-On Friday afternoon the fire alarn was turned loose, and it seemed as though the whole city, including the full fire department and a goodly portion of the outlying neighborhood rushed toward the seat of excitement, which proved to be a small stable on Washington avenue and Fourth street, worth about $15, and belonging to a man named Staab, not the pedler. The fire was put out in short order.

-At the council meeting Friday even ing an ordinance was passed to assess insurance companies doing business in the city $5 a year for the use, support and benefit of the volunteer fire department of the city; also an amendment of the occupation tax, reducing the annual revenue of the city from this source some $1,500 a year, taking the tax off most store-keepers, laboring and professional men, but still retaining it on quite a lengthy list of occupations.

Albert's Meter.

Attorney I. L. Albert as plaintiff filed petition in the District court of Platte county, April 2. against Charles H. Davis water commissioner of the city of Columbus, and the city of Columbus, defendants. He alleges that he is a resident tax-payer and owner of and reciding upon certain lots in the city; that the city is of the Second class, and that Charles H. Davis is the duly appointed, qualified and acting water commission of the city.

He then sets forth the contract between the city and himself in regard to the excavation of ditches, laying of necessary pipes to conduct the water from the mains, etc., and the credit due him for necessary expenditures, and also sets forth the rates then in force as part of the contract.

That there is due him on the books of Seward Blade: The farmers at Beaver Crossing are going to engage extensively in the cultivation of potatoes, onions, cabbage, etc., where the water from the flowing wells can be utilized. The experience last year has convinced them that immense crops can be raised where the water can be obtained when needed. Butler County Press: A friend asked Fremont, and shipped thence to Chicago us the other day why all the taxes are divided up into funds in such shape that thousands of dollars are left lying idle ing interest on other funds? Why not consolidate and pay all their debte as 23 years, a very estimable lady, beloved they go? There has never been but one reason which we could discover. The law was made that way to do just what has been done—create surpluses for poli-ticians to bank on.

Fremont Tribune: The Standard Cattle company tried an experiment in raising water enough for irrigation purposes by pumping, last Thursday. The pump are driven into the ground and all conkicked by a horse, and was at first supengine furnishes the power and is confour inches in diameter was kept constantly flowing and such a stream is capable of watering a good-sized tract of dry-goods store, formerly occupied by land, but we will not need irrigation
