The ministerial union, the organization of which was noted several weeks ago by THE JOURNAL, is flourishing finely. CLOAKS! CLOAKS! The very latest styles, pretty as a picture. Call and see them. Fitzpatrick's is the place.

Republicans be sure to make good nominations for your township ticket, and see that your action is properly certified. John McNeil is about to move his drug-store at Platte Center to the Henry building near Carrig's, which is being fitted up.

For sale, I will sell my 7-room house adjoining the Presbyterian church on the north, with one or two lots, cheap. S. C. Gray. DRESS GOODS! DRESS GOODS! Fresh from the looms. The latest styles. E. D. Fitzpatrick will give you prices and goods that will suit.

A man by the name of Storm has either been waylaid or is playing crooked. He landed here about two weeks ago and gave out that he desired to start a horse ranch; his home was Springfield, Ill., where his father lived and owned "Fleetwood," a very valuable horse, he wanted to purchase a section of land; he went successively to Baker's, Gleason's and Luera's liveries (dividing his patronage, as he said), running up considerable bills, and not returning with the last rig, a phaeton with a bay and a dun horse, belonging to Luera. The man had plenty of money on his person, displaying at least $600, of which the livery men named and hotel keepers would like to have their just dues.

This seems to have been an excellent year all around for raising peaches. Jacob Judd living near Platte Center has a peach orchard from pits planted nine years ago, (and they were from pits planted by him a few years before that); there are a hundred and ten trees, ninety of which bore fruit this year. The orchard is protected by forest trees on all sides, but otherwise its location is not peculiar, and his trees have had no extraordinary care. This year the ninety trees that bore fruit, yielded four hundred bushels of very fair-sized peaches, of excellent flavor, as you can testify. These have been sold readily at $2 per bushel. One crop of this kind is enough to pay for even considerable trouble to raise the fruit. Mr. Judd thinks a good deal is owing to his raising the trees from the second generation of Nebraska-grown seeds.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. The Social club of Platte Center had a dance Friday night, at which thirty-five couples were present. Marvin Elston of this city was one of the musicians.

Those in search of a piece of valuable Columbus property should not overlook the offer of John Tannahill, as found in another column of THE JOURNAL.

C. T. Schneider, superintendent of the Board of Colfax county schools, was in the city Saturday. He says W. T. Howard, the present county superintendent, is the man for his place.

The election is to be held November 7th. Twenty days before that time the certificates of nomination for county offices must be filed with the county clerk. It is considered safe if this is done on or before the 17th of October.

Most, a black-and-tan rat-terrier dog, bearing a brass collar. A liberal reward will be paid for information as to its whereabouts, by applying to Mrs. Heinrich who resides at the North property on Fourteenth street.

J. H. Galley has an immense stock of dry-goods, clothing, hats, caps, boots, shoes, fur capes, muffs, cloaks, jackets, curtains and fixtures, carpets, in short anything in their lines of trade that you can wish. See their advertisement.

Let republicans turn out to every meeting of the party right along during the campaign. Nominate the best tickets you can and work for the election of your candidates. No political party has ever had a grander record of things accomplished for the good of mankind.

Born, Sept. 28, to Mrs. J. M. Goring, a son. This was the fourth child and first son for John, and as he first saw the light on the day of the democratic county convention, doubtless John thinks the co-incidence auspicious for the future political outlook of the section of his home.

Nearly everybody at the World's fair who saw John Tannahill's big ear of corn thought it was manufactured by using several ears and ingeniously putting pieces together, and were surprised when convinced to the contrary, and that the immense ear was a genuine and single product of nature's own handiwork.

Eggs are worth 20 cents per dozen. Hens are more profitable than most people imagine, but they will not lay during the winter without help. Van Schoick's egg-making food supplies the material, and in the proper proportion that is absolutely required to make the eggs. It was gotten up especially for that purpose and has been in use in the east for ten years with great success.

A. W. Armstrong will commence the erection this week of his new planing mill. The building will be 40x80 feet, two stories high, and will be located three blocks west of the U. P. passenger depot. Mr. Armstrong intends having the mill in running order in about two weeks. He has three car loads of machinery to place, and will have a first-class mill when completed.

Ralph O. Bates, calling himself a Grand Army man, has swindled a goodly number of the boys in Montana. Those Wilson, who is looking after such fellows here, says that the papers should describe these frauds, because they change name, and G. A. R. members should apply to them the tests of the order, which, in nearly all cases, will develop the false pretenses under which they travel.

Cards of invitation are out to the marriage of Charles Whitmore Pearsall of this city and Miss Louise Baker in Norwalk, Ohio, October 17th, at the residence of the bride's parents. Both the contracting parties are well known here, Mr. Pearsall, as one of Platte county's best young men, and Miss Baker, as a teacher last year in our public schools and who made many friends by her ladylike qualities.

Some one has left us samples of Isaiah Lightner's corn raised in this year's breaking of prairie sod. We did not learn whether the field was an old feeding-plot for cattle, but certainly the size of the ears would indicate something of the sort. Anyhow, we would like to receive, for publication, the processes by which he raises such ears as these. Those who saw them at the fair have considerable curiosity on that score.

Robert Powers, the 15-year-old son of John Powers, living north of Columbus had a serious accident about three weeks ago that THE JOURNAL failed to chronicle. The boy was driving cattle and was carrying a broken-handled three-pronged pitchfork. In some way he stumbled and all three prongs entered his right side three inches below the arm, and were forced seven inches into the body, penetrating the lungs. Drs. Martyn & Geer were called at once and now the boy is almost well.

Peter Noonan was nominated last week as the independent candidate for state senator. At the convention at Platte Center, he was called up, made a little speech in thanks, and declined to run, but we guess that he must have changed his mind, when it was there insisted that the county convention had no right to receive or to consider his declination. The logic of the situation, anyhow, is to vote for Nels Olson of Creston, one of the staunchest men in the county, a man who has clear-cut ideas of public affairs, and who does his duty fearlessly at all times.

A man by the name of Storm has either been waylaid or is playing crooked. He landed here about two weeks ago and gave out that he desired to start a horse ranch; his home was Springfield, Ill., where his father lived and owned "Fleetwood," a very valuable horse, he wanted to purchase a section of land; he went successively to Baker's, Gleason's and Luera's liveries (dividing his patronage, as he said), running up considerable bills, and not returning with the last rig, a phaeton with a bay and a dun horse, belonging to Luera. Republicans Central Committee. A meeting of the committee will be held at THE JOURNAL office, Columbus, Friday next, Oct. 13th, at 1 p. m. All members are urged to request to be present. By order of M. K. TURNER, Chairman.

Republican County Convention. The convention was called to order promptly at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Fitzpatrick's hall by C. J. Garlow as chairman of the central committee. In the absence of secretary J. N. Hooper, the chairman called upon C. W. Pearsall to read the published call.

W. A. McAllister was selected as temporary chairman, and J. E. Sallack as temporary secretary. A committee on credentials was appointed consisting of Reeder, Clark and Hoare. They reported the following as entitled to seats in the convention, and the report was adopted:

Columbus City First ward—E. Pohl, J. S. Hatfield, Olo Johnson, Frank Coleman, W. M. Cornelius. Second ward—John Hoffman, J. D. Stires, John Fallick, Hugh Hughes, J. A. Barber, D. M. Doty.

Third ward—M. Whitmoyer, C. W. Pearsall, C. J. Garlow, W. A. McAllister, J. G. Reeder, J. A. Griffin, J. N. Hooper. Columbus township—H. J. Alexander, R. P. Scofield, J. H. Randall.

Bismark—A. Weishand. Sherman—Ed. Leuschen, H. G. Leuschen, Theo. Wenk. Granville—G. Lyford by R. P. Drake as proxy, G. W. Conrad, G. W. Clark. Humphrey—W. S. Warner, W. E. Harvey, E. A. Stockalger.

Lost Creek—W. E. Kent by Edwin Hoare as proxy, Frank Kenyon, Thomas Shea, Charles Chapin. Monroe—J. E. Sallack, L. Anderson, Bert Frim, J. G. Reeder.

Creston—Nels Olson, A. Iverson, Joliet—David Thomas, R. E. Jones. Burrows—Evan Evans. Shell Creek—William Connor. P. P. Johnson and C. D. Owens were added to the list to serve for Butler township, and, after the organization, Mr. Pohl as delegate from the first ward, Columbus, authorized M. K. Turner to serve as his proxy.

On motion of Whitmoyer, the temporary organization was made permanent. Garlow moved that the convention proceed to elect delegates to the state convention; seconded by Reeder and carried.

Cornelius moved that the selection be made by ballot, and that the ten receiving the highest number of votes be declared the delegates. Stires moved to amend by striking out "by ballot" and that each township and ward name one delegate. Seconded.

Stires supported his motion in a speech in which he said that the people of the different townships know whom they want; they know the men they can rely upon, and he believed their wish should be regarded. Cornelius called attention to the fact that there were some eighteen or more townships and wards, represented in the convention by from one to seven delegates each, and it would hardly be fair for the smallest to name one and the largest no more, besides there were ten to be chosen, whereas the amendment provides eighteen or more.

Stires rejoined that he was not satisfied to let it go in that way. It is just because of this hurried way the people tolerate in doing their political work at the primaries and conventions that the present midst occupies the presidential chair of this country. However, as there was substantial objection to the proposition, with the consent of his second, he would withdraw it. Drake offered an amendment that the delegation from each township and ward name a committee man, and that these should select a list of ten delegates to present to this convention. Carried. The committee duly named were Cornelius, Hoffman, Garlow, Olson, Scofield, Weishand, Leuschen, Connors, Clark, Warner, Johnson, Hoare, Evans, Zeigler, Jones, and the names presented to the convention were: C. C. Shannon, J. G. Reeder, A. Weishand, Frank Kenyon, L. Anderson, J. G. Pollock, E. A. Stockalger, Henry Ragatz, C. W. Pearsall.

Republican Senatorial Convention. The delegates selected to represent Colfax and Platte counties, assembled at Fitzpatrick's hall Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

M. K. Turner was elected temporary chairman, and F. H. Kolm temporary secretary. A committee on credentials consisting of Z. D. Stires and James Langley was appointed on credentials, whose report that the following were entitled to seats in the convention, was adopted: Colfax county, F. H. Kolm, J. Prokes, F. B. Stibal, G. W. Kibler, J. A. Fiala, J. Langley, E. Washbond; Platte county, J. D. Stires, F. M. Cookingham, M. K. Turner, A. V. Ives, C. D. Owens, H. Alexander, R. P. Scofield, Wm. Hollingshead, H. Hughes, Charles Chapin.

On motion, the temporary organization was made permanent. After an informal conference among the delegates, Nels Olson of Creston, Platte county, was, on motion, unanimously chosen as the nominee for senator.

The central committee were authorized to fill any vacancies that might occur in the senatorial ticket, and also to have the certificates required by law properly filed, after which the convention adjourned.

For the information of all concerned, we state that the central committee was not changed, and consists of W. M. Cornelius, Columbus, for Platte county, and F. H. Kolm for Colfax county, with whom party friends should communicate in reference to matters touching the campaign.
