 24. Decorating the Graves.

The following is the list of soldiers and sailors buried in the Columbus cemetery.

J. B. Teeddy,	Wm. Schroeder,
J. W. Early,	Fred Schutte,
Frank North,	Joseph Ellis,
R. Hunt,	R. B. Melville,
James Jones,	Henry Woods,
George Banks,	John Lawson,
Wm. H. Thomas,	J. J. Slattery,
Edward Arnold,	P. J. Lawrence,
Wm. Malloy,	Mathias Koenig,
John Hammond,	Spencer Campbell,
Fred Mathers,	J. V. Stevenson,
A. J. Whitaker,	Solomon Edwards,
O. H. Archer,	John Wise,
O. E. Wells,	(Ex-Confederate).

In the Catholic cemetery, E. D. Sheehan and E. C. Kavanagh.

Besides these, the Post will decorate the grave of Mary Griffin, who had been an army nurse, and who was for many years before her death a soldier's widow.

It is the desire of Baker Post No. 9 to have all soldiers, whether federal or ex-confederates, attend Memorial services at the Presbyterian church, Sunday, May 28, at 11 o'clock (meeting at the hall at 10 o'clock), and also the Decoration exercises, at which all the graves of soldiers, federal or ex-confederates, are to be decorated.

Quite a Blaze.

At half past 2 o'clock yesterday, Tuesday morning, alarm of fire was given, and the fire department were promptly on hand at the danger point, southwest corner of Eleventh and Madison streets, at the building owned by John Wagner, the ground floor being occupied by the Osborn Millinery Company store in front, and in the rear rooms by the family of H. S. Osborn as a residence; the second floor by Ed. Achenbach as a cigar factory.

The probability is that if the fire had occurred during dry weather that house and the other frame buildings west of it would have gone up in smoke. As it was it was pretty hard to subdue, but the other buildings were saved, and the Wagner salvage is estimated at one-half to three-fourths—insured for $800; the front part of it is surely but a shell. A new roof was put on the back part last week, and this was partly blackened.

The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp. A little dog was whining, had a broken leg, and Mrs. Osborn got up, lit a lamp, and started to put the dog out of the room, struck the lamp against a counter, exploding it. She saw she had barely time to get the two little children and escape from the premises. Everything but what they had on, was burned except what money was in the drawer, which was rescued by Alphonse Heintz.

Ed. Achenbach carried $700 insurance. It is said he had $500 worth of tobacco stored in the cellar, which is probably a total loss.

The Osborn Co. stock and household goods is an entire loss, insurance $1000 on stock and $200 on household goods. As usual, the Fire Department did noble work under the direction of Chief Galley. The pressure was good, and four streams were poured upon the flames.

—The Fremont Tribune says that Representative Robinson has arranged for the holding of a competitive examination at Norfolk, June 15th, for young men who may have an ambition to enter the service of their country in the military or naval branches. The Third district is entitled to a cadet at West Point and Annapolis and it is likely that, stimulated by the recent stirring events of the country's history, there will be many contestants in the coming examination. The competitors for the prizes must be under nineteen years old and the winners must, before they receive the appointment, produce evidence of moral and physical soundness. They must also be re-examined before they can gain admittance either in the naval or military academies, and it frequently happens that lucky contestants in these district examinations are rejected by the academies. When Uncle Sam educates a soldier or sailor he spares no expense to fit him in the most perfect manner for the science of murder called war, and he expects that he shall be the pick of the land.
