has given the following interesting letter for publication: "For years I suffered intense pain in the region of the heart. I doctored with the best physicians. Some of them would relieve me for a short time, but the pain always returned. My heart was so bad that I would have to sit up in bed for hours, to get relief. I would

Heart Trouble. "About a year ago I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and commenced to use them. From the first my condition improved. The pain in my heart gradually grew less, and my general health much better, and now I can say positively that I am entirely cured. I can sleep all night, and enjoy almost perfect health. I thank God for the cure that has come to me through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have thought long over the matter licitation whatever, and simply because I feel it to be my duty to express the profound gratitude I feel for my recovery, and to let others who may be suffering as I was know how they may find a cure. I know that nothing else but Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me, because I have taken no other medicine for over a year. I feel better now than I have for many years, and it is all due to the use of Dodd's Kidney ing Possibilities of Western Canada. Just at present considerable interest is being aroused in the fact that a few new districts (of limited acreage) are being opened out by the Canadian government in Saskatchewan and Assinibola (western Canada), and any information concerning this country is eagerly sought. Mr. W. R. Corser, of Higginsville, Lafayette Co., Mo., was a delegate there during last summer, and writing of his impressions he says: "I found surprising yields of grain of all descriptions. One farmer I visited threshed of 175 acres: "600 bushels of wheat from fifteen acres, 40 bushels to acre. "600 bushels of barley from ten acres, 60 bushels to acre. "15,000 bushels of oats from 150 acres, 100 bushels to acre.

"The samples were all No. 1. "I also saw a considerable number of stock. Swine do well and there is no disease amongst them. They are a good source of income to the farmer. The cattle on the range beat anything I ever saw. Fat and ready for beef, fully matured and ripened on the nutritious grasses of the prairie. I am firmly convinced that this country offers better facilities for a poor man than any I have ever seen." Information concerning these lands can be had from any agent of the government whose advertisement appears elsewhere in this paper.

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO AGRICULTURISTS.

We have heard about the benefits of keeping poultry in plum orchards, but

the practice should not be too much to hold in check the insects. Certainly if the fowls are to be depended on to any extent for this work they must be assisted by having the trees shaken for them. Even then the birds have to be educated to pick up the insects, a very common complaint, and often and if a man shakes down the curculice without having first given the chicks proper instruction he may be but in pigs one of the commonest is disappointed in seeing the insects re- vomiting and this is often accompanmain on the ground untouched. The man that sells apples should always sort them, for he will find a readier market for the different sizes if sorted than if sold together. No one appears to fancy a lot of little and big apples in the same lot. Buyers are governed by different motives in their purchases. Some well-to-do buyers want a uniform lot of large apples of good color, swill barrel have been alluded to in and will pay an advanced price for a former article. The long continued them. The work of originating new varieties of apples goes on, and the eradication of the poor ones is a parallel process. New apples are constantly being imported and some are proving good. The constant revision of the fruit lists is a work that is bound to have a very beneficial result. On this point Professor Lazenby says: "It is interesting to note that during past years the list of apples worthy of cultivation first increased and then decreased. In 1891 It comprised 229 varieties. In 1899 it had decreased to which it is well to mix in the food been stricken off, and of course some new ones have been added. There is ful of ground ginger root. Insects in Stored Grais.

Bulletin 127, U. S. Department of Agriculture: The chief loss in this direction from insects is to grains in farmers' bins, or grain or grain products in stores, mills and elevators, although in the warmer latitudes much of the injury results from infestation in the field between the ripening of the grain and its storage in bins or granaries. Fortunately, the several important grain insects are amenable to like treatment. Aside from various important preventive considerations. such as, in the South, prompt thrashing of grain after barvesting, the thorough cleansing of bins before refilling. constant sweeping, removal of waste harboring insects from all parts of granaries and mills, and care to prevent the introduction of "weeviled" grain, there are three valuable remedial measures, viz., agitation of the grain, heating, and dosing with bisulphide of carbon. The value of agitating or handling grain is well known, and whenever, as in elevators. grain can be transferred or poured from one bin into another, grain pests are not likely to trouble. The benefit will depend upon the frequency and thoroughness of the agitation, and in France machines for shaking the also an excellent preliminary treat- den, were worse in this respect on ment. Raising the temperature of the grain in closed retorts or revolving cylinders to 130 to 150 degrees F. will kill the inclosed insects if continued for from three to five hours, but is apt to injure the germ, and is not advised in case of feed stock. The simplest, cheapest and most effectual remedy is the use of bisulphide of carbon.

Bisulphide of Carbon.—This is a colorless liquid with very offensive odor, which, however, passes off completely in a short time. It readily volatilises and the vapor, which is very deadly to insect life, is heavier than air and settles and fills any compartment or bin in the top of which the liquid is placed. It may be distributed in shallow dishes or tins or in saturated waste on the top of grain in bins, and the gas will settle and permeate throughout the mass of the grain. In large bins, to hasten and equalize the operation, it is well to put a quantity of the bisulphide in the center of the grain by thrusting in balls of cotton or waste tied to a stick and saturated with the liquid; or by means of a gas pipe loosely plugged at one end, down which the liquid may be poured and the plug then loosened with a rod. Prof. H. B. Weed reports that in Mississippi the chemical is commonly poured directly onto the grain. In modcrately tight hims no further precaution than to close them well need be taken but in open bins it will be necessary to should be kept closed from twentyfour to thirty-six hours, after which a thorough airing should be given them, Limited quantities at a time may often be advantageously subject ed to treatment in small bins before being placed for long storage in large nasses, and especially whenever there danger of introducing infested grain. The bisulphide is applied at the rate of 1 pound to the ton of grain, or a pound to a cubic space 10 feet on a pressed with the idea that the hog is an omniverous animal and able to eat anything with impunity, that they will scarcely believe that swine suffer from indigestion, yet such is the fact. Indigestion, especially of young pigs, is a serious and even fatal one. The symptoms of the trouble are varied, rubbing the nose in the mud; general thriftlessness, emaciation, constipation or diarrhea, skin diseases, such ar

ness. Cough is also a common symptom

do that. You have got to teach the usually found along with the indigeschickens to pick up the curculio, by tion caused by the presence of worms in the stomach or intestines. It is also usual to find the appetite of hors suffering from indigestion depraved or poculiar in that they will prefer foreign bodies to good food, drink manure tea rather than pure water or slop and a:t strangely, sometimes hungry, sometimes having no appetite at all. When any of these symptoms are seen to affect the hogs it is time to commence a search for the cause, and this is usually to be found in erroneous methods of feeding or in the food supply. The bad effects of the sour food of the pigs. Charcoal is also valuable in the same way, and for this reason many are in the habit of feeding soft coal but there is no doubt that powdered wood coal mixed with the food has a better effect. The soft coal has one advantage in that it contains sulphur, but this can be added several time a week if there is a tendency to constinution or skin disease. If a pig is found to be constipated then the bowels should be moved by two tablespoonfuls of castor oil or an ounce or two of epsom salts, after 300. Quite a number of varieties have twice daily one teaspoonful of hyposulphite of soda and a half teaspoon-

The first thing is to clear the bowels by means of a dose of castor oil, then follow up with ten grain doses of subnitrate of bismuth and fifteen drops of tincture of opium or three grains of powdered opium three times daily in food. Where there is a lack of appetite the bowels should be moved freely, then follow with ten grains of powdered gentian root and a like amount of sults or the food may be boiled, Ringing Grape Vines. The practice of ringing grape vines has been tested to some extent by the New York Agricultural Experiment Station. Two vineyards were under experiment in different parts of the state and the vines in each were ringed for two years. In one vineyard, trained upon the two arm Kniffin system, both arms were ringed beyond the fifth bud; and in the other vineyard, using the renewal system of training, the arms were ringed beyond the renewal bud. In both orchards very marked differences in favor of the fruit on ringed arms was noticed with such varieties as Empire State, Concord, Niagara, Geneva and Catawba, the bunches and berries being larger and more compact and ripening earlier. In most cases, however, especially with higher flavored varieties like Delaware, the quality was insuccess. Winnowing weeviled grain is show a tendency to crack, like Worringed vines. The renewal system seems best adapted to this practice. but its adoption or rejection is a question the individual grower must settle for himself.

Essakas Estertained by Negroos. Ascene, typical and illustrative of the present strike on Maui, was witnessed by a number of amused spectators at the Wailuku railroad depot the other day, says the Maui, Hawaii News. A number of Alabama negroes had been sent to the depot to load cars with sugar. A knot of Hawaiians on a strike gathered to watch the negroes work. Finally one of them proposed to the negroes that if they would favor the Hawaiians present was some oldfashioned down-South songs, the latter would take their places loading cars. The darkies agreed to the proposition, and the Hawaiians threw off their coats and pitched into the sugar sacks, while the darkies ranged up and favored the toilers with "My Old Kentucky Home," "Suwanee River," and "Way Down South in Dixie," interspersed with hoe-downs, buck and wings, turkey trots and juba. IF every one in the world were healthy and happy what a glad day Easter would be. But the sun rises every Easter morning on a multitude of sick and afflicte ed. The Easter lilies gladden the hearts of the sick and well alike.

But to the sick something more than the Easter lily is necessary to bring that tal cure on the market. hope and cheer which every one expects on Easter day. The well need no physician, but the sick need a remedy.

Nearly one-half the people in the United States are suffering from some form or phase of catarrhal ailment. These ailments take different forms at different seasons of the year. In the springtime catarrh assumes a systemic form, producing nervousness, lassitude and general languor. Systemic catarrh deranges the digestion and through deranged digestion it impoverishes or contaminates the blood. Thus we have blood diseases and neryous derangements through systemic catarrh.

Peruna is a specific for these cases. No other remedy yet devised by the medical profession is able to successfully meet so many phases of spring ailments as Peruna. Men and women everywhere are praising Peruna as follows:
