Miss Kittie Way took last week for a vacation from her school north of the city.

Martin Postle has gone to Holt county to look after real estate interests there.

Charles Stevens of Leigh is studying medicine in the office of Martyn, Evans & Geer.

J. D. Brewer was at Madison Monday. He reports Wm. Bickley as improving.

A daughter of J. Poe is in the hospital under the care of Dr. Geer for rheumatism.

All who visited the Y. M. C. A. rooms Thursday evening were treated to apples and gospel music.

Mrs. Gus G. Becker was numbered among the diphtheria patients, beginning with Thursday.

Watch out for our new chairs and rockers; they are coming and are beautiful. Fred W. Herrick.

Rev. Dr. Davis of Omaha will preach at the Presbyterian church every evening this week. All invited.

John Clark has started a cigar factory in the city, and we learn, is picking up quite a bit of business.

The Good Templars lodge gave a free entertainment Saturday evening in their hall, a large crowd being present.

The announcement comes from Cerro Blanco, State of Sonora, Mexico, that on Nov. 9, Mrs. C. C. Miller, was born a son.

A. D. Weir returned Wednesday from Chadron, where he visited friends. Tom Hasty acted as Y. secretary in his absence.

J. M. Curtis and G. W. Turner drove up to Lee Betty's Saturday and returned the first of the week with a good string of quail.

Mrs. S. A. Weddell has opened a dress-making establishment in rooms over Barber's store. She solicits the patronage of the public.

We have added to our already large stock some enameled and brass bedsteads, something nice. Call and see them. Fred W. Herrick.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Greisen returned Sunday from their wedding tour, and Jacob has been busy so far selling goods and distributing cigars to his friends.

Friday morning snow storms were reported in Wyoming and South Dakota. It felt here as though it was snowing a little some where in the neighborhood.

Becher, Jaeggi & Co. insure buildings and personal property against fire, lightning and cyclones, in good and reliable companies at lowest current rates.

Otto Roen and Roy Stires, aged respectively 10 and 8 years, made the trip to Genoa and return on their bicycles one day last week; coming down, it took them just one hour.

E. S. Daniel, painter and paper hanger. All work promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. Paper hanging a specialty. Leave orders at Stillman's drug store.

William Crann's child, a little girl nearly 2 years old, was taken sick last week with scarlet fever. She was reported better Sunday. The family lives five miles north of the city.

The 25th anniversary of the Swiss republic will be celebrated this Wednesday evening at the Maennerchor hall, having been postponed on account of the illness of Rev. DeGeller.

The sad death of Edward Higgins removes one of the most promising young men of the state. His life was an example to his companions, and his every act a kind one. (Omaha Republic).

C. H. Thompson, who blundered the Platte Center post office some weeks since has plead not guilty to the charge and will have his trial in the U. S. court, Attorney Baldrige acting as his counsel.

Allen Gerrard of the Monroe Looking Glass proposes to swap libel suits with Judge Parks of the Telegram, saying: "if he will pay us the five thousand difference, cash, between his suit and ours, we will take both of his hands and save the blushes and shock to his modesty that would ensue were he compelled to defend us."

—Eugene Bacon, the man of artesian well fame who has just completed a new well for the Clobber house, claims it is the best in town. Mrs. S. W. Wilson and Mrs. R. W. Perkinson of Columbus were visiting friends and relatives in this burg the first part of the week. [Platte Center Signal.]

—One of a party who left here some weeks ago to sojourn in Missouri, but returned after a short time, says that they were charged a dollar for ferry service over the Missouri, but returning, the same ferryman asked them only twenty-five cents for the like service, doubtless acting on the theory of charging all that the traffic will bear.

—Owing to the fact that we must pay spot cash for our coal, we are compelled to notify our customers that from and after this date we will make no book accounts. Please bear this in mind and do not ask for credit. Dated November 8, 1894.

—It is an open secret that Baker Post G. A. R. adjourned to the third Saturday of the month at half-past seven p. m., to complete the regular work of the first meeting, among which is the election of officers for the ensuing year. Quite a number of the old boys were out at the first regular day-meeting of the Post, and it is hoped that they may continue thus to come at least once a month.

—The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Worteman, who live eight miles southeast of Creston, died last Saturday after being sick about a week. Mr. Worteman went to Germany on a visit three weeks ago, and was wired to come back when the child was first taken sick. He is expected home tomorrow. We are informed that Mrs. Worteman is also very sick but it is thought nothing serious. [Creston Record.]

—Some items of interest in regard to the forthcoming income tax will be found in another place in today's JOURNAL. From 1863 to 1872 the government imposed a tax of this kind, exempting at first $600, and levying 5 per cent on all incomes above that to $5,000, 7 per cent on those from five to ten thousand, and 10 per cent on all above ten thousand. The receipts in 1867 were $27,418,000; in 1868, $23,300,000; in 1870, $26,153,000.

—Guy C. Barnum's name heads the list of members of the Territorial Pioneers' Association of Nebraska, he having made settlement in 1850. There is only one settler who appears to have arrived on the sod at a prior date, and that was Captain Charles Contal of Blair, who is put down for 1826, thirty years before the settlement of Columbus. H. J. Hudson is the only other person of our city who is a member of the association.

—On next Saturday evening, at their hall on Eleventh street, Union Camp No. 134, Sons of Veterans will hold their regular meeting. The Camp has initiated forty-nine members all told, and it is desired that all be present at the next meeting, as important business is to be transacted. A new route is soon to be instituted and matters, we are informed, will take a lively turn. Nothing like a little good humor or downright fun mixed with the solemnities of life, giving it zest.

—The Nebraska Farmer advises farmers to keep an eye on their hogs for present and future use. Give the market a chance to brace up a bit by marketing what hogs you should have for future use. The suggestion is to feed light and thus make provender go as far as it will with the maximum number that you can keep for stock. Good crops another season, cattle and hogs both will be in big demand for feeding and will doubtless bring extra good prices when they are fattened.

—C. M. Copeland, "Y" secretary from Manitoba, was in the city Friday and Saturday working for the Fifteenth annual state convention to be held in Beatrice, Dec. 6-9. In the program we notice an hour's Bible study each day; the discussion of the "Y" as a factor in the commercial, social, political and spiritual life of the community; business method, in association work; the need for trained and educated men of Nebraska; the student in college, during vacation, after graduation.

—One of our physicians says that the townships of the county should be just as particular in quarantining against the spread of contagious diseases as are the city authorities, and gives it as his opinion that several of the later cases in the city were brought from the country. Cases could be cited where the spread of disease could be traced to its source, the victims marking the track of the contagion, as plain as the footprints of a beast of prey. There can be no reasonable doubt about the benefits of a good and effective quarantine.

—People are getting so that they don't like to talk of being held up for money; there have been several cases lately that we didn't hear of until Saturday, although they occurred some time before that. Fred Gottschalk, sr., though a large man, was a small victim the same night that von Bergen was touched. It was at his pasture gate on Fifteenth street, the man put a pistol into his face and got 35 cents for his trouble, besides Fred's honest opinion of him and his business. If Fred had been armed he might have played his assault as he moved off, which he did very deliberately and with his back towards his victim.

—Two pretty good election stories come from Boone county. During the campaign J. C. Fillman of this place, a very ardent republican, was in Albion, and Tom Stevenson, a noted champion of the county, and a long-time kicker on general principles, was riding along on a very diminutive mule, and every once in a while the air was being split with the ye-haws of the animal, when Fillman exclaimed, "Eh, Tom, why don't you stop that populist braying?" The other story is that a few days after the election there were two men, populists on opposite sides of the street, one being John Bixby, a newspaper man, and the other fellow said to Bixby, "Where's the pop party now, John?" "Gone to hell" was the very brief but decided answer. As it happened, Rev. Worley was just in front of Bixby and he immediately turned round and said "Gone home, eh?"

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Busche returned Thursday last from their two weeks' visit with friends at Eldorado, Kas.

Henry and Misses Lydia and Anna Sturgeon and Jennie Gasser, spent several days last week with relatives near Rising.

Judge N. H. Parks, of the Telegram, accompanied by his daughter Miss Carrie, started Monday for New Orleans, expecting to be gone ten days.

Edward Bryan Higgins.

Last week just as we were going to press, details of the sad death of E. B. Higgins, by the accidental discharge of a pistol, were received and given in THE JOURNAL. There is little to add, except that the pistol was lying on a shelf, muzzle outward, and that when a light struck he was found with the muzzle of the pistol grasped in his left hand, and that the bullet was lodged at the back part of the skull.

He was the oldest son of the late Judge John G. Higgins, who met a sad fate in death in this city just a year within a few months before that of his son.

Edward was born in this city September 16, 1876, and had lived here with his family, except the time of their sojourn in Grand Island and the last six months residence in the city of Omaha.

He had been a student at the Baptist College, Grand Island, and a law student in Omaha. He was an exceptionally bright young man, and his loss to his mother, brothers and sisters and to the community will be sincerely mourned.

The funeral took place in this city Wednesday last, services having been previously held at the home of Mrs. Higgins in Omaha, Rev. Williams officiating.

The attendants from Omaha were Mrs. Higgins with her children, Bessie, Frank, Joy and A. J.; Mrs. Ella W. Peattie, Jennie A. McCann, James H. Brennan, Geo. V. Hines, J. A. Connor, H. E. O'Neil, J. E. North, and Rev. John Williams, rector of St. Barnabas Episcopal church.

Taken up.

At my farm four miles east of the city 30 HEAD OF HOGS.

They will average about 60 pounds each, are Poland Chins, and have no distinguishing marks. The owner will prove property, pay damages and charges, and take his hogs, or the law takes its course. 5-Dec-5 E. O. WELLS.

—Brother Parks of the Telegram was in Valley county last week and had an opportunity of inspecting the irrigation canal just completed there. This is what he says:

"The ditch is about twelve miles long and will irrigate about 10,000 acres of land. It is all ready for operation, and there is no doubt as to its success. The ditch cost less than $30,000. The townships through which the ditch or canal passes assisted in its construction by voting bonds, but the canal is owned by a stock company. Since the success of the undertaking was assured land under the ditch has increased in value from 50 to 100 per cent, and it is estimated that the total appreciation in value of the improved land is not less than $150,000."

—Rev. Dr. Puls of the Baptist church preached the Thanksgiving sermon at the Union services in the M. E. church, delivering a very able discourse, his theme America, as a Christian nation, his text, "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord." "Righteousness exalteth a nation. He emphasized the principle that in this nation, not only is it God's right to rule, but he does actually govern; that among us, as a people, it is not public opinion that is the sovereign, but the God who is the Lord." The Dr. read his discourse, and the thoughts were so closely compressed and yet clear that it was an intellectual feast pointing out some of the most palpable evidences of God's presence in national affairs.

—The editor is in receipt of a letter from Wm. Burgess of 941, Howard street, San Francisco, from which we learn that he still has a warm place in his heart for his old friends here. He tells us that his boys (except Watson, who is engaged on the "Four Corners," a newspaper at Wheatland), with their families, make San Francisco their home when not traveling, and that his daughter continues at the Carlisle school in Pennsylvania. He extends his personal sympathy to Judge Henley and to E. A. Gerrard, "in meeting the great loss of the respective positions to which they aspired, but if they were merely put up for shooting marks they cannot regret that they got hit so squarely, for they will have no wish to risk a contest."

—The Bellwood Gazette of last Friday gives a half-column account of how young Columbus men shot and killed a number of dogs at various farm houses in that vicinity, and says that if they ever come back into the neighborhood they will meet a warm reception. The article closes with: "It is no wonder that so many of our farmers have taken steps to prohibit hunting on their lands. Such fellows as mentioned above are not safe on any man's farm and would shoot a hog or any other animal that happened to come in their way. The sooner such fellows are taught better, the safer it will be for our community." There is certainly no excuse for the kind of conduct spoken of by the Gazette, but is it not mistaken as to the person mentioned?

—Trial by jury is regarded as one of the chief bulwarks of our civil and religious liberty, and it undoubtedly is when ideal justice can be furnished, and men can have their honest differences fairly submitted to twelve men of like or somewhat like circumstances as themselves, and of average intelligence, but there are times when a man's faith in the trial by jury is very sadly shaken, and this is very apt to be the case when the man of average good intentions and intelligence, sits for the first time on a jury that is not up to the average of either intelligence or good intentions. In such cases, disgust is intermingled with indignation, shame and anger alternating in their control of the mind to such an extent as to make life wearisome. One man thus situated in giving his experience a week after his trial said that it seemed to him as though a man when he had gone wrong would get the sharpest lawyer he could find, and when he had to select the biggest fool jury he was allowed to have. And it is too true that such is too often the case.

—Wm. Hoffelman of Grand Prairie was in the city Friday and renewed his subscription to THE JOURNAL. He lately made a trip, by wagon, across a corner of Dakota into Minnesota to visit relatives. He says that he here have no idea how the Russian thistle is playing havoc where it has had a footing for some time. In places along the way the wagon track ran between thistle-thickets on both sides. The pest grows where wheat and oats had been cut, the stubble could not readily be seen through the thistles. Farmers put grain sacks on their horses' legs to keep them from getting hurt by the thorns, and often "turn out" for an unusually big specimen. Mr. Hoffelman, as a farmer, if they didn't have a law against allowing them to grow. He replied that there was such a law, but no one wished to proceed against his neighbor, and so the law was a dead letter. Mr. Hoffelman gives it as his opinion that a very stringent law is passed and enforced in Nebraska, we shall be overrun by this pest, and lands become practically worthless.

—The departure of Rev. Charles Stanley Brown from Brooklyn, his former place of work, for his field in this city, was the occasion to the friends of himself towards those of his former place, Mr. Hoffelman, as a farmer, if they didn't have a law against allowing them to grow. He replied that there was such a law, but no one wished to proceed against his neighbor, and so the law was a dead letter. Mr. Hoffelman gives it as his opinion that a very stringent law is passed and enforced in Nebraska, we shall be overrun by this pest, and lands become practically worthless.

Literary.

A few years ago the Chautauquan circle was the only literary society in our city and the readers found it difficult to secure new members, but times are changing and our people are more interested in educational matters this winter than ever before. Several reading circles are well attended, besides other clubs or societies which are educational in character. We have endeavored to get the names of all and give our readers the result below.

The Chautauquan is the oldest reading circle, the members are: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brindley, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McAllister, Mr. and Mrs. Herrick, Rev. and Mrs. Bross, Dr. and Mrs. Nauman, Rev. and Mrs. Brown and Miss Matthews.

The largest circle is the St. Catharine reading organized last winter and has a course similar to the Chautauquan, but is limited to members of the Catholic church. The members are: Mesdames Getzsen, Walker, O'Brien, Mulvahill and Misses Lena Getzsen, Sarah, Jennie and Agnes Fitzpatrick, Minnie and Lida McMahon, Kate Vogel, Mae Cushing, Alice Quinn, Shannahan and Messrs. Cox, Hart, O'Brien, Burns, Ryan and Browner.

The "Tuesday afternoon class" was organized last winter. They are now reading George Eliot's works. The members are: Mesdames Clark Gray, Clinton Gray, Resder, Post, Page, Kramer and Misses Nellie Post, Clara Lehman, Grace Taylor and Mary Henry.

The "history club" organized this winter is considered by its members to be very beneficial. Those who are studying are: Mrs. Merrill, Miss Ida Martin, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hockenberger and Ed. Hockenberger.

In the line of educational progress there are several "helps." The Y. M. C. A. has given a great opportunity to many who can not afford to buy literature, their tables being supplied with several dailies and a good line of magazines, besides several hundred volumes of books, mostly donated by friends of the association.

The Viking club last winter was very successful and paid out a great deal of money for lending magazines and papers; the membership has fallen off but the club still have their rooms over Barber's store.

The public schools own a library in the high school building that is enjoyed by pupils, and that is valuable for the reference books.

A night school is now in progress, Monday and Friday evenings in the high school building, with I. H. Britel and L. H. Leavy as teachers, and much interest is manifested. It might be well for the boys of the city who find it necessary to work during the day to earn their living, to consider whether they cannot take advantage of the night school. An hour and a half from 7:30 to 9 is thus taken, and it gives an opportunity to ambitious boys to gain a working knowledge of penmanship, commercial arithmetic and book-keeping.

We make this summary to show the strong tendency towards intellectual culture—good literature and good morals go hand in hand, and the rational faculty is the strong element of the life of any community.

The JOURNAL, years ago, advocated a free, public library, and we have a state law that can be applied to the situation with wonderful effect, if those who feel the need of such an institution will but combine their efforts in securing it. Very few persons desire to invest hundreds of dollars in works of reference that all should have access to, but every self-respecting community nowadays, has a good, free, public library, and Columbus should not be behind hand.

A Wise Settlement.

The mutual friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lawrence of Cleveland, Ohio, formerly of this city, will be pleased to read the following, dated Nov. 25:

"FRIEND TURNER:—I am pleased to be able to inform you that Alice and I have settled our differences out of court and that we are living together as man and wife, and that everything is practically the same as before suit was brought. I consider that it is a wise settlement and probably the best for all parties concerned. We have six children who need the care of each of us.

Thanking you for the interest and kindness you have taken in our affairs, I remain, Very truly yours,
W. H. LAWRENCE."

We Sweep the World.

It is an old saying that a "new broom sweeps clean" but when we say "we sweep the world" we mean that among all the railways of the world none stands higher in the estimation of the public, in all special points, than the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. It is the only line west of Chicago which runs electric lighted, steam-heated and vestibuled trains between Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis, and between Chicago and Omaha. Try it. F. A. NASH, Gen'l. Agent, 1504 Farnam St. Omaha.
