As the days go by, it is seen on all hands that the republicans made no mistake when they nominated M. B. Reese for supreme judge. It was an act in line with the best the republican party has ever done in Nebraska or elsewhere. It at once put the opposition on the defence of their candidateas a man, as a citizen, as an official, as a judge, and so busy will they be kept in defence that they will have no time for an affirmative campaign. The indications now are that acores of democrats. diagnoted with the ex-governor's record as a professed reformer of acknowledged abuses, and thoroughly convinced of the insincerity of his political professions, will vote for Reese for supreme judge.

How Governor Holcomb "Settled" 2 With State Treasurer Bartley.

The failure of Governor Holcomb to nake a proper settlement with State Treasurer Bartley in 1895, and the acceptance of a worthless bond, whereby the state lost half a million dollars, is a matter of record that will not soon be forgotten by the people of Nebraska. That Holcomb was to blame for this loss the record clearly shows, his own halting and confused evidence given in the bond trial being the best proof. The public mind needs only to be refreshed. Holcomb was elected governor in the fall of 1894. Bartley had served two years as treasurer and there was a suspicion that his accounts were in bad shape. The governor-elect was warned by Rosewater and others that the treasurer was a defaulter and that a very careful accounting should be had. to protect the state.

In spite of this warning, and in spite of the law, the new governor plainly entered into a deal with Bartley. After a long private consultation he accepted new bond upon which most of the old and already accountable bondsmen qualified for fabulous sums. No attempt was made to examine into the real worth of the bond.

The acceptance of the straw bond was bad enough, but the worst part of the deal was in the pretended settlement with the treasurer. The transcript of Holcomb's evidence in the Omaha trial is the best proof, and it is accessible to

According to this testimony, Holcomb first held a private consultation with Bartley, and then they entered the treasurer's office, where they remained about two hours. The governor says he looked over a ledger or some such book in

Then Bartley produced a cigar box containing some slips of paper, repre-senting what should have been about $460,000 in cash. He also produced some $50,000 in cash. The law required it all to be in cash, but, according to Holcomb's testimony, "the law was a farce and a sham." This testimony is

The governor did not examine the slips of paper closely. He admitted that he did not know sure whether familiar to the older settlers. He was they were genuine. He knew that the one bank which was not a legal depository was represented in the cigar box by a slip calling for over $200,000. told in the exact words of the record.

The case was heard at Omaha in Feb-A special on the 8th to the Chicago ruary, 1898. Governor Holcomb was on the stand, and the following extract is from pages 617 to 623 of the record, bill Question. I ask what he was chargeable

A. Yes, that was the end of it. The man who gave this weak and halting testimony-who accepted worthless bond—who made an illegal settlement with a defaulting official who declared the law of the state to be "a farce and a sham," and by his fail-are to enforce it caused the state to lose half a million dollars, is now a candidate for a place on the supreme bench.

of the Supreme Court. Judge M. B. Reese has been a resi dent of Nebraska 23 years. He is a native of Illinois, having been born in Macoupin county in 1839. He received a common school education and being lesirous of further culture attended seminary for two years, paying his own expenses. During that period he developed the spirit of independence and self-reliance characteristic of all men who attain eminence. His father was a farmer and the son followed the same occupation until he was 24 years old. Meanwhile Mr. Reese had married and settled down, but an accident occurred which disabled his arm for life.

of law. Shortly after the breaking out of the war he enlisted, but when he came to undergo the physical examination necessary, much to his chagrin, he was rejected because of the injury referred to. He then again applied himself to the study of law and was admitted to practice in March, 1865. He practiced in Osceola, Ia., until 1871, when he came to Nebraska. He has lived in Plattsmouth and Wahoo and

Judge Reese was elected a member of the state constitutional convention in 1875 and assisted in framing our pres-ent constitution. In the following year he was chosen for state senator by the Republicans of his district, but he declined the nomination. In the fall of 1876 he was elected district attorney of the then Fourth judicial district and was re-elected in 1878 and again in 1889, practically without opposition.

In November, 1882, Mr. Reese re signed his position, lacking two months of holding it six years. In the fall of 1883 he was nominated for the position of supreme judge and was elected, remaining on the bench for six years. About six years ago Judge Reese was appointed dean of the law department of the State University of Nebraska, which position he still holds.

Dr. W. B. Ely was born in Boston in 1842. His parents died while he was quite young. He began the study of in the female seminary at Canandaigus. N. Y., several years also in the female seminary at Rome, Ga. He commenced studying medicine at Rome, Ga., and entered the college of medicine at the University of Michigan in 1876, graduated in 1878, practiced medicine in New York until 1889, when he removed to Ainsworth, Neb., where he has resided ever since. Dr. Ely was a candidate for state senator in the Fourteeuth district in 1896, on the Republi can ticket, and cut a majority of 1,000 down to 250. He is considered one of northwest Nebraska, having a very large practice in Brown and surround-

He attended the State University of Wisconsin, graduating therefrom in 1888, and afterward the law department of the same institution, from which he graduated in 1885. In 1888 he came to Omaha and engaged in the practice of law and has practiced his profession there ever since, and has attained a position in the estimation of his fellow jurists which can be placed second to

Development of the Iron Trade.

The vast development of the iron dustry of the United States in the last twenty years is set forth by the Springfield Republican in the following table showing the production of pig iron in tons and the imports and exports of manufactured iron in value:

Production. Imports. Exports. 4 259,229 $59,700,000 $19,340,000 $17,420,000 $8,200,000 $36,000,000 $28,520,000 $9,446,308 $23,048,515 $2,000,000 $8,633,127 $25,338,103 $41,169,877 $9,652,680 $16,094,557 $77,97,878 $11,773,934 $12,626,431 $70,406,885 $14,000,000 $12,088,239 $3,715,951

Twenty years ago, with mountains of iron ore and whole counties of coal, ourimports of manufactured iron amounted to $40,000,000 more than our exports and last year our exports amounted to $80,000,000 more than our imports. making a change of $120,000,000. Gradually the resources of our great country are being developed and already we are in the markets of the world with manufactured iron and taking a leading place.
