Our patrons get through passenger trains, quick time via the Chicago, Union Pacific and Northwestern line to the principal cities east of the Missouri river.

Becher, Jaeger & Co. insure buildings and personal property against fire, lightning and cyclones, in good and reliable companies at lowest current rates.

The Journal job department is turning out an abundance of fine work, and competing with any office in the state in quality of material and neatness of designs.

Dietrich Becher, candidate for representative is saying some very ugly things about a portion of the republican ticket, that are going to be remembered against him.

Mr. John G. Roushon lost this week 95 colonies of bees at his apiary near San Miguel. The bees died because of the great scarcity of food.

After the rain was over Monday evening at Garrison there was a small twister turning several buildings around and over; it turned one barn over and left it standing on its roof.

Quite a number of movers have passed through the city this week, some going east, others going south, with household goods, cattle and horses, and one man had a few little pigs.

R. R. Sutherland, superintendent of the Union Pacific system, had an operation performed, necessitated by injuries received in the wreck near Monroe about a year ago, and is getting along nicely.

The district court will probably be engaged the remainder of this week in the trial of the Swartzendruber cases, and the case from Merrick county.

D. Fitzpatrick is the man that is getting a big trade in dry goods. Honest prices and honest goods. Follow the crowd.

See Galley's new advertisement in today's Journal. What he says is just as true as the multiplication table. All his customers know that for good goods and fair prices he can be relied upon at all times.

Wm. Mitchell and Miss Lillie Bushel were married Monday at the home of the bride's mother, Rev. Bros officiating. Both the young folks are well known here and all wish them joy and happiness.

The Grand Island church conference met in the M. E. church yesterday afternoon, preparing for the conference held at Omaha today. We did not learn particulars but from twenty to thirty preachers were expected.

We had several very windy days last week, and the dust went everywhere. We need water from above, water from below and water by way of the canal. Please dig the ditch, but first, vote the bonds that the ditch may be had.

When in need of anything in the line of job work—cards, wedding invitations, dance programs, letter heads, envelopes, sale bills, receipts, notes, scale books, bank checks, shipping tags, blanks of any kind—in short all sorts of printing, give THE JOURNAL a call.

The canal meeting at the Murray school house Saturday evening was well attended. All objections were fully answered, and the questioners satisfied that not only is irrigation all right, but this proposition and the company are all right. It is now believed that the bonds will carry, but let your vote be for them.

Mr. Christian, the man upon whom the operation known as lithotomy was performed some days ago died at the Sisters' hospital Friday night of blood poisoning, which, it seems, he was afflicted with prior to the operation. Mr. Christian was 44 years old. His remains were taken Saturday to his home at Loup City, for burial.

A new counterfeit $5 national bank note has been put into circulation. It is on the Commercial National Bank of Providence, R. I., series of 1892, bank number 20,650. The paper is thick and stiff and is two pieces pasted together, no distributed fiber or parallel silk threads. We have little need to remember these facts, but we know many of our readers have occasion to do so.

Ada M. Bittenbender, Nebraska's lady lawyer who has acquired quite a reputation as a temperance advocate, is the author of a book entitled "Uncle Sam's Drunkard Factories, a story showing their unconstitutionality and proceeding for abolishing them under existing laws." A company is being organized to publish the book, dramatize the story, and place it before the general public.

The great canned-goods center of the world is Baltimore, and it all started from one man's work on an ordinary cook stove a few years ago. While Columbus may be a long time in reaching the present proportions of the city of Baltimore, we vote the bonds and complete the ditch, giving us both irrigation and power, and Columbus and vicinity will be of considerable importance in this western country.

What to do with the extra horses, has been quite a question with many of our farmers. To keep them over another winter, seems like a waste of food as the prospect for a better, or so good a price in the spring is very slim. There is no local market to speak of, but we notice that a commission firm at South Omaha reports sales of spring colts at $12; yearlings and 2-year-olds at $11; Wyoming wild horses $25 and so on. It might be well for those who are overstocked to see what they can do with the commission men.

A. M. Jennings fell upon a novel but very effective way of irrigating garden vegetables on a small scale. He used it on a few tomatoes and cabbage. Punching holes in the bottoms of fruit cans, he sunk them alongside the plants and filled them with water. The result was very satisfactory, but A. M. thinks it would be just a trifle better to punch the holes a little up the side of the can so as to be free from the falling dirt. Dig the ditch and get water in abundance, not only for garden "uses" but for field crops. Vote the bonds.

Mrs. Annie N. Smith, wife of W. R. Smith, a farmer living northwest of Oconto, died at her home last Wednesday evening after an illness of only a few weeks. Mrs. Smith was the oldest daughter of John M. Kelley, one of the early settlers of the county. Mrs. Smith was well known in this city and in her own community as a woman possessing unusual cheerfulness of character and was beloved by all. The funeral services were held here Saturday at the Episcopal church, the city, Rev. Goodale officiating, and the remains placed to rest in the Columbus cemetery.

During the recent potato-digging campaign we heard of a cunning lad who devised a new method of getting the tubers out of the ground. We give the plan, and let it go for what it may prove to be worth. He has a dog that he will call Rover, because that is not his name. The boy would start the soil near a hill of potatoes and say, "Come here, Rover, and earn your winter's grub," whereupon the obedient dog would scrape very vigorously until the potatoes would be all out. Whether the suggestion will work a revolution in the harvesting of tubers remains for the future to determine.

The current political gossip is that the relations between Secretary Morton (Nebraska's representative in the cabinet), and President Cleveland are "strained"; whether this is true or not, if the power and irrigation bonds are voted and we get the canal, our business relations with each other and the rest of the world, need not be strained, so far as we are concerned. The farmers along the ditch can raise immense crops of specialties and have at home a ready market, because as soon as they are ready with their crops, this community, through the cheap and certain power, will have abundant months to feed, because cheap power will help to give us many more manufacturing interests than we now have.

A. L. Bixby gave his appointed lecture at the opera house Friday evening to a good house for Columbus, whose people do not take kindly to lectures. Bixby brought all his wit and if he hadn't, everybody would have laughed at everything he said just the same, because it was Bixby who said it. He introduced his lecture properly by giving a sketch of his life up to the time when he moved to Columbus. His picture showed a life full of all the woe necessary for the make up of common mortals, from the boy herding sheep to the quack doctor practicing without money or medicine. But the subject "A Country Editor" was graphically described through Bixby's personal experiences. He said he went into partnership with one man in Iowa, who had perfect confidence in him, and the man confided him. Everybody makes their mistakes and he said the present administration was no exception.

St. Patrick's Pills are carefully prepared from the best material and according to the most approved formula, and are the most perfect cathartic and liver pills that can be procured. We sell them. C. E. Pollock & Co. and Dr. Heintz, druggists.

PERSONAL. Miss Nellie North is convalescing. Miss-Kate Hayes of Platte Center visited Miss Alice Quinn last week. John von Bergen came down from Sheridan county last week on business. Mrs. G. W. Brown of Cedar Rapids came down Friday to visit her son, Ellis. Miss Mamma Emerson of Cedar Rapids visited Miss Mamma Beeswax Saturday. Editor Mokler of Platte Center on Wednesday, met his family here, who had been east on a visit. Mrs. Harris returned to Central City Friday after a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Getzen. Mrs. A. M. Cover and children returned Friday from a three weeks' visit with Mrs. George Spear in Norfolk. Mrs. Platte, an aunt of Mrs. Lehman, who was visiting here, was called to Burlington, Iowa, Friday by serious illness of relatives. Mrs. Bont. Spice, who had been visiting relatives here a week or so, went to Fremont last week to visit her brother, Frank North, expecting to return this way before going to her home at Kingsfisher, Oklahoma. Mrs. G. Anderson and son of White-water, Wis., and Miss Emma Anderson, after a few weeks' visit here with A. Anderson's family, will go to Colorado. Mr. Anderson met them at Omaha and accompanied them here. Too Numerous. Saturday evening a tramp entered several homes about 9 o'clock, daringly demanding money. From descriptions given, it was evidently one fellow who did it all.

At Julius Rasmussen's Mrs. Rasmussen and daughter Anna were in the sitting room; the board came one approaching, but thought it was Mr. R., until they were confronted by a man with a handkerchief tied over his face, below the eyes and who threateningly held a paring knife raised and demanded money, and was given a small amount. At George Bradshaw's the fellow demanded money of Mrs. Bradshaw; she told him she had none, whereupon he called her a liar and just then someone rapped at the door and the fellow skipped. At George Willard's a screen was removed and at O. T. Roen's the house was entered but at either place nothing was taken. At Chris. From's, they heard a man walk around the house, rip a window screen, and by that time Chris had grabbed a chair and along it through the sash, but of course the man was gone, quicker than he came. Mrs. Gabler was frightened by an unusual noise and went to the stairs. These bold attempts were made between eight and eleven o'clock Saturday night, and the police have been on the trail of them ever since. One of the boys down from here says that the reunion of Dodge county veterans at Fremont Friday was an entire success. Although the day was one of wind and dust, there was a large crowd out; and the wind was howling over the river bluffs south of the city, bringing with it acres of Saunders county dirt. Everybody was there to have a good time and they had it. Comrades Lewis, Ellis, Tannahl, Metzler, Miner and Adams headed the parade. Sons of Veterans drum corps, Brimblecom, Galley, Techy and the drum were met at the depot by the Fremont drum corps and escorted to the park where arrangements had been made for speaking and holding the reunion. However, the wind was so high that after electing the officers for ensuring to Love's opera house, headed by Columbus drum corps. The opera house was packed full from footlights to gallery, and the evening was a good one. Music was furnished by the Denny brass band and Fremont glee club, in addition to which as deserving of special mention was the vocal solo rendered by Mrs. Haas. The speakers were John M. Thurston, W. V. Allen and A. S. Churchill. The speeches were all good, Allen dwelling a little too long talking about himself. The exercises ended with a camp-fire in the evening, which was too late for the Columbus delegation to attend, as they came home on the last mail.

The Platte Farmers club met Friday at Mr. Meays' st., with a good attendance in spite of the sand storm. One of the good things done at the meeting was, that the members of the club agreed to the usual company that they would all vote for the bonds. There are twenty-five votes south of the river against the bonds. If the matter is explained to them, they may be turned yet. Directors should look to this.

Senatorial Convention. The republican senatorial delegates met in convention at the court house, Schuyler, Saturday afternoon, Sept. 29, at 2 o'clock. The delegates elected to represent Colfax county were Warren Fusselman, C. J. Wertz, C. T. Schneider, P. M. Higgins, J. L. Cushman, F. E. Moore and F. H. Kohn; Platte county, C. J. Garlow, W. R. E. Johnson, J. D. Morris, M. Costello, H. T. Spoerry, Ed. Justice and F. M. Cookingham. Notestein (with the promise of Garlow and Spoerry), Costello and Weishand of this county were present, and Notestein and Costello, with Higgins were the committee on credentials. F. J. Murphy of Colfax county was nominated as the candidate for senator unanimously by acclamation. Frank Kohn of Colfax and C. J. Garlow of Platte were appointed as the central committee, after which the convention adjourned. The nominee is a highly respected citizen of Rogers, well known to a large circle of business and social friends and will make a good representative of the business interests of the district. He is a near neighbor and friend of ex-Senator P. M. Higgins.

The Fourth Artesian. Eugene Bacon, the mascot well man, struck his fourth artesian well in Platte county on Wednesday last on the John Williams farm at Postville, seven miles from Platte Center, 25 feet from the dwelling. The well is 95 feet deep, the water fills a 2-inch pipe and is gushing up outside, so that it will be necessary in time to put down a larger pipe. It throws out the best and clearest of water. Hugh Hughes has done a nice thing for his nephews and nieces in thus developing the natural resources of the farm.

State Reading Circle. This organization has been started and is having quite a run. It will include local circles under the directorship of county superintendents. A set of books are selected at the beginning of each year, and the first list is on School Management; Folk Lore; History of England, which are furnished at nominal cost. Examination on these will be made at the end of the year and diplomas issued, if found worthy. It is designed to organize a pupils' reading circle also. Sup't Rothlisner has a few words to say on the subject: The reading circle seeks to interest teachers in a carefully prepared course of reading, to the end that they may be better prepared to do the important work of the school room. That the pleasure and inspiration which come from comradeship in study, keep the number one hundred in Platte county.

Yours fraternally, M. M. ROTHLISNER, Co. Sup't. Over the Boulevard. Ray Young is improving. Dr. Heintz expected to move back to town Monday, but it rained. Mrs. Shaad moved to her home near Mr. Young's, the first of the week. Miss Ina Bouton of Bellwood was visiting friends along the boulevard last week. Willie Craun has sold his farm to his father, and purchased one in Merrick county between Clark and Fullerton. Mrs. Lydia Rose, who has been visiting her grandmother Mrs. Stewart for a few weeks, returned to her home in Silver Creek Saturday. Saturday W. T. Ernst returned from Omaha, where he had been for a week, consulting with the doctors there in regard to his bruised limbs. The republican and democratic caucuses last Saturday nominated the following ticket, in the township: Supervisor, W. J. Newman; town clerk, A. W. Clark; town assessor, H. C. Bean; town treasurer, Albert Stenger; road overseer, D. No. 1, W. T. Ernst; No. 11, Mr. Henning; No. 25, W. H. Randall.
