

FAGGED

What a story of suffering that one word tells. It says: "I am all tired out. It seems to me I can hardly take another step. I haven't a particle of ambition. I can't do half the work I feel I must do. I am weak, nervous, depressed, discouraged."

That's Impure Blood

Now you know what the trouble is, you certainly know the cure,—a perfect Sarsaparilla. "Sarsaparilla" is simply the name of the medicine, for in a perfect Sarsaparilla there are a great many remedies. Some act by taking out the bad; others, by putting in the good.

You want a Sarsaparilla that will make your blood pure this spring, a Sarsaparilla that will make it rich and strong, a Sarsaparilla that is a powerful nerve tonic. You want the strongest and best Sarsaparilla that can be made.

That's AYER'S

"The only Sarsaparilla made under the personal supervision of three graduates: a graduate in pharmacy, a graduate in chemistry, and a graduate in medicine."

"Last July my oldest daughter was taken sick, and I was on my feet, it seemed to me, night and day weeks taking care of her. I had no other help than that which my husband gave me, and by the time daughter began to mend I was down sick myself. I was discouraged, and did not care much whether I lived or died. My husband got me a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and its effects were magical. Two bottles of this medicine put me on my feet and made a well woman of me."—JANE M. BROWN, Bentonport, Iowa, Jan. 19, 1900.

FARM AND GARDEN.

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO AGRICULTURISTS.

Some Up-to-Date Hints About Cultivation of the Soil and Their Therapeutic, Hygienic and Pleasurable.

Two Ways of Farming.

There are two ways of farming being followed in this country, one way is called "farming by brute force" and the other is called "farming by the aid of brains." This thought is brought out by the remark that a certain locality in the United States cannot hope to hold its present position in the competitive production of agricultural products, because the farmers in that locality are all farming by brute force. Not only are the men working in the fields, but the women and children also are working in the fields. The sons and daughters of these farmers are being robbed of their privileges in this land of schools, while for a time they help their fathers make a hard living. It is also reported on good authority that, even with the whole family working long hours every day, the returns are not commensurate with the efforts put forth. Yet the men that farm this way will succeed in paying for their farms, though they will send out their sons from those farms utterly unable to cope with the great progressing world around them. The daughters will be broken down in health by the time they are of age, and will have that condition as the only reward for their years of service in the grime of the field. This is no mere theory, but the grime has been demonstrated in real life. This style of farming is not the kind that has built up the country, it is a late importation from rural Europe. It is a detriment and a menace to every community where it is practiced. The farmer that works the adjoining section and sends his sons to the school and dress as a woman should find the other farmer a hard competitor in that he is always underselling his neighbors, since he has the labor of his family to help him produce below average cost. Ultimately this farmer will disappear from the face of the earth, but while he remains he is a menace to the health of his competitors and the community in which he lives.

It is a foregone conclusion that the man that farms by the help of brains is the coming farmer. He is destined to drive out the man that farms by brute force, and the more rapid the change the better will it be for the country. The farmer with a high order of intelligence will make his lands fertile and his soil rich, and the other farmer never raised; his sons and daughters will be set free from the "drudgery" of farm life, but will find in the air and sun of the farm the place of all others where their souls can expand and glow. The new farmer reaches out to others of his kind and allies himself with others to gain mutual aid, the farmer that knows no method but that of brute force is incapable of combining effectively with any one or for any purpose. A new era has dawned for agriculture, and every man that refuses to recognize the changing conditions, and the new requirements will find himself out of harmony with progress as it touches him. He will be entirely incapable of adapting himself to new situations as they arise. It is full time for all farmers to abandon the kind of farming that succeeds only by blind exertion and take up the new way, which promises to accomplish more with less expense of muscle.

Horticultural Observations.

We hear some talk of the combination of small growers to better market their products. The term would better be "co-operation." Certain it is that the fruit man will gain much if they are able to properly co-operate. The markets are sometimes over-supplied, and the farmer has been no system in forwarding fruit. It frequently happens that one city has such a big supply of fruit that the producers get nothing out of it, while some other city is short in supplies. Moreover, shortages frequently exist in small cities simply because too many growers have their eyes only on the large markets.

There is not a year when fruit is produced in large quantities that a big part of it does not go to waste. This is very largely due to lack of system in shipping and selling. The customer on the other hand does not often reap the benefit. The retailers wherever they can by mutual consent keep up the price to the consumers, and going that it is better to have some of the fruit rot than to lower the price and get the people in the habit of expecting low prices. When the commission man makes returns to the grower he ships his figures in his losses in rotten fruit and spreads it over all the consignments. So the grower has really to suffer the loss of rotten fruit from his neighbor's consignments.

The grower at the present time loses sight of his fruit after it gets into the hands of the commission man. A good system of co-operation would make it possible for him to follow his fruit to the consumer. The abuses of delivery of fruit will not cease till that can be done. As it is, the honest fruit man is plundered at every turn because he is compelled to come away with the one in his reputation as well as in his losses. The man that sends green peaches to market is likely to get about as good a reputation for them as the man that sends fairly good fruit, for the reason that the two are often mixed before reaching the consumer and the latter gets two baskets of peaches each with good peaches on top and green ones in the bottom.

Size of Drain Tiles.

The users of drain tiles are becoming more and more to use the larger tile. For a good many years farmers have dug ditches for and used 2 1/2 inch, 3-inch and 3 1/2-inch tile. Now they have come to see that 4-inch tile does better service and costs little more than the other. The smaller sized tiles are being ordered to such an extent that some of the manufacturers this year will make no tile smaller than 4-inch. The movement is a step in advance. It costs just as much to dig a ditch for a 3-inch tile as for a 4-inch, and that is the principal cost of the tile drain. Small tile becomes easier clogged with the sediment. In case the frost gets at it and chips off some of the inside it is the easier to fill up, especially where the fall is sufficient to give considerable current, which in turn washes into corners of tile the chips from many. The larger tile carries off the food water much more rapidly than the smaller tile and the amount of air thus drawn into the

Two of the Six Are Dead.

And the Third That the Wilcox Train Robbers Is to Die.

OMAHA, Neb., April 28.—Since the Wilcox train robbery on the Union Pacific, about a year and a half ago, a never-ending search has been kept up by the United States Pacific to catch the six men who did the job. Two of the six are now beneath the sod and a third one is in jail at Cheyenne awaiting trial. The first located was Lemmy Logan, alias Lonny Curry, at Dodson, Mo., who was killed while resisting arrest. The second one was Bob Lee, alias Bob Curry, arrested in Cripple Creek, and now at Cheyenne. The third is the one known as George Curry, who, realizing the danger of getting out into a busy world, contented himself with remaining in the mountains and sage brush of the west. Finally he went to cattle rustling and the latter part of last week a posse got him. Curry and his partner and a bunch of stolen cattle, overhauling them on Green river about seventy-five miles north of Green River station in Utah. Curry began the shooting, but the posse finished it. When Curry's body was picked up he was soon identified as one of the Wilcox robbers from the widely published description of him and his peculiar facial make-up. His face was so much "dished" that a ruler laid from forehead to chin just touched the point of his nose.

Preservation of War Relics.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 28.—An elegant oak case for the preservation of war flags and relics has been placed in the office of Adjutant General Barry at the state house, this city. It is a massive case reaching nearly to the ceiling and is richly carved, with heavy fluted oak columns at each corner. The glass on four sides will be put in and the case will be placed a few feet from the wall so that light rays may pass on all sides to view the contents. As the case will be hermetically sealed the battle flags and other perishable articles are expected to keep for ages. The battle flags of Nebraska regiments that served in the war of the rebellion are now in letters, and are deemed best to secure a more perfect case than the old one now in use. These flags and the flags of the First Nebraska volunteer in the Spanish-American war will be the chief objects of interest to visitors at the state house. When the glass is placed in position the relics will be put on exhibition.

An Insurance Problem.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 28.—Auditor Cornell has encountered a new question in the line of insurance business. The Union Life insurance company of Omaha was organized under the Nebraska law that requires a deposit of $100,000 with the auditor for the benefit of policy holders. The deposit was made, but one year ago the company consolidated with the Royal Union Life insurance company of Des Moines, Ia., and the latter company has taken up the policy of the Omaha company. The Royal Union company now wants Auditor Cornell to surrender to it from the deposit an amount equal to the reserve due on the policy taken up. This amount does not exceed $4,000, but Auditor Cornell considers the principle involved of importance and he will not give a decision until he consults Attorney General Smith.

Bombarded by Hail.

PAPILLION, Neb., April 28.—Papillion and Sarpy county were visited with a terrific hail storm. Hail stones fell as big as tennis balls and lightning on the south side of nearly every building in town were smashed into smithereens or cracked. The roof of the main station was broken in several places. People who were so unfortunate as to be driving at the time had a struggle with their horses and teams, several runaways being reported.

Child Dies From Poison.

CREIGHTON, Neb., April 28.—A sad case of poisoning occurred here where in three children of Sam Stewart were poisoned by eating wild parsnips. The doctors were called and the lives of two of the children were saved. The other was too far gone to be helped and died in a few hours. One of the sad features is that the father is lying at the point of death with cancer.

Aquitted of Charge of Rape.

ALMA, Neb., April 28.—Evert Anderson, who was charged with attempting to rape Anna Anderson near Ragan, Neb., was acquitted. Much interest was taken by the citizens of Ragan, but the case was highly colored by the verdict being satisfactory to the people in general.

State Capital Notes.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 28.—General Barry returned from Geneva, where he mustered in company G, first regiment, Nebraska National Guard. The officers of the new company are Burton Fisher, captain; Charles B. Hyde, first lieutenant; Arthur B. Hannes, second lieutenant.

Sheriff Power of Douglas County.

Called at the state house. He brought an insane patient to the Lincoln hospital for the insane. Mr. Power said he did not know when he would take Cerny, the South Omaha man from the penitentiary, where the prisoner was placed to keep him away from a mob bent on hanging him for attempting a criminal assault upon a little girl.

Beatrice Gets Encampment.

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28.—Mayor Jackson received a message from Major Allen L. Brown, a young man, stating that the offer of Beatrice to provide for the University cadets' annual encampment had been accepted. The encampment will be on the Chautauque grounds and will consist of four battalions numbering between 250 and 300 cadets, together with the University Cadet band. They will be in camp May 15 to 22, inclusive.

Off for the Paris Show.

SCHUYLER, Neb., April 28.—John Deleval and family and Adolph Wavra of this place left yesterday, via the Union Pacific, for the Paris exposition. They will stop on their way at Washington, D. C. There were a host of friends at the depot, bidding them farewell.

Fatal Fall From a Handcar.

WYMORE, Neb., April 28.—While returning to this city on a crowded handcar, after his first day's work on the street gang, Otis Brown, a young man, who was married three weeks ago, fell from the car and was run over, receiving injuries which will prove fatal. His shoulder is broken, his head is crushed and his body is paralyzed from the chest down. The heavily loaded car passed over his neck. The crew under the car mutilated his body badly. He was brought to this city, but the doctors say he cannot recover.

Willing to Take Something.

A deaf woman figured as the plaintiff in a minor case recently tried at the Durham, England, assizes, and after repeated failures to make her understanding the proceedings the judge suggested that her counsel should get her to agree to a compromise. "Ask her what she will take to settle it," said the court. The lady thereupon shouted out very loud to her client: "His lordship wants to know what you will take?" She smilingly replied: "I think his lordship is right. If it's no inconvenience to him I'll take a little warm ale."
