THE Ohio state convention on Friday did the very sensible thing of renominating Gov. McKinley by acclamation, and there is but little doubt in the minds of Nebraska Republicans that he will be "elected by acclamation." The governor paid a glowing tribute to the outgoing administration in his speech accepting the nomination, cautioned his friends that this year the state of Ohio would be an important wedge in the fall cam paign, and that success could only be attained by active, energetic and concerted work on the part of the Republicans. Following is the ticket: For Governor, William McKinley; for lieutenant governor, Andrew S. Harris: for state treasurer, William T. Cope; for attorney general, John K. Richards; for supreme judge, Joseph P. Bradberry for member of the board of public works Frank J. McCulloch: for food and dairy commissioner, Dr. F. B. McNeill.

"Mn. WILLIAM McKINLEY does not go fishing on Decoration day," says the Indianapolis Jour-nal. No, he goes demagoging, which is more objectionable.—[New York World.

The "demagoging" which the World charges to Governor McKinley and to which it objects was his Decoration day address at Indianapolis and in which he

NORTH APPOINTED

Revenue Collector John L. Peters.

To appoint or not to appoint J. E. North to the best paying federal office in Nebraska has seemed to be the chief question of the Cleveland administration with reference to Nebraska politicians for some time; it seemed plain that if the appointment should go to a Nebraskan that North had the preference among many aspirants, but latterly it had been conceded that Maratta of Dakota would be appointed, and even Mr. North himself had seemingly given up the race and settled down to business. But politics, like the weather, is somewhat variable, Mr. North's friends were persistent, and Maratta, having been provided with a consulate, Mr. North becomes John Peters's successor, the latter having resigned Saturday, and Mr. North's appointment made Mon-

The salary is $4,500, with the power of appointment of an office and field force of combined salaries amounting to nearly $50,000.

THE JOURNAL, although differing from Mr. North politically, congratulates him heartily upon this nomination; believes he will fill the duties of the office faithfully and well, and fully meet the expectations of the chief executive who makes the appointment, and of the general public who will have business with

We may say, in conclusion, that we believe Mr. North owes this appointment to the fact that he always sticks to his friends, which naturally results in the other fact, that they always stick to him.

A Railroad Protest.

We have before us quite a lengthy and indignant protest issued by Gerge H Heafford, general passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company. As it is of somewhat general interest at this time, we devote considerable space to its review. To us, also, most of the points seem to be well taken and deserving notice.

The circular has twelve lengthy rea sons why the railroads are in no way connected with or can in any way be held responsible for the somewhat small at tendance upon the fair so far. It asks the Chicago newspapers to answer each of them, and charges the Chicago daily press from the first stroke made in prep aration for the fair with discouraging it in every way by constantly harping upon the general management of the preparaindignant because everything was not run in strict compliance with their dictation. In fact, the Chicago papers are handled without gloves, and the country papers do not escape the wrath of the writer for publishing extracts from the city papers containing scurrilous reports of incompletness, extortion and inefficiency on the part of the World's Fair management. And after all this. Mr. Heafford claims, and which calls forth this long growl, the Chicago papers are attributing to the roads centering in Chicago the fault of the small attendance during the opening weeks of the fair. The circular gives many reasons why this is not so, and cites the enor nous amounts the roads have contribut ed to the fair. Their original subscription was $50,000 in cash and later they subscribed $100,000 more, and each of the roads have spent from $50,000 to $300,000 for additional equipment for the express purpose of being able to laudable ambition, why not buy THE handle the World's Fair business: the difficulty of restoring rates after the fair, and many other reasons why they hould not be expected to ruinously reduce rates to Chicago.

Mr. Heafford concludes his long cir cular as follows: "I will say for the benefit of the Exposition officials, state commissioners the newspapers, the citizens of Chicago and the public generally, that the Exkind of republicanism for any other kind. position is now practically complete and s the greatest aggregation of things beautiful and useful upon which the sun ever shone. That the stories of extor tion within the grounds never had much foundation in fact and that such irregularities as did exist on the opening day have been removed. That it is entirely possible to get a first-class meal within the grounds for from fifty to seventy-five cents, that the regular admission fee of fifty cents covers all the exhibits and no man need spend more than this unless e desires to visit the "side shows" in he Midway Plaisance. That the Coumbian Guards and other employes are courteous and obliging. That the facilities for taking care of enormous masses of people are the best ever created and that the weakest person need have no fear of getting into a crowd. There is no prospect of railway fares for every day travel being materially reduced below the present agreed excursion rates. During the latter half of June and all of July, August, September and October our country friends will fill all of the coaches and sleeping cars of all of the western roads whose lines operate within the thickly settled states lying within a radius of from five hundred to seven hundred miles of Chicago. Beyond this western radius it might be well to consider that there are few people who can afford to come to Chicago at any rate of fare added to he cost of a week's entertainment in this city, but if all of the adult male population of the far off western states hould visit the fair the attendance would not, in the aggregate, much more than equal one open Sunday's paid admissions from Chicago alone. The rail way fare is the smallest portion of the total expense to be incurred. The people are coming regardless of railway rates, regardless of untruthful state ments as to the fair not being ready for thereafter to enjoy the grandest and most complete exposition the world has wise I am no prophet."

The World's Fair. The manufacturers and Liberal Arts Building is the most gigantic structure the world ever saw. It's a third of a mile ong, a seventh of a mile wide, and has a floor space of forty-four acres. All the armies that fought in the civil war could be marshalled within its walls.

If you intend visiting the great Exposition (and you can't afford not to) pur chase your ticket to Chicago and return via the Burlington route. Ask the local agent for full information. Excursion rates every day.

which will be sold upon a written guarantee. If it does not do the work as guaranteed, it can be returned and obligations relinquished. This machine has several advantages over all other machines:

First—The tongue being loose, there is no weight on the horses' necks.

Second—The weight being evenly balanced upon three wheels, it will cut on wet ground where other machines will mire down.

Third—Being narrow, it can be driven through an elever foot gate. an eleven foot gate.

Fourth-Not a particle of trouble to oil every part; no lying down on your back in the dirt to oil the kickers. Fifth—There is no elevation of the grain to

There several other improvements, which I will not mention now. Catalogue and price furnished on application. J. S. FREEMAN.
