There is a lively postoffice fight on at Bloomington.

Measles is quite prevalent among the children of Plattsmouth.

The city marshal of Herman has resigned and will remove to Chicago.

Many farmers from Central Illinois are finding homes in Nebraska this year.

A fire in Nebraska City destroyed $30,000 worth of goods for Lambert brothers.

Pawnee City has already secured the services of Church Howe for Decoration day orator.

John E. Sheridan, a prominent citizen of Fremont, died last week at Colfax Springs, Iowa.

Pender's new hotel, the Peables, is to be opened March 1. It will accommodate 120 guests.

In Omaha a runaway team dashed into a street car, quite severely injuring one of the lady passengers.

The Grace Lutheran church society of Lincoln will erect a house of worship in the near coming months.

Kearney now has a cigar factory that employs eight men and the proprietor expects to enlarge the capacity.

The Mercer is Omaha's newest and best hotel, cor. Twelfth and Howard streets. Rates $2 to $1.50 per day. 110 rooms and 100 connected with bath.

A. J. Dornier, the Ashland sewing machine agent, charged with using the United States mails for improper purposes, was bound over by Commissioner Blandley in $500 bail, which he gave.

Auburn citizens are greatly excited over several fires which have been started in that city recently, and a reward of $50 has been offered for the detection and conviction of the incendiary.

At York Colonel Henry Fry sold his entire stock of thoroughbred horses, including several imported draft stallions and trotters with records of 2:40 and better, prices ranging from $6,000 to $10,000.

Luke Finn, sheriff of Greeley county, who filed $8 and costs before Judge Oles last week, for assaulting P. J. Philbin, editor of the Greeley Citizen. The citizen exposed some of the sheriff's doings and called him "handsome sheriff."

Word comes from DuBois, twelve miles south of Table Rock, of the death of Bobt. Farmer, one of the four men who made the first settlement in Pawnee county in 1847. He is the father of the wife of E. A. Barton, superintendent at the Chicago exposition.

At Sioux City an inmate of a house of shelter, who went by the name of Florence Russell and claimed to be the daughter of a stockman named Clark, living at Lincoln, committed suicide by taking an overdose of morphine. She had been an inmate of the house only about a week.

D. Schrader, a bachelor of fifty years, living twelve miles north of Grant, committed suicide by blowing his brains out with a shot. He is a claimant near there, but was not yet naturalized and a fear that he would lose his land is supposed to have been the cause of his rash act.

The North Nebraska Teacher's association meets in Fremont March 29, 30 and 31. There will be an attendance of 300 teachers from all over Nebraska. The program will consist of discussions of educational questions by men of state and national reputation. The speakers will be selected by the needs of the country.

Allice Block, of Lincoln, a pretty young miss of 17, was to be the central figure of a wedding at her father's home there, when she died of typhoid fever. She had been made the young bride of a man who was to marry her, but she refused to marry a man whom she had refused and could have.

A. C. Beckwith, Wyoming's new United States senator, is not known in Gage county. His name is familiar to the people of that county, however, as he lived on the "Little Blue," where, previous to his removal to Wyoming, he was engaged in trapping. A number of the cattlemen of that county are quite well acquainted with him, and he is in Gage county in the sixties, as graphed him his congratulations.

At the close of services at a recent meeting in the church in Table Rock all were requested to rise to their feet who were voters and who would vote for one at the spring election unless they were pledged to vote for men to oppose saloons at any and all times. Sixty-one rose to their feet. This is a straw which seems to indicate which way the wind will blow at the annual village election.

At this time it is believed that Nebraska is gaining an average of 1,000 in population a week. Assistant General Passenger Agent Smith of the Burlington says that his line alone is bringing in something like 200 car loads of immigrants every two or three days.

Mr. Spenser, Year committee appointed to visit and investigate the condition of the stock yards at South Omaha, would report that we visited the same on February 22, and after making a hurried examination of the yards, went through two of the packing houses, Swift & Co. and Cudahy & Co., after which we repaired to the office of the Omaha Stock Yards company, where Mr. McShane, president of the stock yards company, furnished us the following statements: (same being the originals), numbered 1, 2, 3, 4. He also made the statement that the yards are run on about the same basis as other stock yards are run.

Yarding, including weighing cattle, 25 cents each; hogs, 8 cents each; sheep, 6 cents each.

There is, but one charge made for weighing, and when stock is received on its track the company is responsible unless the stock is sold and weighed.

He further stated that they charged for food; hay, $1 per 100 pounds; corn, $1 per bushel; that the Stock Yards company do not sell stock placed on market, but hold the commission men responsible, for the reason that the railroad companies hold the Stock Yards company responsible for freight.

All cars of stock from the railroad company are handled free of charge to the shipper, but they charge the railroad company $1 per car for switching and unloading. It is charged that 77 per cent of hogs, 62 per cent of cattle and 53 per cent of sheep that pass through the stock yards are sold there.

Three of the commission men appeared before the committee and made the statement that their charges for selling stock are the same as in other cities, which are as follows:

Cattle, 30 cents of less than twenty-five cents; hogs, 8 cents; sheep, 6 cents per car single decker, $10 per double decker.

SENATE.—In the senate on the 25th, the bribery investigation committee were at work. It had under consideration the resolutions offered by Cooley some time ago relative to the charges made in the newspapers against the Representative Sheridan had lost a considerable sum of money at a poker game. One affidavit was made by J. J. Ballard, one of the men interested in the game, who testified that he saw a large number of cards and other game in the room in which the game was played. He has written and family of the children in Berkeley.

The Schuyler Quill says: Last week the people of Leigh awoke one fine morning and discovered that the Leigh school had been robbed. The work was evident, but just who did the deed was the all important question. Little by little discovered the fastened the door, the window, the door, the window, and it caused a great surprise. He is village clerk, was a justice of the peace and was prominent in politics, as well as up in society. His wife was hard to believe, but the evidence was strong. A search warrant was secured and his residence searched, but nothing was discovered. Then his wife was locked up and finally the door taken up, and there in a hole was found nearly $300 worth of the stolen goods. He denied the theft and claims that these were taken by other parties without his knowledge, but the case seems too plain against him.
