Presumably, one of the main reasons why the city council does not have so many in the audience as the churches do, is because their exercises are prolonged far into the night-not so late as the revelers (2 o'clock in the morning), but too late for the ordinary tax-payer to sit up and listen to, amid the torrent of words and the smoke of battle (actual, as well as metaphorical, many times). At the regular meeting last Friday evening, Councilman Echols presided in the absence of Mayor Speice, and, after the reading of the minutes gave opportunity for citizens present to state their business with the council. O. C. Shannon had presented a bill for preparing a list of I. Gluck's real estate mortgages, $5, which, it seems, on Wood river, immediately after the had been ordered by the council sitting as a board of equalization.
