That Coal Business.

Last week in the published official proceedings of the county board of supervisors our readers were furnished with the report made to the board by a committee appointed for the purpose of - George Hall, better known as "Skip" investigating the disappearance of coal county paper." From this it would appear that there is a private pipe line somewhere between chairman of that committee. Mr. James Kiernan. But that does not much matwork in the interest of public welfare, at least when they know it would serve grounds were authorized to employ an their individual ends just as well. It is well enough always for newspapers to publish the news and give such information as they are sure they have, but the manufacture of public opinion with a view to create prejudice against individuals, or the withholding of such facts as the public are also entitled to know, is not at all commendable, either in newspaper or individual conduct.

It was given out, the impression conveyed, that during the month of November last the county had used some fortytwo tons of coal. Now, we understand that on November 1st, 20 tons of soft and 20 tons of hard coal were ordered, but ten tons of this hard coal was not delivered until in January, and there is now coal enough on hand to run the officials all winter. So much for that attempted deception. Mr. Kiernan was chairman of the committee and had the calling of them together to investigate, and did call them together at an expense to the county of $27.50, that must have been known to be useless, as we understand that virtually nothing more was ascertained than what was known by the board when the committee was appointed, and therefore the three weeks' premature shooting of the Argus and Chairman Kiernan was an unnecessary expense of $27.50, pretty nearly enough to pay several individual coal bills.

The school board met in adjourned session last Thursday evening, at half-past seven, at the office of L Gluck, all present, President Galley presiding. The object of the meeting was to hear the report of the committee on buildings and grounds (Messrs. Becher, Gluck and Scott), to whom had been referred the matter of additional school buildings.

Chairman Becher of the committee was the chief spokesman, and the report was verbal. It was thought, in brief, that an expenditure of $2,500 to $3,000 would add to the First and the Third ward buildings sufficient room to accommodate for three or four years. Scott. of the committee, remarked that the estimate was made on the score of economy, the reporter understanding that he meant it was the least that. under the circumstances, ought to be thought of-the committee were unanimously and decidedly of the opinion that one large building was the better way. costing, probably, including site, fur-additions to the First and the Third ward buildings as the better way. It could be done by an increase of levy, and without the expense of a bond election and saddling a large indebtedness upon the district. The frame school house in the Third could be moved west of the meridian line at small cost, and the other additions made as spoken of, at a cost not to exceed $3,000, and this, he thought, could be done by the board without going to all the expense of a bond election, etc. The present buildings were located about as conveniently as could be for the school population except a primary school west of the

One mill of levy amounts to, say, $400 We can levy 10 mills additional to what we have done, giving $4,000, and this Rickly, the past two weeks, started for is better, paying at once and being out Columbus, Ohio, Sunday, expecting to of debt, than voting bonds and piling up interest upon principal. The people are in no mood for voting bonds.

Both Mr. Galley and Mr. Gondring thought it doubtful if bonds would carry without a school house site was named in the proposition.

Mr. Gluck said there was no doubt but we needed additional buildings. So far as the location of a new building was concerned, there always is a difference of opinion. Columbus is not a one-horse town. Let us have a school house according to our needs. We certainly ought to do as well as David City, Schuy ler, Albion and other places around.

Becher moved and Scott seconded a of the board that a proposition be submitted to the people to vote bonds for buying a site, building and furnishing a school house.

The amount supposed to be needed and also the site for the house, it was thought by Gondring and Galley should be named in the proposition, and so thinking, these two voted in the negative, not believing it best to leave the amount and the site to be fixed by the board, without some limitation at least The committee on buildings and

The first business transacted, after calling to order, was the report of the committee on buildings and grounds, by Chairman Becher that they had employed Judge Post as attorney to advise in the submission of the bond proposition. After an informal talk in regard to particulars of submission.

manner of voting, who is eligible to vote, etc., etc., the board adjourned to Monday evening next at 7:30. The board having by a vote of four to two adopted the plan of asking the people to provide one additional large building for the accommodation of the increasing school population, instead of making additions to the present buildings, it is altogether probable from present indications that the proposition will be favorably received by the voters. It was thought the state would take bonds at 414 per cent.
