PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S friends are calling more loudly than ever for an explanation of his phrases "sound money" and "safe currency." They are not going to be satisfied with mere talk. The man who exhibited such financiering as the president did in the recent bond sale, ought to feel that his naked word on financial problems will not go Central American republics were anxthose of his own party name.

How to get rid of adulterations is one of the most serious questions of our times. The agricultural department of President Vglesias of the republic of the government is continuing its investigations, and Prof. Wylie in one of his late reports expresses himself as fairly the money, while the state department startled by the result of his investigations, and the adulteration is of many classes of goods. He says that much of the "olive oil" sold at $4 a gallon is simply cotton-seed oil, worth 40 cents, and samples of coffee purchased by the department have been found to be onethird artificial beans made of scorched flour and molasses and costing about 4 cents a pound. Even green coffee beans are imitated. Everything in spices from cayenne pepper to cloves is matched in color by what they call "fillers" made of the ground shells of various nuts.

THE president and his cabinet need not imagine that they are the people and can do as they please for all time to hope of ultimately inducing, if possible, come. Temporarily (and very much so active intervention of the United we think) they occupy positions of trust, States. and their enormous and costly blunders should induce a little more modesty than they are just now exercising, especially concerning the money policy of the near future. This country is designed for the use of the people who by their genius and industry made it prosperous before Cleveland was elected sheriff and entertained an ambition to boss the whole land, and it will happen again that we shall have a man of intelligence, a conscientious statesman, at the head of affairs and the present administration will be remembered for the many evidences it gave of English influence working adversely to American interests, and a playing into the hands of the most selfish combinations of greedy capitalists against the welfare of the common people.

CHEAP FOREIGN TRASH.

The Warkets Are Flooded With the Commonest Kinds of English Goods.

There is a vast amount of trash now being imported into the United States. Since the enactment of the new tariff this has been the case in very many lines of goods. It would not matter so much if all the foreign trash that is imported bore a foreign brand, but it does not. In many cases the cheap foreign goods are retailed as American goods, thus bringing discredit upon American manufactures generally. In the case of foreign woolen goods, which are now being so heavily imported, there is probably more trash than in any other line. Goods are sold here that have an excellent finish, almost as good as in the finest weelen goods, yet their textile construction is practically rotten. They are made of the commonest kinds of shoddy and contain not a particle of pure wool.

low prices. In appearance they are ex- | the Nicaragua government, cellent, but for durability they are worthless. Of course it takes a little time for the wearer of such goods to find this out, and when he complains to the party who sold them he is often informed that he has bought American goods and is induced to give another order for another lot of similar stuff.

The American manufacturer cannot afford to make such cheap goods, because he knows that he must equal the best foreign makes. He is consequently working at a disadvantage. Notwithstanding a growing disposition among the wholesale trade to handle only American goods, even at a slightly higher cost, the difference in the price between these foreign woolens, so called, and honest American woolens is so great that the trade feels unable to pay the difference for the American goods, as times are now when people study carefully the expenditure of every dollar they own.

Of course the idea of the foreign manufacturers is to secure our markets. They know that the American manufacturers do not make any such stuff, and that in order to meet the competition the American goods of better quality must be marked down in price, which can only be done by lowering American wages-a proposition that would probably be opposed by the wage earnersperhaps closing our factories, and thus

BLUE JACKETS ARE IN CONTROL OF AFFAIRS AT CORINTO.

Opposition Party In Nicaragua Making an Attempt to Overthrow the Present Administration by Force of Arms-Martial Law Has Been Proclaimed.

New York, April 29.-Herald cable from Corinto, Nicaragua, says: Taking advantage of the uneasiness that is manifesting itself throughout the Nicaragua republic in consequence of England's occupation of Corinto, the opposition party is making an attempt to overthrow the present administration by force of arms.

The government is aware of the cheme and is adopting measures to nip it in the bud. Martial law has been proclaimed and recruits are being enrolled.

Business at Corinto is paralyzed.

The custom house and postoffice both remain closed. The foreigners residing here hope that the government will soon come to terms. It is rumored that Nicaragua's action in this affair was prompted by advice received from Washington through Minister Guzman.

When Lampton and Wiltbank, the citizens of the United States. were expelled from Bluefields last July. for alleged complicatity in the conspiracy to defy Nicaraguan authority on the Mosquito coast, it was said Consul Hatch was involved, the sentiment in the state department took such vigorous steps that Lampton and Wiltbank were not only permitted to return but they were restored to all their rights and property and a public ball was given in their honor. At that time, it was believed. Nicaragua would show the same willingness to furnish redress to England that she did to the United States. But by continued delay matters were allowed to reach the acute stage and Great Britain, in accordance with the terms of her ultimatum, seized Corinto to enforce the payment of the indemnity claimed to be due her. Much interest is manifested in diplomatic circles in the situation. Secretary Gresham drove to Woodley Sunday afternoon and had a long consultation with the president. It was thought some demand would be made. but upon his return the secretary declined to give out anything. The fact the United States has been officially advised of the occupation of Corinto by the British is, however, definitely ascertained. From recent indications, all the correspondence in the case will be held by the state department until the incident is closed. The situation in many possible complications. Holcomb Confronted by a Dilemma. Lincoln, April 27.—A peculiar situation has developed in state finances by which it may be necessary to close the penitentiary. The last legislature abolished the contract system in vogue, but failed to appropriate funds to pay the institution's expenses. No money is available. The governor must call an extra session to have the appropriation made or make the pen self supporting. He will try the latter.

One on a "Tariff Reformer." The feeling of "tariff reform" is kept alive by such stimulation as that of The Democrat of Bakersfield, Cal., which, in an editorial article, attacks the Twine trust, explaining that "under the great and glorious McKinley law" it pays dividends on a nominal capital of $30,-000,000, watered up from $7,000,000. As this refers to the National Cordage company, which failed, went into a receiver's hands and has been reorganized, the "dividend" feature is a joke. Some more interesting news is obtained from the same source-to wit: "It costs the Twine trust 4 cents a pound to manufacture twine, which it sells for 14, 15 and 16 cents per pound." This statement was made in the same month that the McCormick Harvesting Machine St. Joseph, Mo., April 30.-Ex-Govcompany sold sisal twine to farmers in ernor Silas Woodson, 70 years old, who Minnesota for 61/2 cents a pound. -Manufacturer, Philadelphia. was taken suddenly ill, is in a critical
