By motion, the last two were included in the list of delegates and were given seats in the convention.

On motion of Kramer, delegates present from each township and ward were authorized to cast the full vote of their delegation.

On motion of Drake a committee of three was appointed on resolutions. The chair appointed Drake, McAllister and Stires.

The work of the convention went right along while the committee on resolutions was cogitating. It was determined to proceed to elect delegates to the Omaha convention by ballot, those eleven receiving the highest votes to be declared the delegates. At first there were thirteen put in nomination, but Carl Kramer and Fred Meedel withdrawing their names, the remainder were declared the unanimous choice of the convention, viva voce: G G Becker, H J Hudson, J E Ernst, C G Gray, T H Williams, R P Drake, Ed Hoare, Chris Meedel, W H Illian, D Thomas, J J Niemoller.

The convention then proceeded to elect twelve delegates to the convention at Norfolk, the same to be by ballot, the twelve having the highest votes to be declared the delegates. Twenty were put in nomination, three of them withdrawing their names, and on the ballot being taken, the following were declared chosen: Carl Kramer, Fred Meedel, G G Becker, H J Hudson, J E Ernst, C G Gray, T H Williams, R P Drake, Ed Hoare, Chris Meedel, W H Illian, D Thomas, J J Niemoller.

The resolutions were then read by Drake, chairman of the committee, and were adopted without discussion and without dissent, and are as follows:

Resolved, That we recognize with pride and satisfaction the spirit of growing Americanism, and in William McKinley we recognize the incarnation of that spirit,—the defender of the American home, the protector of American industry, the champion of the rights of the republican of Washington, the father, of Lincoln, the savior, and of Grant, the defender of the republic. Representing the republicans of Platte county, Americanism, and in William McKinley we recognize the incarnation of that spirit,—the defender of the American home, the protector of American industry, the champion of the rights of the republican of Washington, the father, of Lincoln, the savior, and of Grant, the defender of the republic. Representing the republicans of Platte county, Americanism, and in William McKinley we recognize the incarnation of that spirit,—the defender of the American home, the protector of American industry, the champion of the rights of the republican of Washington, the father, of Lincoln, the savior, and of Grant, the defender of the republic.

The convention then adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.

The board met Monday at 4, in adjourned session, all present.

On recommendation of Chairman Hockenberger of the committee on finance, the following transfers were made from the license fund (reported as having in it $5,500): to the teachers' fund $2,000; to the general fund $250; to the textbook fund $100.

There was some informal talk indulged in as to the receipts for the coming year, the amounts being roughly estimated at $6,500 from license; $1,400 from state apportionment and $4,100 from the levy on the basis of last year. The board are confronted with the fact that the coming year, additional room must be provided for pupils, necessitating also an addition to the teaching force.

On motion the appointment of a committee of one to draft resolutions expressive of the sentiment of the board in the Post-Martin case was reconsidered, and the motion indefinitely postponed.

A contract was entered into with the Central School Supply Co. of Chicago for the sale of relief maps, 21 maps for $300, contract to be dated 1 Sept. '26, payments of $100 each, 1 Sept. '27, 1 March '28 and 1 Sept. '28, without interest, freight prepaid by company. Turner voted against the purchase, thinking that the price of the maps was about twice what it ought to be.

The usual resolution was passed commending the courtesy and fairness of retiring Mayor Phillips—a well-deserved commendation in this case.

Col. M. Whitmoyer was selected as president of the new council.

Licenses to sell liquors at retail were granted to Wm. Bueber, V. A. Macken, Carl Hoppen, John Wagner, S. J. Ryan, Carl Rhode, Samuel Gass, L. J. Lee, J. F. Abbe; at wholesale, to J. H. Koresbrook and J. F. Abbe. Druggists' permits were granted to Gabel & Wilson, C. L. Stillman, C. E. Pollock & Co. and A. Heintz.

Licenses ordered issued to Henry Luber as plumber.

An effort of C. A. Newman to have the Telegram declared the official paper of the council did not succeed, the matter being laid on the table indefinitely.

FOR THE JOURNAL. How It Went.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Some of your readers may wish to know what took place at the council meeting Thursday evening last and here it is, in part. The friends of John Wiggins were there in the interest of the republican party asking for a re-count of the ballots for the office of mayor. While the majority for Spoice on the face of the returns was only bare one and some of the canvassing boards did their work in a rather loose and hurried manner, the republican committee thought it would be nothing more than fair for Spoice to submit to a re-count, but it would appear plainly to one who attended the meeting that Spoice had been favored orders by superior officers in the party councils and hence declined to make any concessions to the republicans.

C. J. Garlow stated the case for the side of Wiggins in a clear and candid manner, using but a very little of the council's time. He was followed by Judge Henaley on behalf of the pure democracy of the city of Columbus who claimed that Wiggins and his followers were entering into child's play to attempt any such thing. He went on to tell how sacred the votes were while locked in the ballot boxes, but he did not seem to feel such concern on the day of election about the sacredness of the ballot so long as democratic votes were being cast. He claimed that the request was contrary to law, when he knows there is a provision in the statute which says plainly that such steps may be taken. Galley made a few remarks on the balance of the council were made. The city attorney got up and passed on the question and admitted his ignorance regarding section 15 of an ordinance providing for the election of city officers.
