Rev. J. A. Cosby will retire from the pastorate of the United Brethren church at Benkelman about the middle of July.

The body of Joe Tillman, who was drowned at the mouth of Weeping Water creek last Sunday, has been recovered only a few miles above Nebraska City.

The eminent eye and ear surgeon, Dr. E. T. Allen, of Omaha, has the title of Doctor of Philosophy conferred on him by the Indian University at Muskegon.

A community of Methodists in Otoe county announces that they will go west this summer instead of to the World's fair, because the fair must be open Sunday.

Two men in the Union Pacific shops got into a row, when one struck the other across the head with a piece of gas pipe, producing injuries that are likely to prove fatal.

The county commissioners of Dodge county have decided to bring suit against Hayes & Son, the Cleveland bankers who bought the county paving bonds and then backed out.

J. D. Cline of Minden was appointed as state bank examiner last week by the state banking board. The urgency of the case demanded a larger force of examiners, hence the appointment.

The county commissioners of Douglas county, acting as a board of equalization, refused to equalize the value of the Union Pacific bridge from $100,000 to $80,000, as asked by the company.

The shoe store of Brownell & Harris at Ashland was closed by the sheriff last week. The store was owned by some of the leading shoe firms. Their liabilities are about $6,500 and assets unknown.

An advertisement thief stole a team of horses from the barnyard of Adam Windolph at Grand Island. Mr. Windolph offers a reward of $25, supplemented by an offer of $12 for the capture of the horse and thief.

Manager Short of the Union Stock Yards horse market, South Omaha, under a late date quote: Heavy draft horses, $110 to $125; matched teams, $100 to $200; western horses and mares, broke, $50 to $80; drivers, $30 to $50.

Bell & McCullough's elevator at St. Joseph, containing $3,500 bushels of grain, was destroyed by fire. Loss estimated at $5,000; fully insured. The firemen by heroic efforts succeeded in saving the depot and Bell & McCullough's grain.

Russell Farmler, the oldest settler of Thayer county, was buried last week. The funeral was held last evening at his home in Hubert, as he was known to every man, woman and child in the county. All his children from abroad were present.

The old Baptist church at Blair is being moved down to the cannery factory and will be remodeled into a silo for converting offal of the factory into food for stock. The frame is strong and the historical old building will continue to serve a useful purpose.

Auditor Moore received a telegram from the bank authorities at Ogalala, stating that the bank had failed and inviting him to see an examiner to look into its affairs. Pursuant to the telegram Auditor Moore sent Bank Examiner Morris to the scene of the disaster.

The appointment of Eugene M. Mumford as deputy collector of internal revenue for the Beatrice district meets with very general approval in that city. Mumford is at present deputy collector of Beatrice and as such enjoys the esteem of all citizens without regard to politics.

A well dressed young man giving the name of John Rafferty made a stake of $35 last night in Lincoln by forging the names of George H. Holmes to cash checks on the Farmers Bank of South Omaha for $12 each. The police made a thorough search for the forger, but he made his escape as soon as he got the cash.

At a meeting of the staff officers of the southwestern Nebraska G. A. R. district and of the local reunion committee at Curtis, Mo., was discussed the reunion to be held at that place this year. This move is made necessary on account of the failure of the reunion in the district, and the prospect is bright.

Governor Crounse has signed a paper which allowed James Bowman to step from the penitentiary walls a free man. Bowman was sentenced to fifteen months for grand larceny by the district court of Dixon county. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence, and the prosecuting attorney now says there is a doubt as to his guilt.

A little son of Jerry Williams, living near Perre, Ia., near Nebraska City, this state, was attacked by a vicious black dog before he could be rescued. The dog was badly bitten on the shoulder and arm, the flesh being stripped off in great shreds. Mr. Williams was afterwards attacked by the same animal and found it necessary to kill it to save his own life.

Little Harry Donbaugh, the 7-year-old son of E. L. Donbaugh at McCook, met with a painful accident last evening. He was playing with his dog and was standing upon a beehive when he fell, and his weight upon his back forced the bees to sting him. He was taken to the hospital and is now recovering from the effects of the sting.

The state board of public lands and buildings has written a letter to Superintendent Gillespie of the Nebraska School for the Deaf at Omaha, telling him that the board will do its best to get the building in good sanitary condition with money from the repair fund. The board takes a swipe at the legislature for not being more liberal in its appropriation.

The advisory council met at Norfolk Junction to consider the matter of organizing the Second Congregational church and ordaining its minister, Mr. A. Farnsworth. Both were approved and in the evening reorganization and ordination services were held. Rev. Mr. Farnsworth of the First church preaching the sermon. Fourteen members have entered into the fellowship and several others are ready to unite with them.

J. W. Ross of Norfolk will succeed F. O. Edgecombe as receiver of the defunct Farmers' and Merchants' bank of Battle Creek. The state banking board in their general round-up made this change. It appears that shortly after the reorganization of the bank an accident by which he lost his eyesight to an extent that incapacitated him from performing the duties that would require him to see.

Attorney W. G. Sear's barn at Okland, containing a valuable Hambletonian colt, two sets of harness and a lot of household goods, burned. It is supposed that the tramp set it on fire. The fire company responded quickly, but were too late to save anything. The loss amounts to $600 without insurance.

C. F. McGrew has been appointed temporary receiver for the MacGuire Savings bank, Omaha. It is believed now that the bank in a short time will be ready to reorganize and resume business, since the temporary appointment. The supreme court has adjourned to the September term and if, by that time, the bank fails to reorganize, then the chief justice will be in duty bound to appoint a receiver to wind up its affairs.

Receiver Williams of the defunct Northwest State bank on the verge of official dissolution, owing to the fact that he represented himself to be a disinterested party when as a matter of fact he is not, but is the private clerk to the defunct president of the defunct institution. The state banking board is literally and theoretically on the hunt and any laxity in the conduct of bank affairs, whether for cases of solvency or insolvency, will be examined into.

The farm house on M. B. Cheyney's place, four miles northwest of Lincoln, was totally destroyed by fire. The fire is unknown, but it is thought the house was struck by lightning. The tenant was awakened by the chattering of the fire, and he and his wife and two children escaped with a few belongings, the principal effects being burned. They turned their efforts to saving the outbuildings. The house cost Mr. Cheyney $2,000 and was insured for $800.

J. C. McMahon, once the chief of police of Columbus, Neb., at present a B. & M. detective, staggered into police station in Omaha, the other morning covered with blood from a bad wound in his head and a knife wound in his side. His hat was gone and his clothes torn and cut in a number of places. A few minutes before, while crossing the Eleventh street viaduct and when near the south end of it, he had been attacked and robbed after a short struggle, by two men. The thieves got $500 and a diamond stud.

The four prisoners confined in the county jail at Wilber made their escape by overhauling the jail. They took in their supper, and made for the hills. Though badly hurt Hickman got a revolver and gamely went in pursuit of the thieves. He was by the time they reached Fulton, forty-five miles south. A negro was arrested at Bradwell, but was released. Every suspicion of the escape was completely given an account of himself and one man came near falling a victim to the mob before he could prove an alibi.

CUT THEIR THROATS

TWO KENTUCKY GIRLS FOULY MURDERED

Daughters of a Weeksville Farmer Assaulted and Killed by an Unknown Man—The Whole Country Searching for the Calumniator—Will Lynch Him.

CAIRO, Ill., July 7.—A terrible crime was committed near Weeksville, Ky., five miles below this city, on Tuesday morning. John Ray is a prosperous farmer living on the Illinois Central railroad, four miles below Weeksville. He has two daughters, Mary, a blonde girl 17 years of age, and Annie, aged 10, went out to pick blackberries at a place about 200 yards from the house. They had been absent about thirty minutes, when Mrs. Ray heard one of the girls scream and soon a dog which had accompanied them came running to the house. The girls were lying face down on the ground, their throats cut from ear to ear and her body feebly mutilated. Nude and close beside lay a navy blue coat and a pair of shoes. The girls were then murdered. The body of the younger girl could not be found.

The horrified mother rushed to the scene and found the girls lying on the ground. She then rushed to the house and called the neighbors. A search for the missing girl was made and soon gathered on the scene and a search for the missing girl was made. A search for the missing girl was made and soon gathered on the scene and a search for the missing girl was made.
