City Attorney Hensley has filed the written opinion requested of him by the ouncil as to removing obstructions or portions of streets now occupied by the R. & M. and the U. P. railways. He states, that after careful and exended investigation he is firmly of the pointon that the city by appropriate orlinence or resolution by the council has the power to vacate or re-open and improve any street or alley, whenever the public interest shall or may require. The public cannot lose its right to the use of its streets or thoroughfares by non user or by vacating the same, only for such length of time as the municipal authority may determine, and that this power can be exercised only when such street or alley is not used nor required for public travel.

Any street or alley which has been vacated or abandoned for the reason above set forth, the municipal authority has the power to re-open and improve the same whenever the public necessity therefor shall arise or supervene.

The city possesses the power to order any or all said streets re-opened and improved and to have all obstructions removed therefrom whenever the city Miss Katharine Herrot of North Platte | council shall so direct and the public interest demand.
