a South Omaha correspondent, show a falling off as compared with a week ago of 1,800 cattle and 6,500 hogs. There were received during the last five days 14,732 cattle, 20,634 hogs and 9,213 sheep. "This decrease is in a large measure due to this being election week," says a prominent commission man, "although bad weather in the west has cut some figure in the shortage in receipts of range cattle."

The Union College, located 21 miles southeast of Lincoln, has opened its second term with 450 students, four-fifths of whom are outsiders. This college is conducted under the auspices of the Seventh Day Adventist denomination. It is one of the finest colleges in the west and was erected at a cost of from $150,000 to $175,000. Two separate dormitories with 100 rooms, each fitted with bath, steam heat, hot and cold water. The scholars are under the immediate supervision of the faculty, who become responsible for their actions while placed in their care.

Mrs. George Heuston of York was dangerously injured in a runaway. She was driving a horse and the animal became frightened and ran away, demolishing the buggy and rendering the lady unconscious. Hopes of her recovery are entertained.

NEBRASKA ASSEMBLY

PLEDGES NOT GIVEN

CLEVELAND MADE NO OVERTURES TO TAMMANY.

Claiming That He Had Not Sought the Nomination, But the Nomination Had Sought Him—No Friends to Reward or Encourage to Punish—The Coming Monetary Conference—Possessed of a Sheriff Who Has Both Nerve and Endurance.

It is denied that Cleveland gave Tammany any pledges.

New York, Nov. 19.—The Brooklyn Eagle, in an editorial, strongly denies the published statement regarding that dinner at the Victoria hotel, at which Mr. Cleveland met the Tammany leaders and is said to have made promises and stipulations to them in return for their support at his election. The truth as to what the politicians on Mr. Cleveland's courage at the freedom learned, is this: "They learned that Mr. Cleveland would make no provision or anything of the sort to any of them, or to any others through them. That he had not sought the nomination which, on the contrary, had sought him, that he considered the state a matter of much more importance to them than to him; that he recalled the fact that his democracy was questionable by them or doubtfully by any one; that they knew he was aware who had been his friends before the nomination, and he would know who had and who had not been his friends after the election; that he would have no friends to reward on account of friendship and no former opponents to punish on account of former opposition; that he would go to election or to defeat equally free of all pledges, uncommitted, but that if the democratic people and ticket were defeated in this state by the democratic machine another democratic organization was ready to take its place at once, and that in such case the youngest man present would be Governor. Sheehan as standing up and addressing Mr. Cleveland on the subject of pledges, Mr. Cleveland replied to Mr. Sheehan: "Mr. Sheehan, I have listened with the utmost attention to what you have said. I have followed you very carefully, and I think I understand you perfectly, and what I have to say in reply, Mr. Sheehan, is that I'll be d—d if I will pledge myself to any man on any subject whatever, and I'll be doubly d—d if I give you those particular pledges for which you have asked at this particular time."

The Coming Monetary Conference. LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Indian currency committee which it was supposed, was expediting its decision with a view to influencing the international monetary conference which meets in Brussels on Tuesday next, adjourned today until the conference is over. This unexpected step is attributed to a design of the committee to assist the delegates to the conference, leading a discussion for the position on the currency in India. When this commission resumes its sitting, evidence will be privately taken from currency experts, including single standard men favoring a gold coinage for India.

Concerning the instructions of the American delegates, the representative of the Associated Press, gleaned from various well informed sources, learns that no hard and fast proposals will be presented by them. A general statement advocating an international agreement will be made before the conference, and this will lead to debate. The delegates anticipate that the result will be a report signed by the members, whereby their proposition for an international agreement. Doubtless dissenting reports will also be made. No reliable statement can yet be made as to whether the American views will have a majority or minority, but even if the monetarists prove numerically the strongest, it is to be hoped that the deliberations will assist in the ultimate adhesion of the government to an international convention to regulate currency values.

A Nerve Deputy Sheriff Captures and Slaughters a Desperate Robber.

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 19.—This afternoon Maurice Crowley, a desperate character who hails from Winthrop, boarded a Missouri Pacific train at that place and robbed a Chicago traveling man of a gold watch, $20, and a number of valuable papers, after which he jumped from the swiftly moving train and escaped. He was captured a short time later by Deputy Sheriff Brennan, who started with him for the jail in this city.

While riding in a street car Crowley suddenly sprang up and crowded. The deputy started after him with drawn pistol, and falling on the slippery pavement the revolver went off and shot his left hand away. He, however, continued the pursuit and shot Crowley in the side, after which he was jailed. Crowley's wound is serious.

A Memorial Has Been Presented.

New York, Nov. 17.—President-elect Cleveland was one of the honored guests at the twelfth annual dinner of the chamber of commerce held at Delmonico's. There were many other honored guests present, but none around whom so many interests were centered as in Cleveland. It was the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, who sat at the table of honor next to Whiteaw Reid. Defeat seemed to sit lightly on the shoulders of Mr. Reid, and Mr. Depew, when he shook hands with Mr.

HE WRITES TO A GIRL TO JOIN HIM AND GRAND FOLKS N. D.

Some two weeks ago W. L. Comers, who for some time has been purchasing grain in East Grand Forks and selling on commission, disappeared suddenly, forsaking his wife and children and taking with him, it is alleged, proceeds of sales of several thousand bushels of grain belonging to farmers for whom he had been acting. Nothing was learned of his whereabouts until yesterday, when a young man arriving with the name of Charles Williams, a letter from Comers to his wife, who has lived with the family of Comers for some time as nurse girl. The missive comprised fourteen pages of manuscript and urged the girl to come to him. The letter was dated San Bernardino, Cal., and Williams brought it with him. Comers' wife obtained the letter in some way and put it in the hands of the police. A telegram was received last night stating that he had been apprehended and the money he had taken with him. Comers was living under an assumed name. He is highly connected here and has occupied various positions of trust.

Some Good Things in Store.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—There are four rich plums which the democratic senators must dispose of in caucus: membership of the senate, now held by General S. G. McKee of New York, with a salary of $5,000 per annum; the sergency-at-arms, now occupied by Judge E. K. Valentine of Nebraska, which also pays $5,000 a year; chief clerk, now occupied by Charles W. Johnson of Minnesota, which carries a salary of $2,500 a year, and the postmaster, paying $5,000 a year, now held by Stanley Plummer of Illinois.

There is no doubt that Charles B. Rende of Maine, the present assistant sergeant-at-arms, will be retained as his predecessor, James Christy, a southern democrat, was retained by the republican senate until his death. It is not expected that there will be a clean sweep of all the republican employes of the senate. There have been for years numerous democrats on the senate rolls and it is expected that the incoming democratic senate will show the same courtesy to the republican colleagues that was extended to them when they were the minority.
