—Tuesday afternoon of last week, Prof. E. E. Blackman of Roca, lectured before the Teachers' institute upon the "Coronado Legend," a subject that he has paid considerable attention to for several years past. He believes that the site of the ancient city Quivira was where Columbus now is; that it contained many four-story houses and thousands of people, and was probably a dozen miles in length; that they were advanced in agriculture, and in certain lines of manufacturing. He expected to find here some remains of ancient pottery, but did not. North of Fullerton, however, he was very much gratified by finding a scope of country six miles in extent which had been devoted to that industry, as pieces of the Aztec pottery picked up indicate. Mr. Blackman is engaged in a serial publication upon the subject, putting his thoughts in verse, expecting to publish an illustrated book form when his studies are completed.

Death of Mrs. J. P. Abts.
Thursday morning, June 22, at 10:35, after an illness of ten weeks, Mrs. J. P. Abts departed this life.
Elizabeth Greenback was born August 3, 1837, near Cologne, province of the Rhine, Germany; she was married to J. P. Abts June 29, 1867, and in a few days after the wedding, started for America, settling in Grant county, Wisconsin, whence they moved to Cedar county, Nebraska, in 1869. From there they went to Stanton county, residing two years, coming to Platte county in 1877, and have resided here ever since. She was ailing for ten weeks, suffering a great deal. We understand that there was fear on the part of the physicians that she had not the physical strength to endure the surgical operation which seemed absolutely necessary to be made, as a chance for recovery.
She leaves her sorrowing husband and eight children, bereaved of a faithful wife and loving mother, three of her children having preceded her to the Summer Land. The surviving children are: Mrs. Maggie Stoltz, Sioux City; Mrs. Ollie Patach, H. W. Abts, M. Abts, Chris. Abts, Arnold Abts, the last mentioned, the youngest, being twenty-one years of age. There are twenty-two grand children.
The funeral services were conducted at the Catholic church Monday, Requiem High Mass by Father Marcellinus and his assistants, and the body laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery near by in the presence of a large concourse of friends, who sympathized deeply with the bereaved family.
