—We have a full force of mechanics to do everything in our line of blacksmiths, wind-mill, pump work and wagon making, machinery, etc. Wm. Bloedorn, Platte Center. 1

—The new residence of S. G. Inlay in the western part of the city is fast nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy June 1. The city seems to be building in that direction.

—The man who expects to work his ends by lying, calculates also on keeping those he lies about from comparing notes, and this shows his ignorance of the ordinary principles of computation.

—Col. M. Whitmoyer is to deliver the address on Decoration day, and the committee are at work to complete arrangements for the proper observance of a day which has become as sacred to American patriots as the Fourth of July.

—The engine shipped here from Grand Island for work on the new Platte bridge, was found, on its arrival here, minus a number of parts, such as bolts, oil cups, etc. The man who robbed it must have done so from spite or pure deviltry.

—Harry Markell started Thursday for the international convention of general secretaries of the Y. M. C. A., at Louisville, Ky. He expects to be absent a week and Bert Coolidge will have charge of the rooms here in Mr. M's absence.

—Mrs. Helen H. Stires of Columbus, has been engaged by the Cedar Rapids W. R. C. to deliver an oration here on decoration day. Mrs. Stires is a fine speaker, a former resident of this place and still a member of this corps.—[Cedar Rapids Commercial.

—One of our Platte Center subscribers registers a kick against the keeping open of saloons on Sunday in the village, and, as a business man interested in the welfare of the place, suggests that the village authorities should see to the enforcement of the law.

—The mayor took the bit into his mouth, so to speak, and surprised everybody, by appointing Col. Whitmoyer city attorney; even the Colonel had no notion that his name was under consideration by his honor. He will make a first-class attorney, in every respect.

—C. A. Lutz & Co., the manufacturers of wooden shoes, are conducting a very neat, good business, at their establishment on Thirteenth street, taking orders now for September and October delivery. They are men with whom and for whom it is a pleasure to do business.

—When THE JOURNAL editor asked Judge Sullivan the other day if he had become a "pedipulator" of the bicycle, the judge replied, "You have coined a term that deserves to go into general use and into all future dictionaries of the Enghsh language." We modestly subside.

—Dr. Evans of Columbus, was in Genoa yesterday in attendance on Mrs. John Davis, who is suffering from a cancer in her breast....M. V. Moudy was in Columbus on legal business last week....H. W. Abts of Columbus, registered at the Metcalf last Friday. —[Genoa Banner.

—John Wagner has put a new roof on his furniture store. Mr. W. was formerly a carpenter and builder; we noticed that he laid the new roof on the old one without taking off the old shingles. We suppose, therefore, that this is a good method, where the old roof is not too far gone.

—J. R. Meagher goes to Omaha today to meet with the re-union committee. The Colonel is a much honored man these days, having just received a commission as department aide-de-camp, from Commander Church of the G. A. R. He holds a similar commission in the national department.

—THE JOURNAL was honored Thursday with a very pleasant ten minute call by Ross Hammond, the accomplished editor of the Fremont Tribune, who is just now resting under a small cloud raised by Bixby of the Lincoln Journal palming off on a too-confiding public some lines of his own over Hammond's signature. If Ross don't get even with him we miss our guess.

—About May 1st the undersigned will open up a Labor agency and Intelligence office. All kinds of orders for labor, male and female, procured. All kinds of legal documents written and acknowledged, and all kinds of orders for books and newspapers, inland and foreign, received and properly attended to. Office corner Eleventh and Olive streets. John Schmocker, Notary Public. 52-3

—A pretty good sized house was being hauled through the streets Thursday, and it was slipping along very smoothly, the mud seeming to be about as good a substance for sliding on as snow; the house rested on two pieces 6x6, these were attached under the hind axle of a wagon, and two horses were at the head of the combination, and without difficulty were hauling the "internal improvement" to its destination.

—Trenmore Cone of Cedar Bluffs and T. H. Bradbury of Wahoo, Saunders county, were in attendance at the convention of school superintendents and principals, and gave this office a very pleasant call Saturday morning. Saunders county has been doing a good work in the way of providing libraries in 67 out of 113 school districts, Wahoo alone having 700 volumes in her library, 200 of these in the last year, the money being raised by entertainments.

—The Farmers' club met at Mrs. L. E. Stewart's April 28. The discussion on Ornamentation of Lawns was entered into with considerable zest by most of the members present, and appropriately closed with an essay on the Culture of Flowers, by Miss Nellie Young. The Cultivation of Corn, led by A. W. Clark, was discussed quite freely, but no new theories advanced. R. W. Young, when telling us about the different kinds of Bees, gave some interesting points. The difference between the queen and her workers is caused by the food that is carried to her. Some call it royal jelly. She has a sting but uses it very seldom. It was a surprise to some of us to learn that after all, the most important use of the bee stinger is not the stinging, but that it is really an exquisitively contrived little trowel, with which the bee finishes off and caps the cells, when they are full of honey, and that during this final finishing stage of the honey-making, the bees inject a minute portion of an acid into the honey, which is in reality the poison of the sting. This formic acid is said to give to the honey its peculiar flavor, and also imparts to it keeping qualities.—Next meeting to be held at Mr. Carl Rhode's Friday, May 26.

—Those who expect to get pay for their lands or who have objections to make to the opening of the "WENCK" road should file the same with the county clerk on or before noon, JUNE 9; this road commences at the northeast corner of section 4, twp. 19, range 1 east, and running thence due west on section line 1 mile, terminates at the northwest corner of said section 4. Also to a road commencing six chains and thirty links north of the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 17, twp. 16, range 2 west, and running thence due south about 12 chains and terminating at the intersection of the Eby road. Claims for damages on this last road should be filed by noon JUNE 28.

—After thirty-five years of continuous and successful farming in Nebraska, Mr. Murray, who lives about four miles west of Columbus, is about to retire. Well, what of it. Nothing, only that he has easily made $100,000 out of Nebraska soil in that length of time. It has been said that when Mr. Murray came to Platte county he had a shotgun and a box of matches. He traded the gun for 160 acres of land, and the matches contained enough brimstone to keep sheol poppin' ever since. Be this true or not, Pat Murray is the most successful farmer in Platte or any other county in the state.—[Humphrey Democrat.

—The high schools of Tecumseh have commencement-week exercises, the evening of May 22 to be devoted to an address by M. B. C. True on "Education: How it affects the Individual;" May 23, to exercise by the junior class; May 24, annual meeting of the alumni. Address by Hon. W. E. Andrews: "History and the Citizen;" May 26, exercises, by the graduating class. THE JOURNAL editor acknowledges the receipt of a card of invitation from Sup't True, who is doing such good work for Tecumseh, inspiring its thoughtful youth with an enthusiasm for learning, and journeying along with them in the paths of science.

—Mrs. Jenness Miller, who has gained some notoriety in her way, in an interview the other day, had this to say of her sex, which truly is very severe—more so than the ordinary satirists are: "Don't you know," said the fair dress reform enthusiast, "that a woman can be better reached through her looks than through her intelligence? Don't you know that the average woman in society cares more for her appearance than for her soul's salvation? Why, I have known hundreds of women who would rather commit suicide than become passee. I know this, for I have made woman a study."

—The Escape of the original colored jubilee singers will hold the boards at the opera house Friday, May 12, under the auspices of the G. A. R. of Columbus. This troupe of colored artists is without an equal in the country in their old-fashioned slavery-day songs, and have received very extended complimentary comments from the press wherever they have made their appearance. Admission 25 cents, children 15. No extra charge for reserved seats. The management says that the moral tone of this entertainment is not questioned wherever he goes and is objectionable to none.

—Edward Hardy, who will be remembered by our citizens as falling in a well near Leigh several months ago and breaking both limbs, besides sustaining other severe injuries, and for the past eight months an inmate of the Sisters' hospital at Columbus, arrived in town last Tuesday and was taken out to his daughter's home one mile west of here where he will find a home with Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Perry. He seems to have grown stronger, but will always be helpless to a great extent.—[Howells Journal.

—A safe must be a very good one these days to be proof against burglars, and if it is not that, it might best be left accessible to them, and some business men who have had their safes blown up, and don't wish the experience duplicated on them, put up some such sign prominently on their safe: "Not Locked. "This safe contains no money, no valuables—only account books and private papers." The truth is a sum of money is safer almost anywhere else than in the ordinary safe.

—Dr. E. L. Siggins took charge of the microscopical situation here yesterday. He was presented with a dozen or more bouquets by the girls in his employ. So far no changes have been made in the employes aside from the chief microscopist. There was some talk of changing the present quarters of the station, but Dr. Siggins received a telegram last night instructing him to release the quarters now occupied, which he did.—[Omaha Bee.

—The following paragraph from the Lincoln Journal will be of interest to the friends here of Mr. Becher:

"Labor Commissioner Erion took possession of his office yesterday and began preparations for a siege of hard labor. Mrs. Packard of St. Paul, Neb., will occupy the position of clerk in the department. Mr. Becher will be retained for a few days until the new occupants become accustomed to the workings of the office."

GOTHENBURG—COLUMBUS.

Columbus Gentlemen Visit the Lively Little City in West Nebraska.

Tuesday evening of last week the spirit of progress carried a delegation of gentlemen westward to Dawson county and introduced them to a very youthful, and, as yet, very small city of the plains, brought to its present proud position by the use of brains, energy, and money judicially invested. Later along, we could hope that the same spirit of progress may be heard to say "Gothenburg, allow me to introduce you to Columbus."

The delegation arrived in the evening and after supper visited lake Helen—which is the reservoir of the canal, and situated on the edge of the town—and viewed the scene by moonlight.

Wednesday forenoon the party were taken in carriages to the lake and several miles into the country, and were shown the manufacturing plants erected and under way.

A brief description of the canal is that it taps the Platte river, and winds in a somewhat tortuous course along the face of the bluffs for twelve miles, where it ends in a reservoir of 143 acres (named lake Helen.) [Just such a lake could be formed straight north from the Union Pacific freight depot in this city, where the natural lay of the ground would make it a comparatively easy place to construct the south wall of the lake.] The depth of the canal is 8 feet; width, 32 feet; fall, 1 foot to the mile; fall of river, 7⅝ feet to the mile; fall at the wheel, 53½ feet; capacity of canal, 2,500 horse-power. The fall of the water at the power-house, into a turbine wheel about as big as a good-sized tub, gives the power which is conveyed all over the little city, wherever needed, for all purposes for which power can be used and right here is where the modern way comes in, because this conveying is done by means of electricity—quick, inexpensive and very convenient. As is remarked in the Gothenburg circular, setting forth their advantages, "a saw-mill located right in a coal mine could not possibly have as cheap power as a mill even five miles from a reliable water-power. This is due to inventions and discoveries in electricity made within the last five years."

The accounts given by all who have visited Gothenburg and Kearney, too, agree in saying that nothing can excel the canal-power scheme to place the cities along these gently-sloping plains in the front place as manufacturing centers, and the situation of Columbus is not excelled, if equaled, anywhere else in Nebraska.

We shall take occasion another time to give additional items learned from the delegation, which visited Gothenburg, and to be learned by a special reporter which THE JOURNAL will send out. Columbus MUST HAVE this power, to keep pace with the procession, and she will get it by the active co-operation of her citizens who can be made to see its great benefits.

The delegation visiting Gothenburg were G. W. Phillips, J. C. Fillman, C. A. Newman, A. Boettcher, W. Saunders, E. J. Niewohner, A. and L. Jaeggi, and W. Kearville, to the first two of whom we are indebted for items used and to be used.

—The semi-annual meeting of the Nebraska state superintendents and principals association was held here Friday evening and Saturday morning. About fifty educators were present and represented the educational portion of our state in a very creditable manner. J. T. Morey of Kearney as presiding officer, and Mrs. F. H. Bowen of Lincoln as secretary should receive much credit for their work. We would like to give the account in detail as all were very interesting and instructive, but lacking the space, we are compelled to be brief. Friday evening at the Congregational church, "Graduation Exercises" and "Needs of Normal Training" and "Report from National Educational Association" were the subjects for discussion, all handled ably by the "pedagogues." Saturday morning the association met in the Thurston hotel parlor. "Should a Superintendent or Principal confine his Teaching to the High School?" and "Is Spelling becoming a Lost Art?" were the themes in hand. Discussion of the last named subject was led by H. R. Corbett of York, in a masterful way. The next meeting will be held in the fall at Lincoln. Following is a list of some of those present,—we were not able to get the names of all. Morey, Kearney; Fitzpatrick, Omaha; Mrs. Bowen, Lincoln; Bradbury, Wahoo; Pearse, Beatrice; Barr, Grand Island; Corbett, York; Hughes, Schuyler; Stableton, Lexington; Hornberger, Norfolk; Miss Clark, Fremont; Miller, Fremont, Colbert and Miller, Lincoln; Miss Gallagher, Cedar Rapids; Longuest, Fremont; Crabtree, Ashland; Biglow, Madison; Stephens, Fullerton; Courtright, Petersburg.

—Mrs. J. N. Heater, of the Eureka Apiary at Columbus, has gotten out a very neat and useful pamphlet treating on the subject of bee culture. Mrs. Heater is the daughter of S. S. Case, of St. Edward, and has been engaged in this line of work at Columbus for some years and has been quite successful in it, thus showing what a woman can do when she has the disposition. This bee business is becoming quite an industry in this state, and has proven itself to be profitable. Bees are useful not for the honey that they produce alone, but for other reasons that were spoken of by Mr. Masters at the horticultural meeting at Lincoln last winter. He had this to say: "Bees are as essential to the grower of fruit as any other one thing, and if we spray our vines or trees at the time the bees are fertilizing the flowers or fruit, we kill the bees." They are a great help to the flowering or fruiting of these things, as they help to distribute the pollen as they go from one flower to another. As we get to sowing more clover and alfalfa, the bee industry will grow and become of added profit to individuals and to the state, and Mrs. Heater is doing her share in bringing this to the attention of others who may see fit to extend this industry.—[Albion News.
