Some of our scholars have lately been discussing the question as to which kingdom of nature, mineral, vegetable or animal water belongs. Allen Gerrard was in the city Monday. He has had a call to go into the southern part of the state on a campaigning tour, which he may accede to; nobody that we know of has any notion that Allen stands the "ghost of a show" to be elected governor of Nebraska this fall on the prohibition ticket, but he may in the meantime enliven the campaign in spots, and look to the future for substantial results.

John King, who formerly lived here, but of late years was a resident of David City, was accidentally killed at that place Tuesday last week. The directors of the canal project held a meeting Monday evening. Owing to the fact that a different feeling prevailed, and that many who voted against the bonds have expressed themselves in favor of it, and are now ready to work for it, the directors have decided to file upon the water right of the Loup river, and be sure of securing the right before it is in the hands of the directors will meet again in two weeks.

Are we to draw our water from the dry canal next year and trust to providence, or can we find no way to go ahead with the project and make the Loup valley bloom like the rose? Putting the irrigating ditch through, would be equivalent to putting any one hundred thousand acres more land into Platte county, for if we could double the crops grown on that much land it would be equal to double the land not watered.

There is nothing like seeing the machinery actually at work, except taking a hand yourself, and it is becoming quite the thing to have pupils go where they can see exemplified the principles which they have been studying. The Albion News has the following: "The class in civil government from the public schools attended court one day this week to witness the practical workings of the judicial branch of our system of government."

R. P. Drake, who is the republican candidate for county attorney, is a practicing lawyer of Humphrey, well known to most of our readers of the northern part of the county, and favorably known by reputation to the remainder of the county. He is well qualified for the position, and if elected will fill it with honor to himself, and doubtless with satisfaction to the people of Platte. The office is one of the most important at the disposal of voters, and should not be overlooked or treated slightly. Put your X opposite Mr. Drake's name, and you will not regret it.

Wolfenbarger of Lincoln, an enthusiast of the cause, also gave interesting talks both Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Thursday evening the Y. M. C. A. rooms were opened to visitors and a short program given and refreshments served. Thursday morning the lodge had a photograph taken in front of the Thurston hotel.

Our brother editor, Col. Parks of the Telegram, is becoming somewhat famous having been sued by an advertising agency for libel, the claim for damages being placed at $25,000. The Colonel doesn't seem to be the least bit scared by the suit, but we hope that no amount of legal proceedings will compel him to turn over any such sum to an advertising agency, after years of hard scrubbing as a country editor. If George Patton of 38 Park Row, New York City, expects to gain his suit (which, by the way, has been brought in the U. S. circuit court, district of Nebraska), he ought to be very sure of all his allegations, as Col. Parks is evidently very well and determined.

THE JOURNAL aims to keep its readers posted as to delinquent tax sales, and the rights of land owners under the laws. The case of Stearns against Fankler et al., that went by appeal to the supreme court from Colfax county, has recently been decided, and the following principles laid down: "Where a tax sale is invalid the purchaser thereof is, by the payment of his bid, simply subrogated to the rights of the county for the enforcement of payment by foreclosure of the amount actually due, which he has paid, with interest thereon, at the rate of 10 per cent per annum. A purchaser at an invalid tax sale is not entitled to have taxed in his favor an attorney fee as part of the cost of the foreclosure of the lien to which he has by payment become subrogated."

The following paragraph from the World-Herald of Omaha will be of interest to our Columbus readers who know the Miller case: "They reside here: 'Theodore G. Stearns, clerk of the secret marriage, which took place between Mrs. Nellie Miller and some unknown party last March, entitles him to have her removed from the position of administratrix of the estate of Charles P. Miller. Stearns is vexed because he claims to have obtained an order that $38 should be paid him for a bill he holds against the estate, and that, although the time for payment has already passed, the money is not forthcoming. He has caused a citation to issue out of Judge Baxter's court in order to have Mrs. Miller removed. Mrs. Miller is the widow of South Omaha's murdered mayor.'"

The details of a recent date gave a sensational item from North Platte that was enough to horrify every parent in the state, and induce them to exercise the utmost care in regard to their sons and daughters, and especially as to their moral training. City authorities, school boards, teachers, parents, and all persons interested must waken up to the necessities of the times for protection of the young and the inexperienced against the wiles of the designing, and the schemes of human sharks. It comes to us that regular lists are made of those girls who are giddy and wayward, and that opportunities are sought for poisoning their minds and affecting their ruin, and that in this town. The matron of the Woman's home in Omaha, in a recent report said that she had "visited the city park several afternoons and evenings and had reported thirteen girls under 16 years old to parents who had met there by appointment with men of bad character. It is not alone in Omaha or North Platte that careful watch and ward must be kept over the young and inexperienced. Human nature is much the same the world over.

Chicago has evening high schools and grammar schools, which are as free to pupils as the day schools, for the accommodation of those who cannot, for any good reason, attend the day schools. Columbus has several likely ladies who have expressed a desire to attend school, provided a way could be made for their support. One of these says from 50 cents to $1.50 a week and if he could get a situation where he could work for his living and go to school, he would gladly accept it. Driving children into the schools by a policeman is doubtless better than driving them into houses of correction and jails as criminals, but certainly every available means of bringing the light of intelligence to the youth of our land should be exhausted before the effort is given over.

Hensley Fishing.

Now that Judge Hensley is a candidate for congress he may expect even the chrymeters to be after him, as for example see the following, which we find as a contribution from a local poet: "If Hensley is so good at fishing for votes, as he is at fishing for bass, Stearns might as well catch and grub worms. He will bait his hook with liver."

It is an old saying that a "new broom sweeps clean" but when we say "sweep the world" we mean that among all the railroads of the world none stands higher in the estimation of the public in all special points, than the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. It is the only line west of Chicago which runs electric-lighted, steam-heated and vestibuled trains between Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis, and between Chicago and Omaha. Try it. F. A.
