Roberts, the Mormon representative-elect from Utah, is to be called up this Tuesday, and, may be, two or three days devoted to it. The majority of the committee hold that Roberts should be excluded; the mi- nority contend he should be admitted	are shamefully blind, careleasly dormant to the awful need of moral reform in your very midst. I see your brothers trying to resist the bare temptations so cunningly devised by evil genius for them, while your secret protection in sisterly confidence is in hiding against it all. You cannot deny to me, the fact of this needful work. But recently a young man in your midst humbly sought recog- nition and encouragement from a total stranger. His desire to escape the suare that beset his path was met with warm- est, sisterly approval. What a sad dark life must have been his, with none to discover, none to dare to approach the yearnings of his true, manly heart! Thank God there are search lights reaching out from weak bodies and steady beacons burning from stranger shores to meet the gaudy, dazzling light. I would here greet another class, who are earnest but seem frail in displaying their noble intentions. Yet, sufficient to my belief is the fact made plain to open their eyes, ears and hearts boldly, undis- guised to the situation.	Miss Anna E. Case. Married, October 16, by George W. Shaffer, justice of the peace, at his office in Lost Creek precinct, Luther V. Chapin to Mrs. Lucy Kelton; on the same day, by the same, John S. Wood to Miss Rhoda Chapin. There is talk of a daily paper being started at Columbus, that is if the right man abould happen to escape from the lunatic asylum.—Kearney Press. What an idea! An escaped lunatic editing a Columbus daily. A prairie fire northeast of town Oct. 8, destroyed hay for Messrs. Beed, Griffin, Stenger, Reagan and Crites, a lot of sorn for Dan Sheedy and it was only by the bardest work that Sheedy's house and wheat stacks were saved. At the meeting of the county commis- sioners November 13, 1877, the vaults in the court house were accepted and war- rants ordered drawn for $600, balance due on the contract. W. H.
