With favorable wind, sails add two miles an hour to the rate.

THE latest claim to the rapid accumulation of wealth is by Rev. Prescott F. Jernegan, formerly pastor of the Baptist church in Middleton, Conn., through a discovery that there is gold and silver in sea water, and a machine of his inventing readily separates the metals from the other constituents. A company has been organized with a capital stock of $10,000,000. The process is said to be so very simple that if the secret were revealed, any person at a small cost might operate his own gold mine on the sea shore. Some 150 tests have shown that the quantity of silver to the ton of sea water ranges from 1 to 2 speak louder and those admonitions grains; and of gold, 1/4 to 1 grain.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.-The trial Martin Thorn for the murder of Guldensuppe was closed last night so far as the taking of evidence is concerned. This morning Mr. Howe began his final appeal in Thorn's behalf.

Opinions, both lay and legal, differ materially as to the probable result Many look for a conviction, but a greater number anticipate a disagree ment. A few of Thorn's former employes were called by the defense and they all gave the accused barber an excellent character dating back some 10 years. Thorn himself was the only other witness called for the defense. From the moment he was led to the witness chair until he left it, some hours later, the prisoner conducted himself in a cool and impressive manner. His statements in reply to general questions and his answers in the direct and cross examinations were delivered in a moderate tone of voice which could be heard distinctly by all in the court room. At times his voice would drop so that he could not be heard a few feet away, but Mr. Howe reminded the witness at these times that he should always had the desired effect.

Says Mrs. Nack Killed Guldensuppe. Thorn, in his story of the marder, deliberately accused Mrs. Nack of having shot Guldensuppe and declared that the facts. A recent investigation by the | when he (Thorn) reached the Woodside New York Tribune shows that the ad- cottage between 11 and 12 o'clock on vance in the price of articles imported, Friday, June 25, the woman met him in some thousands of articles, is less suppe was lying dead upstairs and that she had shot and killed him. Up at Washington, was received by the purchase new homes for themselves products generally. When the increase to that moment he had understood she was going to start a baby farm there and that he was to live with her and share the profits. He described in detail how, after Mrs. Nack had begged of him to help her get rid of the body, he accompanied her side, dead from a bullet wound in the right side of the head. Mrs. Nack told him that she had carried the revolver in her hands, covered by a handkerchief and that as Guldensuppe was looking head is still preserved there. The into a closet she shot him in the side of the head. Thorn then said he went out and bought two pounds of plaster of paris at Mrs. Nack's direction and returned with it shortly after. This was about noon.

When he got back to where the body lay, Mrs. Nack was still there and he helped undress the corpse. Between them they carried the body to the bath tub and Mrs. Nack cut it into five pieces. She first cut the head from the runk with the aid of a knife and saw. Then she carved the trunk and boasted of her knowledge of anatomy while so doing. Then she severed the legs, using the knife and saw. The knife looked like a butcher's knife. It was not a stilletto or dirk knife. The prosecution did not put Mrs. Nack on the stand and the court ruled against Mr. Howe's attempt to introduce the testimony given by Mrs. Nack at the mistrial.

STREET CAR CONDUCTORS They Work Harder and Rate Lower Than

Their Steam Road Brothers. You often think it's hard for the passenger conductor of an accommodation train which stops at two or three stations to the mile to tell who has peid his fare and who has not. The conductor of a short run accommodation train especially must be a peculiarly gifted man. He must be at once both cool headed and even tempered, or if not he is a total failure.

But if the requisites of a railroad conductor are such, what are the requirements of the man who runs a common street car? Why, as much as those of the railroad man and several times more. The railroad accommodation conductor on one of the short run trains which leave the big cities has little more work, little more responsibility and requires less real skill than the man who by grace is called "conductor" on a trolley car of one of our cities. Both men, of course, have thousands of cares. The railroad man has a certain number of stops to make and a certain schedule time allowed for getting over his run of the railroad. The street car conductor has an uncertain number of stops to make, vet he still has his certain scheduled time to make on his run, and he must make it, too, or be able to give an "A No. 1" excuse for failure. The railroad conductor is always the biggest man on his train. Is ever the street car conductor the biggest, unless every passenger is cff and the motorman to them as if they had borne the stamp also? These things make it hard for the of the government. patient man who must be polite and who is expected by the company for which he works and spurred on by a dozen or so sharp eyed "spotters," or 'street car detectives," as they call themselves, to feel as lovely as a spring morning, and they make his already nervous work doubly so. MONEY TO BURN.

They Burned It and Later Wished They Had Kept the Fuel.

"When Bornside made his mud march on to Fredericksburg, we men in the advance had some gay times," remarked a veteran of the civil war. "It was a long while before the Johanies would let us cross the river, but when we did get across we made the fellows who had been shooting at us for the past three hours get right up and dust for safer quarters. The infantry soon followed us and took up their position along the BY VINTUE of an order made by the district and took up their position along the river toward Falmouth, while we skirmished through the town. When we came to the Planters' hotel, we just walked in and took possession. Everybody had deserted the place and we did just as we pleased. In going through one of the rooms I came across three bundles of Confederate notes. MONEY MAKING IN TACOMA.

The City of Destiny Once Coined Its Own Tacoma ouce had a mint that coined all of the money in circulation where the City of Destiny now stands, and it did not require the fiat of Uncle Sam, the silver of Idaho or the gold of California to make the pieces from Tacoma's mint pass current among the Indians and the few hardy pioneers who were tional reputation and also known in blazing the path of civilization through the forest on the shores of Commencement bay, says the Tacoma Ledger.

Back in the early seventies the Tacoma Mill company, not being able to handily secure gold and silver for use in trading with and paying off the In-10nov4 dian laborers and early settlers, hit ppon the novel plan of issuing its own for Thursday and Wednesday, January 11 and 12.

A Peculiar Dutch Custom.

A peculiarity among Dutch farmers who live at a distance from a town is to have a coffin in readiness for their burial. It is by no means uncommon to see a still sturdy old patriarch going to an outhouse and gravely contemplating that which is to hold his body when he shuffles off this mortal coil. Nearly all of this old "mill" coin has passed away, but a few days ago William Hanson of the Tacoma Mill company presented a set of these queer coins to the Ferry museum. In his letter to the museum he said:

"The honesty of the people and the absence of any blacksmith shop save that of the company made the use of this money possible."

Oregon has long boasted that the Beaver" coin, minted at Oregon City in the early fifties, was the only money minted in the northwest in the days of the pioneer, but here .a Tacoma, long years after Oregon's "Beaver" mint had become a historical incident, was a primitive mint that supplied the coin to furnish the pioneers and Indians with all of the necessities for their rough lives. The coins, which are still preserved, are roughly made, just such as any blacksmith with ordinary tools might make, and as a mutter of fact during the early years of the mill company's existence formed practically the local circulating medium of exchange. When the Indians who were employed in the mill were paid for their labor. this coin sufficed, as all the trading they did was with the little store run in connection with the mill The iron and brass pieces were, of course, passed among the Indians in trading with each other, and as anything in the way of supplies was purchased by them at the mill store the pieces were fully as good
