Mr. Bryan's 25-Cent Pollar.

Mr. Bryan's speech, as reported in a Democratic paper, fills about half a column. It is a calamity wail. "People who were afraid of a 50c dollar six months ago," he said, "would be glad to get a 25cdollar now." The speaker might have added that his Populist supporters would be best pleased with a no-cent dollar, and he voted for that himself when he gave his ballot in 1892 to Weaver as a presidential candidate. Mr. Bryan read a newspaper clipping arguing that the depreciation of farm lands in England is due to the gold standard and the plotting of money changers. But he made no reference to the comfortable financial condition of England generally and its treasury surplus, nor to the fact that many British farmers contend that free trade is the source of their troubles. The Nebraskan's assertion that this country is desperately sick seemed particularly grateful to his audience. The remedy, in his lan-operative concerns, owned entirely by the and is ty no means a supporter of the year ended last month. The total value guage, is to "turn over the affairs of the he is in the opinion of the orator.

The statement that the American people shows the glibness of Mr. Bryan's tongue and the light caliber of his mind. Having ready to bisect it again, and would doubtless drop the remainder without the slightest ceremony. It is this fantastic readiness to jump into any wildly radical experiment that makes Mr. Bryan a favorite with every revolutionary element in the country .- St. Louis Globe-Demoerat.

The Populist Revolt.

The Nathville Populist convention seems to have performed the work laid out for it with neatness and dispatch. type, it reflected from first to last the spirit of ultra-Populism. The motto of the concention was "no entangling alliances." The 70 delegates who attended it put themselves on record in the most positive manner against all future deals, compromises or agreements of fusion with either of the old parties. These men and the considerable number of Southern and Western voters they represent propose to keep strictly in the middle of the Populist highway hereafter. Believing in the sufficiency of Populistic doctrines for the cure of all the evils of the body politic, they will follow no leaders and adopt no platforms save their own.

The stand they have taken is most distressing to Mr. Bryan and Mr. Jones of Arkansas. The convention's assertion that "we do not believe that the question It will be a great disappointment to the of free silver is itself a broad enough
