ONE LIFE LOST.

The power of steam again proved greater than iron. A tender... Saturday night at 9 o'clock when the Fast Mail came in from the east, pulled by engine No. 837, engineer Michael Decker, the rear coach was struck by the freight car.

One of the mail clerks was hurt on the foot and returned to Omaha this evening. The engine men on both engines saved themselves by jumping. Engineer Decker put on his air and reversed his engine before he jumped.

When the crash was over the two engines looked like one long engine with one smoke stack in the center, so closely were they driven together.

The water supply. For quite a long while the water supply of the city has been short, the wells being inadequate to furnish what the people demanded against this.

The Cedar Rapids Republican says that quite a number of people are leaving there for the winter on account of crop failures. That H. H. Hadley had gone to Holt county to look up a place to winter his cattle.

Ed. North, who was a passenger in one of the coaches, said there was not much shaking up.

David Carrig sr. was in the city Saturday, looking as well as he did a score of years ago.

At one of Leander Gerrard's farms on the Looking Glass Saturday night fire burned a barn and granary, also caught in a crib containing about two thousand bushels of corn but they saved the corn. Loss fully covered by insurance.

Capt. Haight and L. G. Zinnecker returned Saturday from their western trip. At Great Falls Louis met David Dowy, who is chief clerk in a wholesale and retail drug establishment, and Norris G. Donestee, who is conductor on a street railroad.

There was a game of base ball Sunday between two picked nine—Mike Ables umpire and Ed. Early more keeper. At the end of the first inning the boys got to calling the umpire David City and he went. They will cross bats with Schuyler next Sunday.

Room! Room! Room! Give me more room. All of our summer dry goods go at a song to make room for my heavy fall and winter stock.

Services were held Sunday in the Catholic church this city for the first time in six weeks, fresco painters having been busy at work during that time and completed a splendid job of work costing $600. The church authorities think they now have the grandest work of the kind in the state.

Abts & Stupfel have opened a meat market in the place formerly occupied by W. T. Rieckly, on Olive street, where they keep, for the accommodation of their custom, fresh meats of all kinds and varieties—anything you may wish in their line of business. Fish always on hand. Telephone No. 10.

Thursday, July 26, 1894, will be set down as probably the hottest day known to Nebraska in many years. In the afternoon there was a very hot wind from the south, the thermometer in the shade marking as high as 106°. In an open garden, Jonas Welch's, it marked as high as 145 in the sun.

Bellwood Gazette: Bellwood and Columbus played ball on Saturday last at Bellwood. Columbus was 'at' in it, as the score stood 19 to 2 in favor of Bellwood. The Bellwood boys so far have not lost a game this season and feel jubilant over the matter.

Two young men claiming to be residents of Newman Grove, and returning thither after two weeks work at Omaha, say they were on the mail car with the man who lost his life. They saw the engineer pull his lever and jump. They jumped, too, and yelled at their companion, but they suppose he must have been asleep.

The corps of surveyors under Civil Engineer Fred Guttschall, started on Monday morning by team to run the final canal survey. They start at the mouth of the Beaver and run east, their aim being to get onto the bluffs as soon as possible. Among those who went were R. L. Rosseter, Earl Peirssall, Joe Flynn and Chas. Miner.

James Fletcher and wife and E. C. Bastian of Montreal, Canada, were in the city between trains Sunday. They were caught in the strike at Butte City, Montana, being compelled to stay there for three weeks at great expense. Mr. Fletcher reports all crops in that country under irrigation as simply immense, all kinds of crops looking grand.

The last Schuyler Herald has a phenomenal far-side notice. It is thirty inches in length, of small type, and contains of hundreds of descriptions of lands and lots and a great many names of individuals. Those of our readers who may have interests at stake would do well to look after them before time of redemption expires, Nov. 7, 1894.

Schuyler Herald: A compromiser is on trial in the county treasurer's office. It is a wonderful invention, similar in appearance to a typewriter, but its work is arithmetical computation. By striking keys the operator performs addition, subtraction, multiplication and division, with great rapidity and perfect accuracy. The machine sells at $125 each.

Norfolk News: J. R. Meagher of Columbus, who has been with the Union Pacific railroad for a third of a century, visited Norfolk yesterday. He remembers the time when Norfolk contained but one or two houses near the creek. He was then star route mail inspector, and used to come here for the purpose of checking up the postmaster.

In different parts of the state Wednesday there was visible at 1 o'clock in the afternoon two very bright sun dogs. Webster's definition of this phenomenon is: "A luminous spot occasionally seen a few degrees from the sun, supposed to be formed by the intersection of two or more halos. Sometimes the spot appears where the halos themselves are invisible."

David City Banner: Leonard Holt, the dispatcher for the U. P. branch north of Columbus, was in the city Monday. Mr. Holt is one of the good natured kind, with a pleasant smile and a cheery word for the boys wherever he meets them, and as a result, the boys on his division all swear by him through thick and thin.

At an old settler's picnic at Bellwood the other day everybody was provided with chunks of ice and everybody was compelled to take their medicine—down their back. Ernc Abner Gerard, old as he is, was not spared, and the Gazette says "it seemed to give him new life." Sam Little took his after a struggle on his back in the big weeds, in the railroad ditch.

Madison Chronicle: Warwick Saunders, editor of the Columbus Argus, and who would like to warn George D. Meikie's seat in congress, was in the city Monday. Mr. Saunders has preached calamity so long that he ought to be entitled to some recognition, but maybe his democratic pull isn't strong enough. No populist need apply unless he has been organized.

Grand Master O'Neil was the guest of Wildley Lodge L. O. O. F. Tuesday of last week, the district meeting of the order taking place. The Grand Master delivered a lecture in the evening to a crowded house, after which a meeting was held at the hall, a banquet at the Merchants and medicinal interest. A number of visiting delegates were present from Schuyler and Fullerton.

People supposed that they had set out about enough trees for shade. It is a mistake. Keep planting. The more trees, the better protection against cold winds and hot; the more condensation of moisture from the atmosphere; the more penetration of the earth's crust for tapping the underflow, and equalizing the temperature of our atmosphere one year with another.

At the entertainment given by the Griswold Uncle Tom's Cabin Co., the audience was fairly large and well pleased with the show. The part of little Eva was very well rendered for one so young and Tony was not lacking either, but the music was the taking feature, especially the rendering of the high C's, as expressed by one of the audience.

August 18, 10 o'clock, is the time fixed for the county convention of the people's independent party, at Henry's hall, Platte Center. Elected delegates are to be chosen to the state and congressional conventions, at Grand Island, Aug. 24 and Norfolk, Aug. 21, respectively. The caucuses are to be held at 2 p. m., Aug. 14, for the city of Columbus, same day at 7 p. m., and for townships Humphrey and Granville, Aug. 11, 9 p. m.

The Monroe Republican says that E. S. Thurston raised some White Highlands that tested thirty-seven pounds to the bushel. C. E. Early of Columbus was taking in under the first of the week. E. J. Clark of Charles Hill of their Bank of Monroe, are visiting with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Webster. Will Connor's little girl fell from a second story window. She escaped with a few slight bruises.

Would say in answer to an advertisement signed Antman, Miller & Co., that the machine referred to was bought by Buckeye from Antman, Miller & Co., that the name Buckeye was cast in the seat, in the shield of the large level wheel, and in the spur wheel at the rear end of the machine, that they were sold to me for new machines and that they showed no sign of being painted over again. I have no knowledge of when they were made. H. Lubker.

In three counties of the state rain-makers were reported at work last week—Butte, Madison and Platte, the last at Platt Center. So far as heard from no rain resulted. J. S. Orme of the Madison State bank was the manipulator of the chemicals at Madison, and L. J. Niemoller at Platt Center. The chemicals were supplemented at the latter place by cannoning Tuesday afternoon of last week but after two or three shots the cannon burst. In the evening four anvils were put into use, but noise and smoke were the only results.

Thursday Gaud & Miller of Fullerton were shipping via Columbus nine of their celebrated horses for work in Kansas. There were Stella Woodline, a yearling who has done her half mile in 1:29; Shadelland Noretta; Adeline; Wanda; Red Wing; the phenomenal pacer, Freddy K. Meikie; Shadelland On-line and Cedar Belle. The nine were very comfortably quartered in a box-car and the hostler said were anxious to get to business. They were certainly spirited looking animals, and the owners may well be proud of their good qualities.

C. A. Brindley, speaking of the hot wind Thursday, says that it was a great deal worse in effect than "hot Monday" of an early date in the history of Nebraska when the thermometer marked 110°. The main difference was that there was a still day and this one was breezy. For a while in the afternoon it did seem as though no living thing could long withstand it in the least. On the north side of houses and in the draft, it was comparatively comfortable, showing that it was the direct rays of the sun that was causing the intense heat.

At J. W. Byrnes' residence Sunday night there was a fire that did $25 to $50 worth of damage. The alarm was turned in about midnight. Mrs. Byrnes was alone in the house, her husband working nights at the U. P. round house. In striking a match to light a lamp some of the light must have escaped from the match into a mattress in the east room. Mr. Hurd, a neighbor across the way, was called over and to him is due the prompt measures that quenched the fire by the bucket brigade, by the time the department arrived. Had Mrs. Byrnes retired earlier and been sound asleep she would probably have lost her life.

Our aged friend who wrote for the Platte Center Signal, on the Columbus canal, might as well sign his name to his articles—he cannot disguise his style so far as we are concerned, but hereafter it might be prudent for him not to make any wild assertions, especially on matters in which he is not an expert. As for harboring ill will against such writers, far be it from us. We were simply endeavoring to say that instead of there being no water in the canal, there would be such an abundance of it that an indefinite and unlimited number of doubters would be able to drown themselves in it if it were necessary as a demonstration of incredible stupidity. Something after the fashion, you know, of those fellows who told Noah that there wasn't going to be very much of a shower after all.

The Monroe Looking Glass says that J. E. Sallah has sold his residence property to E. B. Sutton for $1,150, that the Belmonts did Monday of last week, that Joseph Manning of Ohio is visiting his cousin, W. W.; that our men, (born for artesian water) have got down 220 feet, found 90 feet, saw rock, then some kind of greyish, soap stone and slate for 60 or 70 feet, then clay the rest of the way. All the rock seems to be of a sedimentary character: at 220 feet the machine got stuck. We cannot say at this writing whether they will get any farther or not, and we have the satisfaction of knowing this much as to what is below. The ground state seems to form readily into stone that will answer for stone pencils. We have not yet demonstrated if it will make stucco, but feel confident that the stone could be cut out soft, and would harden with exposure.

Guarded Beach Station. You can now get a through train from any point on the Union Pacific system to Courtland Beach station. The lake steamer takes you direct from the station to Courtland Beach, a five minute trip. Picnic parties can arrange for through train from any point on the Union Pacific. See your Union Pacific agent. St.
