Knickerbocker Lost Two Men. NEW ORLEANS. Oct. 2.-The Cromwell line steamship Knickerbocker arrived from New York badly battered and reporting the loss of two men. The Knickerbocker was in command of Captain Halsey and carried about 60 passengers. She got into the very teeth of the big storm and for 36 hours, was tossed about like a cork by wind and wave. In the midst of the big blow the main mast was carried away at the hounds and the crew was set to work at once and while the men were bravely battling to clear away the wreckage a mountainous wave washed over the deck and when the ship righted herself again. Second Mate O'Neill and Seaman Handen were gone. They had been washed overboard and no effort could be made to rescue them. Much of the bulwarks of the vessel was battered in.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 2.—Senator George G. Vest opened the Democratic state campaign at the Auditorium in this city Monday night. Over 2,000 enthusiastic people crowded the large theater CORBETT MUST DO SOMETHING. and accorded the speaker perhaps as rousing a reception as any orator ever received in Kansas City. Upon entering the hall Senator Vest was greeted with nproarious applause, and when he arose to speak the cheering became an ovation. He was introduced by John L. Peak and made what many people regard as one of the strongest speeches of his career. He said in part: "If any one is here with the expectation that I will attack the president of the United States or any other Democrat, that expectation will not be realized. Whatever differences of opinion as to public questions may exist between the president and myself, they shall not interfere, so far as I am concerned with my duty in the hour of conflict and danger. My contest is now with the enemy, not with Democrats. No word from me shall furnish an excuse for lukewarmness or hesitation by Democrats nor give encouragement to our foe. when the Democratic party has, in fact, repealed both the federal election law and the Sherman act, while the oppressive provisions of the McKinley tariff have either been entirely eliminated or greatly modified and governmental expenses largely decreased. The repeal of the Sherman act, which authorized the purchase of silver by the government, was accompanied by serious and irritating diversity of opinion in both the Republican and Democratic parties. We believed then, and believe now, no country can be prosperous with an increasing population and decreasing money. We were told the repeal of the Sherman act would bring immediate relief, but the clouds have been darker and the business depression far greater since the repeal. The New York banks were still glutted with money, while the continued fall in prices of all commodities caused capital

Clad In Perfidy and Dishonor

Down With the Trusts! The Gorman tariff bill is the law of he land. Let it be enforced. It will be remembered that immediately prior to its passage in the senate Senator Morgan introduced a series of resolutions determining the illegality of every combination, conspiracy, trust, agreement or contract between two or more persons that would restrain lawful trade or free competition or increase the price of any marketable commodity. The penalty is fixed at a fine ranging from $100 to $5,000 and imprisonment for a term varying from three to twelve months. The attorney general is directed to institute proceedings through the several district attorneys of the United States. Let him begin. Let him begin with the Sugar trust. Let him follow this up with the Whisky trust.

"SPLENDID NOTHING" TARIFF.

Payne, Ray and Sherman Score the Democratic Legislation-A Surplus of Labor Must Result In Lower Wages-The Prices of Farm Products Must Be Lower.

The advocates of the new tariff bill have made two claims in its behalf. They have asserted that it would greatly facilitate importations, and that this would result in reducing the cost of goods to the consumer. It does not require a prophetic eye to discern that their claims are the strongest indictments that can be brought against the 'splendid nothing." Here is the logic in the case: The greater the importation, the less the demand for home products. The less the demand for goods produced at home, the smaller the amount manufactured. The smaller the amount manufactured, the fewer workingmen required or the less the aggregate paid by manufacturers. The more workingmen out of employment the harder the times, and the harder the times the less money is circulated. Therefore what will it profit the man out of work in this country if England and France and Germany are the more prosperous by reason of increased exportations, even if as the result there is a decrease in the cost of goods at home?

JAMES S. SHERMAN, M. C., Twenty-fifth District, New York.

It is difficult to forecast the farreaching effects of the new tariff law. It is certainly to be hoped that some of its disastrous results have been discounted in the past 18 months. Ever since Democratic control of the senate as well as of the house and the executive became apparent the universal prosperity then existing has given place to universal disaster and distress such as no pen can describe. This was largely due to the threatened assault upon American industries. Now that we can see the extent of those attacks under the new law we may at least hope that for the next 18 months distress and disaster will not be so universal.

Under the new law it is painfully evident that wages in many branches of industry must be cut down from 10 to 50 per cent, while in other branches the framers of the bill have blundered into process will be attended with widespread strikes is a matter of the most serious apprehension. Strikes are disastrous though the striking workmen are in the right. They are doubly disastrous and Missouri Pacific roads have issued a lingman is in the wrong. > For example, if wages are higher in one industry, those following a less remunerative calling will offer their services at a lower rate, and so the rates reach a common level. Washington. The effect of the Gorman-Wilson bill cannot be otherwise than injurious to less it be that of sugar refining and most harmful to all workingmen and women and their families. The McKinley bill aimed to protect all our industries, including the agricultural interests, and all our laboring people. It so operated and gave a new impetus to manufacturing, increased the profits of agriculture and gave employment to all who desired it at good wages. The entire country was prosperous, and the people generally were contented.

The Gorman-Wilson bill puts at defiance all principles of tariff for revenue only as well as the true principles of protection. It throws wide open the doors for foreign competition in most directions, while it gives protection to a few favored industries, and will increase and intensify all the evils of class and monopolistic legislation. It

When this bill comes into operation, our markets will be flooded with foreign made articles, and our mills and factories will be compelled to close or reduce their output. The effect will be disaster to many of our producers and great and lasting injury to the others. The purchasing power of the people will be largely diminished and in thousands of instances destroyed. We shall find not two but three men seeking every job of work instead of two jobs seeking a workman, as was the case under the McKinley bill prior to the incoming of the present industry prostrating Democratic administration.

The rural districts are now overran with men tramping from place to place eeking employment. This evil will in crease, for how can we employ men to do work formerly done here, but hereafter to be done in Europe? If there shall be a greater agricultural product by reason of men flocking to the farms, the market price will fall and the farmer be injured, while the merchants and workmen in the large towns will reap no benefit, for the purchasing power of the farmers will be destroyed. Sales of goods and of all manufactured articles will fall off, prices must go down, and the workingman out of employment will be unable to purchase at all. It will be a cold day for this country when the president permits this bill to become a law, while trade in Europe will pick up. Her mills and factories will increase their production; her ships will find active employment, bringing her products to our shores. Foreign prospects are bright indeed, while the clouds of despondency are gradually but surely settling about the American hearthstone.

RESTRAINING ORDER STRUCK OUT.

Exceeded His Powers When He Enjoined the Employes From Quitting the Services of the Company, With or Without Notice-Judge Harlan Read the Opinion. Status of Labor Organizations. CHICAGO, Oct. 2.-Judge Jenkins' fa-

Check the sale of directions to strike out the restraining these foreign goods, check the stoppage order of the court, the clause which of our mills, check the cheapening of aroused the country when the order was our labor by buying American goods The interventors, representing the leading labor organizations of the country, asked that two sections of the injunction be eliminated. The court of appeals decided that no court could compel a man or a body of men from quitting individually or in a body the service of an employer. The court said that Judge Jenkins had exceeded his powers when he enjoined the employes of the receivers of the Northern Pacific Railroad company from quitting the service of said company, with or without notice, so as to cripple the property or prevent or hinder the operation of said railroad. It beld, however, that the section should stand in which the men were prohibited from "combining and conspiring to quit, with or without notice, the service of said receivers, with the object and intent of crippling the property in their custody or embarrassing the operation of said railroad."

Defines Status of Labor Organizations. The decision was considered by the lawyers who packed the courtroom as one of the most important opinions delivered in the United States in a decade. It defines the status before the law of labor organizations in their conduct of strikes and affirms the powers of courts of equity to interfere by injunction where there is reason to believe the law will be violated. It holds that the men may withdraw in a body from the service of an employer, using, however, neither force, threats nor intimidation toward employes who do not join them; nor must they use any "device" to fair protection. Tariff Reform.

THE CIRCULATION OF WAGES. Labor Is Punished to Reward Importers

Who Paraded For Grover. The burden of free trade is already upon us. How can we lighten it? The rush of importers to secure their foreign goods from the custom house at the lower rates of duty has told the story. Neary $10,000,000 worth of foreign goods withdrawn for consumption in less than a week means the sale of nearly $10, 000,000 worth less of American goods manufactured in American mills by American wage earners. It means that the distribution of more than $5,000,000 in American wages has been checked within five days.

If this curse continues, there can l but one result. The foreigners are determined to have and to hold our markets. Shall we surrender them? We do not desire-no true American desiresthat American wage earners should be compelled to sell their labor in open competition with the cheaper labor of other countries. The workers in the cotton mills of New Bedford, in the flax mills of New York, in the potteries of Trenton, in the glass factories of the west, have entered their protest against a reduction of wages that has been forced upon them by Democracy. What can be done to lighten the burden? The manufacturers should not be expected to pay higher wages than their foreign competitors and to sell their goods at the same prices. It has been the decree of Democracy that American manufacturers and American wage earners must be punished in order to reward the New York city importers of foreign goods, who turned out with such dignified grandeur in their parade of 1892 to the honor and glory of Grover. It is the duty of all true and patriotic Americans to overthrow this forissued, and which resulted in the Boat- whenever and wherever it is possible to ner investigating committee of congress. do so. dren. Mothers have repeatedly told mo of its good effect upon their children."

Da. G. C. Oscood, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack postrums which are destroying their loved ones, by foreing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves.
