Frank Bower and family, who some time ago contemplated removing to Oregon, have given it up, and will make Columbus their future home.

J. H. Galley has made arrangements to visit the World's Fair at Chicago via the Union Pacific. Oct. 25 in Union Pacific City.

Mr. Whitaker went beyond his contract last week and sprinkled streets north of his line, to save us from more than our due share of dust coming from that direction.

Any one wishing a new fall or winter cloak should call at J. H. Galley's on next Thursday Oct. 29, '93. Special line of cloaks and jackets to select from on that date.

Every patriotic American should be at the World's Fair. Railroads have now small agents, only about 1 cent per mile via the Union Pacific. Oct. 25 in Union Pacific City.

I told you so, rates are now about 1 cent per mile to Chicago via the Union Pacific. Oct. 25 in Union Pacific City. For full particulars see J. H. Galley, Agent U. P. Station.

Mrs. Katharine Karges, who recently died at Columbus at the age of 86 years, was the mother of six children, the grandmother of 23, and the great-grandmother of 16.—Genes Leader.

One of our farmers thinks that we are going to have a mild winter, giving us the "sign" that he has his sheds all in good shape—if he didn't have, he would be sure of a hard winter.

Rev. Crawford went to Omaha Friday to attend the annual convention of the Y. P. S. C. E. From there he will go to Beatrice to attend the state convention of the Congregational ministers.

Mrs. Bolder, (mother of Joseph Bolder who is confined in our jail here as a prisoner from Nance county to answer to the charge of stabbing a man), came up from Lincoln last week to see her son.

J. N. Taylor, when the republican have selected as their standard bearer for bringing the schools of Platte county into line with the general progress of the rest of the world, is a man of good judgment, and thoroughly capable of looking after the great interests which never should be placed in charge of men of inferior ability or those who do not appreciate the importance of the trust. It is an easy matter to find those who are self-important, full of thoughts of themselves, and what a fine figure they make in the eyes of the public, but it is only once in a while that the very opposite of this character will consent to run for an office and thus become a public benefactor. Nominated by petition, endorsed by the republicans, and supported by scores of voters of all political convictions, Mr. Taylor will make a superintendent of the schools of the county with an eye single to the good of the schools and the advancement of all the children of the county in the path of learning.

Teachers in the public schools have some tough youngsters to deal with, and in most cases of contest with them the public are in sympathy with the teacher. At Hastings the other day, Miss Susie Walker, a teacher, was arrested, charged with rewhipping a bad boy. We have not seen the result of the trial, but we are led to remark that the education with youngsters pick up on the streets after nightfall, will usually more than counteract all the good influences of home and school, so that the futile efforts with the rod and cowhide are so much time and strength wasted.

An exchange has very truthfully remarked that if you wish to see the criminals of fifteen to twenty years hence, look at the boys who are running without restraint on the streets of the villages, towns and cities, after dark.

Judge Dundy of the federal court on Friday last at Omaha appointed Messrs. B. H. Clark, Oliver W. Mink and E. Ellery Anderson receivers of the west, system of railroads which covers some 10,000 miles of territory, upon a large representation of stock, chief among which are the Sidney Dillon and Frederick L. Ames interests. There has been much conjecture in this city as to how the situation of the great line on which we are located will affect our commercial interests. It is supposed, however, that locally the management will be much as usual, and that, in all probability, if there is any difference, it will be for the better rather than otherwise.

Mr. and Mrs. Swan Nilson of Linn, California, were in the city Friday on their way to Genoa to visit relatives for an indefinite time. Since going to California, five years ago, they have lost both their daughters, Lillie and Etta. In the part of California where they are located, irrigation is not necessary to carry on farming, and they raise thirty to fifty bushels of wheat to the acre. Fruit is abundant, and the climate agreeable. Mr. and Mrs. Nilson will be welcomed by a host of friends who will endeavor to make their stay pleasant. They expect shortly to attend the World's Fair.

Bills were distributed Monday announcing a meeting in the city Tuesday night, to be addressed by S. A. Holcomb, populist candidate for judge of the supreme court, and A. H. Wier, mayor of Lincoln. As THE JOURNAL goes to press Tuesday afternoon, we of course cannot give in this issue any account of the meeting. We have always been in favor of political pugilism, and in fact we would take the stump in advocacy of their principles.

There have been several changes among the employes at the Genoa Indian school the past few weeks. Miss Edylee of Maryland, the Misses C. and J. Noble, former teachers in the Blind school at Nebraska City, are now among the teachers. Mr. Beck is now at Pine Ridge, Miss Simon at Rosebud agency, and Miss Simon at Yankeon with eleven pupils.

Those who have lately attended the World's Fair here have not had the satisfaction that earlier visitors found, the crowds now being so enormous. There is strong talk of continuing the exposition through next year; if this is done, the remaining millions of people in the United States may have an opportunity to see the greatest exhibit known to history.

Will Compton, formerly of this vicinity, is a candidate for assessor in Yuma county, Colorado. This is said to be one of the most important offices of that county, and the most remunerative. If Will could have the votes of all his old friends here, who learned to place confidence in his ability and integrity, he surely would win in his contest.

A. M. Beyers, represented as from Plainfield, N. J., said to be a nice-looking old man, is working a confidence game on G. A. R. people over in Iowa, and sending his way westward. Now don't think that every nice-looking old gentleman is a Beyers.

J. H. GALLEY'S FALL ANNOUNCEMENT, 1893. Despite the clouds which so recently enveloped the commercial horizon in regard to the Silver Question and caused so many merchants to cancel their orders for Fall and Winter Goods, we wish to inform the public that we have one of the largest and best selected stocks of Fall and Winter Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes in the city. You are cordially invited to call and inspect them and get our prices before purchasing, as we guarantee all goods to be of the BEST QUALITY and at PRICES THAT ARE CORRECT.
