HAS THE CRISIS COME? Can Anybody Now Peresee What is to Be the End?

The United States is naturally disin clined to take part in old-world conflicts but in the sudden emergency that has arisen in China, there has been nothing else to do than to act with others in defense of our own.

It seems of those singular incidents where clashing interests are hushed in city Monday. the presence of an overwhelming danger, so far-reaching as to appall the stontest heart that pauses to think of what may happen next. A singular people. A people who

The danger is to all. The trouble wil be to all.

Our Senator Davis of Minnesota, chairman of the senate committee on foreign affairs, is supposed to be as well versed in Chinese affairs as any one in this country. He says:

"No man can tell what will come out of the present situation in China. I shall be agreeably disappointed if the immediate consequence does not result in complications which it will take years to straighten out. Moreover, genera tions to come may find that in awakening China, the western world has brought into existence a giant which will insist upon taking part in affairs at inopportune moments.

"That the powers are in a dilemma which they would have been glad to avoid, may be taken for granted. It seems inevitable that China will be par titioned. Certainly the acting empres will be dethroned. This cannot be done peat itself many times.

WHAT CAUSED IT. Fifty Aristocratic Southern Girls Were Taken as Prisoners of War

THE RAID UPON PORT GIBSON AND

"I was mixed up in one little unrecorded event of the civil war," said General B., "that was interesting from its very unusualness, and which, as I look back upon it, seems strangely picturesque. We were attached to what was known as the marine brigade, a little fleet of 12 'tinclad' river steamboats that plied up and down the Mississippi river after the surrender of Vicksburg. The term 'tinciad,' by the way, is somewhat misleading, as it is not remotely connected with the white metal, but signifies rather boats heavily planked with oak for the purpose of protecting them somewhat from the ravages of bullets. "One day our little battalion of four companies was ordered to steam down the river, disembark at Rodney, march to Port Gibson and there consult sealed orders in regard to further proceedings. Imagine our surprise upon reading the instructions that we were expected to capture and carry back to Vicksburg as prisoners 50 of the most aristocratic Confederate young women in the city. However, we had served long enough to obey orders without question, and, provided with guides familiar with the town, we set about our bizarre and not too agreeable task. We first established headquarters at the

Upon arriving there the young women were taken before the provest marshal, who put them on parole, confining them to the limits of the city. Most of them had friends in the town with whom they chose to remain, and suitable quarters were found for the rest.

"The reas in for the whole transaction then transpired. It seemed that some northern young women schoolteachers had been taken prisoners by the Confederates and were at that moment in their camps, where they were forced to wash and mend for the soldiers and perform other menial services. These Confederate young women were, therefore, to be held as hostages until the northern women were re-

The Greeks had straight, delicate, finely chiseled noses because their tastes are artistic and poetic. You never saw a poet or an artist with a Roman or snub nose. did you? On the other hand, it would be hard to find a great general who had not a Roman nose. Get pictures of Alexander the Great, Napoleon, Wellington, Washington or Grant and see if they have not all got big, strong noses of the Romanesque type. Yet it is quite safe to say that if we could have portraits of all these personages, taken in infancy, we would find their olfactory organs little pudgy affairs, like those of the common run of babies. These men were not great generals because they had Roman noses; they had Roman noses because they were great
