—Rev. Scott made a good record on his bicycle Wednesday by coming up from Schuyler in an hour and thirteen minutes, that is at the rate of fourteen miles an hour.

—Charles Kilpatrick, the celebrated trier cyclist, rides down a tight of steps, extending from the cupola of a hotel to the lawn, a distance of eighty feet,—at lake Manawa, Council Bluffs.

—The Mayor has made arrangements to provide for the urgent temporary needs of the east-bound pilgrims that are likely to pass through the city, and is to be commended for his action.

—Friends of Mr. Frank Abbott, (formerly U. P. operator here) will be interested to know he was married in April at Aurora to Mrs. Pearl Hillier, of Fort Worth, Texas. They are making their home in Omaha.

—County treasurers all around us are publishing their semi-annual statements showing the condition of the different funds. Colfax county has on hand $30,243, and of this sum, $11,200 is in the school district funds.

—Last Thursday Will Hagel, foreman of Hagel & Co.'s cold storage plant, made 2,000 pounds of butter. When it comes to handling butter and eggs "Turkey" is right at home and it takes a good one to best him, sure.

BECHER-PIECE

Becher, Jaeggi & Co. Open a New City Wherein You Can Get a Splendid Site for a Residence.

Don't Delay Your Purchases, Because You'll Never Have a Better Opportunity to Get Full Value for Your Money.

The enterprising firm of Becher, Jaeggi & Co. recently purchased of Mrs. Gottschalk, thirty-three acres of land, which they have placed on the market to be sold in city lots. The addition is to be known as Becher Piece Addition, and has been platted so that the streets running north and south will be extensions, (northward), of Kummer, Lewis, Murray and North streets, (Kummer being the first street west of the court house, and North, the street on which the post office is located. The streets running east and west are Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth, extending eastward of the streets of the Stevens addition. We are thus particular in describing the location because people generally do not carry the names of the streets with them. The lots are of the same size as in the original town site, 6x132 feet, eight lot to a block, the alleys running east and west, so that each quarter-block purchases all made, division will be accessible on three sides; if single-lot purchases are made, the inside lots will be accessible front and rear, and the corner lots on three sides.

The first sale made from "The Forty" was made when A. C. Turner purchased the southeast corner of the rate of $4000 per acre. This is a little over two blocks north of the post-office. J. C. Morrison made the next purchase—forming in the plat a full block, and now owned by L. Gerrard; the other owners of property in the addition are: G. W. Phillips, three lots, and Otto Heier and Arnold Oehlrich, each one lot.

It goes without saying that the property is easy of access, being close to the center of business, not far from both our railroad depots, within a few blocks of most of the churches of the city, etc.

The surveying has been done by Messrs. Gottschalk, Rössler and Arnold, the platting by Gottschalk, and the addition will go upon the record just as securely and neatly as instruments can measure, and experts can delineate.

The streets will be laid so that those desiring to build, can readily see where they will be located.

The property is now placed upon the market without reserve as to location of lots, but with some restrictions as to the class of buildings.

Call upon Becher, Jaeggi & Co. at their office, South Third street, where you can see a plat of the addition and learn prices, which tell us will be such as to suit all who wish to purchase. Certainly those who would like to possess a residence site in Columbus are not likely to have so good an opportunity as this, soon again, to get big value for the money invested.

THE DAVID CITY TRIBUNE OF THE 20th says that John Quigley in company with other young men while bathing in the Blue near Surprise, was drowned. He was a good swimmer but was taken with a stroke. The body was found within an hour. The remains were buried in Circle Mound cemetery. Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson died July 14. She had reached the age of 91 years, and she had been almost blind for the last sixteen years.

Pete Albaugh went with the crowd Sunday to Lincoln, the first time he was out of town by railroad in twenty-one years. He was afraid something extraordinary might happen to him on the occasion, but it didn't. There were about three thousand people on the B. & M. trains into the capital city; the day was spent by the crowd at Burlington Beach, boat-riding, bathing, etc.

Albert Becker fractured a bone of his right arm Saturday, while exercising on the trapeze. He was cared for by Dr. Evans and is getting along all right. The little fellow was out playing and said his arm didn't hurt him so much when playing as when sitting around in the house. It wouldn't be the Becker nature to be non-active unless there was absolute necessity in the case.

Judge Post says that really the only new things at the World's fair are some of the electrical exhibits; Mr. Kummer says the Germans have the best of foreign exhibit; Mr. Friedhof says that Nebraska has a splendid showing in agricultural hall, and everybody says that California displays her products to great advantage.

One of our citizens, a cautious, careful and observant business man, took a trip into the country recently and gives it as his opinion that the corn crop will not be so large as many are calculating that it will be. Those who are making time drafts on this year's corn crop will do well to slow down.

George McFarland started for Chicago last Wednesday night. George has a genius for machinery, and if he don't find in the great city a situation that will hit his inclinations we miss our goose. Columbus has several bright young men who are interested in business in Chicago.
