

Comfort in "Cresco."

It don't matter how much or how little you pay for a corset. If it breaks at the waist line, the comfort of wearing it is gone.

"CRESCO" CORSETS CAN NOT BREAK AT THE WAIST LINE.

They give to every movement of the body, they retain their shape. Since securing the exclusive sale for this section of the "Cresco," we've been most agreeably surprised at the selling results. The "Cresco" fills a long felt want. All sizes now in stock. Glad to have you examine this famous specialty.

—Nebraska farmers to the number of a hundred or more visited the State university farm Tuesday last week. The plots of ground of one-tenth acre each sown to various methods of cultivation were to interest. One hundred and sixty-two varieties of grain have been tested; 141 varieties of winter wheat, etc. Seed obtained from successful experiments is sent, free of charge, to citizens of Nebraska. Twelve horses are kept on the farm for the sole purpose of supplying hog cholera serum; 3,045 packages of infected chinch bugs have been sent out from the department of entomology. Chicken cholera vaccine was sent to nine counties. A way to inoculate prairie dogs and gophers and thus get rid of them was shown to be practical; in hog cholera cases 90 per cent of the cases treated were saved. A large amount of vaccine for blackleg is sent out 92 per cent of the cases being saved. The dairy school interested all, and a sample cheese made by the students of the school was of such superior quality that none was left at the close of the day. Irrigating by use of the windmill and reservoir is shown. The farm itself consists of 320 acres. The expense of the experiment station proper, including all the work in animal pathology, is borne by the United States government. The state furnishes the land and buildings for the school of agriculture, besides providing for a great deal of the instruction. The completeness of the work has only been made possible by reason of the funds obtained from Nebraska farmers, their wives, sons and daughters, will go far to encourage good management at the State farm, and, as a result, untold benefit to the state at large.

—Citizens can learn of other cities how to manage, and the following from the Omaha Bee contains a suggestion valuable to every city that may adopt and enforce same. "Mayor Moore has signed the ordinance authorizing the location of iron waste paper boxes on the street corners and governing their use, and as the council has already awarded a contract for the placing and maintenance of the same, they are expected to appear soon. The ordinance declares it unlawful to scatter on the street any waste paper or fruit peelings and compels pedestrians to deposit such matter in the receptacles provided for the purpose. It is unlawful to put in the boxes any sweepings, ashes, garbage or other like heavy or bulky matter. Under the contract, the city will not be at any expense to put in or maintain the boxes, but on the contrary will derive a revenue from them, the contractors paying 12 per cent of the gross receipts from the advertising on the boxes to the city."

—The First Nebraska. The regiment is due at San Francisco July 28. General Barry passed through the city Friday. He says that the soldiers will be mustered out, after an examination as to their physical condition, of which an official record is made; making up and auditing accounts. The officers of the regiment will continue to hold a sort of financial connection with the army until their accounting of all properties balance with that of the army is closed.

Congressman Stark goes with Gen. Barry as Governor Poynter's accredited representative, to be able to get speedy action in any emergency.
