"I was reading the Columbus Telegram the other day," said the critic as he stood up a pretty girl's new hat, "and I came across the funniest thing yet. It was a two-line advertisement for the office and it said: 'Handsome ladies calling cards at this office.' I wondered when I read it if the office kept any cards for ladies who were not handsome."

D. F. Davis, the editor of the Telegram, has been appointed postmaster of Columbus and I think it would be well for the government to see that Mr. Davis corrects that item. It should be done in the interests of the higher education. [Grand Island Times. Mr. Davis probably knew what he was writing and meant it, too. Columbus has none but handsome ladies. We extend our sympathy to Grand Island.]

The October meeting of the Farmers' club was held at Mr. Wm. Mayes, Sr. Mrs. E. W. Young read a paper on "How to make the farm attractive to young people." "Dairying and the creamery" was the subject of several short speeches. Miss Gussie Mayes and her brother, assisted by others furnished vocal music for the meeting; Miss Nellie Young favored the meeting with instrumental music. The subject for the next meeting, Nov. 24, at R. W. Young's, are Dairying and the creamery.—H. R. Reed; The primary cause of the late financial crisis, and its effect on farmers.—R. J. Stewart; Current events, Mrs. Nichols; Select reading, A. K. Lockhart; Music, Miss Young.

Towns are built up by local newspapers. One good, live weekly can do more towards advertising the resources of a town than all other agencies combined. The local newspaper is always improving opportunities of saying good things about its locality; and these are the things that count, too. Some people have no idea how many eyes rest upon those little "quills" each week. Almost any newspaper has five readers for every subscriber, and if it has any features that sparkle with genius or an approach to it, that ratio may easily be doubled. [Western Miner.]

The Journal has never had any ambition to become a police gazette, but such a paper these times would find steady work in this city, we are ashamed to say. If we should undertake to give the exact truth of several matters occurring lately, THE JOURNAL could not longer be considered a family paper. We are informed that the officers of the law have been threatened for doing their duty in one case last week. They must know, however, that all good citizens will uphold them in their efforts to enforce the laws.

Preparations are being made to have a game of foot ball Thanksgiving afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, at the Three Trees, directly south of the high school. Frank Wurdeman is captain of the north side forces, and Joe Ryan of the south side. Very little practicing has yet been done, but we have no doubt that by the day set the young men will be pretty thorough adepts in the game, and that it will be very interesting to spectators.

Mahaffey Bros. of Seward have been, for several days, canvassing the city for subscribers to a daily paper. The paper, as we learn, to make it non-sectarian and non-partisan. We have not yet met the gentlemen, and so cannot give anything except information at second-hand. A well-conducted, substantially-founded daily paper is an excellent thing to have in a town, to be sure.

We learn that "Doc" Beebe, who now lives 30 miles from Eugene, Oregon, is about to have a leg amputated, in consequence of injuries received by accidentally falling from a wind-mill tower several years ago in Nebraska. Mr. Beebe is well known to many JOURNAL readers, and is a brother of Mordames Haight and Sparhawk.

Sheriff Mahwinney of Nance county came down Monday and received from Sheriff Kavanagh two prisoners that he had been keeping for some time, Andrew Debonney, the man who so brutally murdered his wife some months ago, and John Boler, another one of Nance county's men who was violent in his way of doing business.

Fred Blinzer has traded for a half section in the western part of the county, getting in the deal $80 an acre for his 80-acre farm northeast of the city. This will give Fred room for himself and boys to spread themselves in the way of farming and farm-improving. It is good to be a carpenter, as well as a farmer.

J. S. Freeman had a conversation with Senator Allen when he passed through the city the other day, and says that he could not see that the report so much talked of would bring good times. In reply to several who asked for his long speech he said that a thousand copies would cost him $67.

When your child has a sore throat accompanied by high fever, send for the doctor at once, of course; but provide yourself with four chlorides of potash, and drop two or three grains of it on the tongue of your sick child, in the recommendation of a physician in case of diphtheria.

Editor Sprecher of the Schuyler Quill and James Langley, county commissioner, had a stetic consultation at Schuyler last week. The editor thinks that such performances are disgraceful, but when one is attached he must defend himself, which he claims he did in due form.

Wells and daughter, Miss Gertrude, started Sunday for Portland, Oregon. After spending a month there they will pass the remainder of the winter in California.

John Tannahill, who for some time has held the position of landscape gardener at the Genoa Indian Industrial school, has tendered his resignation and will again become a citizen of Columbus.

Thursday last Sheriff Kavanagh returned from Davenport, South Dakota, at which place he arrested S. A. Debow, one Shoen for stealing a team and platoon belonging to Henry Luera some weeks ago. Kavanagh brought his prisoner down by rail, and Luera came across the country with his stolen property. Debow had a doctor's office there, and doubtless supposed that when Kavanagh knocked at his door at 3 o'clock one morning, he had a sick call. When he held his door ajar, the sheriff entered, and when he told him that there were several men at Columbus, Nebraska, who had a little business to transact with him, he asked if Kavanagh knew him. The Sheriff replied that he certainly did. "What had I better do?" said he. "You'd better get ready to go with me," the sheriff replied. He expressed his unwillingness to accompany the sheriff, saying that he was glad he had come for him, that he was just contemplating a continuance of criminal practices, but this would put a stop to it, and he was glad of it—he would lead a better life. When, on inquiry, he was informed that Mr. Luera was at hand, he expressed a desire to see him and told him he could take his furniture, a cord of wood, ton of hay, a gold watch and chain, a gold watch case, and forty dollars in cash. This would leave him just thirty cents. If he had more he would give it to him for what trouble he had been at on his account. He says he has a mother and brother living, but would give no information as to their residence. Debow is a man, probably 41 years old, about 6 feet high, and rather slightly built. He played guilty Monday to grand larceny, and is probably, as you read this paragraph, doing duty at the penitentiary on his year's sentence.

A. folks Sunday afternoon and took charge of the young people's meeting in the evening at the Congregational church.
