Legal Notices.
America is a tolerably free country when you think right down to the foundation of things, and act accordingly. The Journal has had thirty years' experience in handling legal notices of all descriptions, and takes this occasion to say that it is thoroughly equipped for this sort of work.

We desire that you remember us when you have work of this sort to be done. When you do the paying, you have the right to place the work. Special attention given to mail orders. Call on or address, M. K. TURNER & CO., Journal Office, Columbus, Neb.

Gold ore, said to assay $300 to the ton, has been discovered near Shelbyville, Illinois.

Chicago to Colorado, $25 round trip; from Missouri river points, $15. This makes pretty reasonable travel.

The president's special with its forty passengers left Washington, D. C., 10:30 Monday morning on its 10,000-mile journey.

Eight persons have identified Jim Callahan as one of the gang who kidnapped Ed. Cuddey, the latter being very positive as to the man.

NORRIS HUMPHREY, a pioneer settler of Nebraska, for thirty years a resident of Lincoln, shot himself at 6:45 Sunday evening, and died several hours later.

Those who live under an arbitrary, tyrannical power have no other law but the will of their prince, and consequently no privileges but what are precarious.—Addison.

Six members of a family at Wynora were taken violently ill one day last week from a package of rat poison having been spilled into a flour barrel, by one of the children.

TODAY, May 1, the price of the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, N. Y., will be opened, but the procession as planned for the day will, on account of the storm, be deferred to May 20.

They who know how to employ opportunities will often find that they can create them, and what we achieve depends less on the amount of time we possess than on the use we make of our time.—John Stuart Mill.

HERBERT BOLIN, who was convicted of a defalcation while acting as city treasurer of Omaha and was sentenced to nineteen years in the penitentiary May 25, 1897, was granted a pardon Monday by Governor Dierckx. Bolin took the afternoon train for Omaha.

EDWIN H. CONGER, United States minister to China, who arrived at San Francisco Thursday, is reported as saying that the Chinese could pay three hundred million dollars as indemnity. The Chinese had killed four thousand Christians and one hundred Europeans.

The Omaha World-Herald has a cartoonist (Spencer) who shows quite an appreciation of the comic. A picture is duly appreciated by most readers, where a lengthy editorial would not be read by one in a hundred, although aimed at the expression of the same general lines of thought.

MOUNT ST. ELIAS has been badly shaken by an earthquake. It is said that the mountain was considerably torn up. The shock was so severe that a mass of ice, some in extent, broke loose from the top of the mountain and went crashing down the side, carrying everything with it.

The largest cyanide plant in the world was put in operation at Lead, S. D., last Tuesday by the Homestake company. The tailings from the stamp mills were turned into one of the fourteen tanks, each holding 600 tons. The plant cost nearly $500,000, and it will save monthly about $40,000.

STEPHEN A. WELMER and Joseph H. Kelly of the Welmer institute of magnetic healing at Nevada, Mo., who recently pleaded guilty to indictments charging them with defrauding the mails, were fined $1,500 each by U. S. Judge Phillips. The men gave "absent treatment" and did an enormous mail business.

Two Omaha neighbors on the outskirts of the city have had trouble, one complaining that the other had his home in the public thoroughfare, and ought to be compelled to remove it. The other resisted the claim on the theory "you're another," he also being able to make the same charge—a case of "pot calling the black."

VIOLENCE has been in a state of active eruption. First, columns of smoke in great volume, several days, then occasional rains of hot cinders, sometimes sprinkling the country for several miles around; later came lava. Two night tremors of earthquakes have been felt. Naples has had a large accession of sight-seers.

The jury in the Callahan case at Omaha returned a verdict Sunday morning that James Callahan, charged with helping in kidnapping Ed. Cuddey, Jr., was not guilty. Judge Baker said that it was impossible for him to understand how twelve intelligent men could have agreed upon a verdict after listening to the testimony.

Captain Reed, charged with commissary frauds at Manila, is having his trial, beginning Monday.

SHOWING DIRECTION OF WIND.
The Platte County Leader published at Humphrey is responsible for the following, which we quote as an item of current political history more or less interesting to some Journal readers.

"Already the court house occupants are moving around for third terms, but some of them will get beautifully left."

The item is not editorial, but is in the correspondence from Columbus, supposed generally to be from the pen of Judge Duffy, late candidate for nomination as county attorney, but defeated in his aspirations by the work of some who thought they could use Mr. O'Brien to carry out more of their purposes.

Other words, the new official syndicate has not, as yet, included Judge Duffy. When will he be allowed to enter the inner circle?

Does he wish to be a candidate for judge sometime in the near future, or is he seeking to play even against some of his late friends?

Anyway it is always just as well for the people to do some talking and a good deal of thinking beforehand as to who should serve them in the various public offices. It is not best to let matters of this sort be managed wholly by self-seeking office-hunters. Practical politics has come to be too much regarded as a scramble for offices.

The ballot law passed at the last session has some features that will be of interest to Journal readers. The power of appointing judges and clerks of election is left with the clerk of the district court, who chooses from certified lists furnished by chairmen of the various committees. Election officers must be named fifteen days before election; the service is made compulsory, and unless excuse is granted by the clerk, a fine of $5 to $50 is imposed for failure to serve. No candidate's name shall appear on the ballot more than once, but after each name will be printed the names of all the parties nominating him. There is to be a circle at the top of the ballot opposite the name of each political party and the making of a cross in the circle is to pass as a vote for the straight ticket. The Schuyler Quill calls attention to the fact that the bill was drafted by Wilkinson of Cass county and Sprecher of Colfax.

PROFESSOR GATLORD, director of the pathological laboratory established by the state of New York at the university of Buffalo, thinks he has found the cancer germ, for which he has been searching a long time. He does not claim a demonstrated certainty, but a strong assurance. The germ theory of the cause of disease, whether or not it is an absolute truth, has certainly been prolific of apparently good results—certain germs are known to surely accompany certain diseases, and these only the theory of practice being that what over they destroy the germ will also destroy the disease.

On Arbor Day Fred Stenger planted a hundred and eighty trees, peach, plum, apricot and German prune. He expects to have a good crop of peaches this season from trees planted three years ago, and which bore some last year. From all present indications, there will, he says, be a splendid crop of fruit. He believes, with many others that a late spring is a fairly good promise of excellent yields of grain and fruits in Nebraska—late springs holding everything back until the weather conditions are such that growth continues without interruption after the start is made.

Last Saturday morning a very distressing and unfortunate accident occurred at the home of F. W. Platte, proprietor of the brewery, two miles north of town. A gun in the hands of the youngest son, aged about fourteen years, exploded, tearing the left hand in such a frightful manner that amputation was necessary just above the wrist. The young man showed a great deal of grit in refusing to take an anesthetic during the operation, which was performed by Drs. Sixta and Woods. This accident is exceedingly lamentable, since the young man is named for life—Schuyler Quill.

Columbus men Saturday last secured contracts on the new barn that James Kinsman is about to erect on his farm, Clear creek, Polk county. The competition was with Bellwood dealers, but Hughes for lumber, and D. N. Miner & Son for the work were the successful contractors. The barn is 28x42 and is to be complete in all its belongings. One of the best things about good structures is that they become patterns for others who follow in making improvements, and this one, no doubt, will be an object lesson for a large section of country around it. One of the features of the inside will of course be a hay-carrier.

The District Missionary society of the Methodist church met in this city Saturday and Sunday. A number of delegates were present and the programs were very interesting throughout. Sunday evening Mrs. Pearson, now of Grand Island, a missionary who has lately come home to educate her children, spoke of the missionary work in Burma, India. Mrs. Pearson has been in India eighteen years and gives an exceedingly interesting description of the country. She was the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Rosch of the Baptist church while here, whose son is now in India. Rev. Rosch's grandson who is living with him, came over from India to attend school.

The other day a farmer drove into town with a wagon load of live stock, in which were a calf, a couple of sheep, some chickens and a goose or two. It was a funny looking outfit and the sight of it touched the wit of a high collared town youth in a tender spot. There was a motley gathering of loafers on the corner and as the farmer moved by, the youth sang out: "Say, Noah, your ark seems to be pretty well crowded today."

"Don't worry," promptly replied the stranger, "I saved a place for the jockums and you can get right in." The expression of anticipated pleasure faded from the face of the youth as the farmer proceeded on his way amid a shower of laughter.—Wynora Wynora.

The spraying of fruit trees does not seem to be altogether satisfactory and no other means of destroying the insects that prey upon orchards have been devised and among them the favorite promise to be a device consisting of a shallow tin can about two feet square, surmounted by an old fashioned, high lamp in the center of two tin plates crossed at right angles. The idea is that the insects (which lay the eggs that are attracted to the light) will strike the upright plates surrounding it and fall into the kanoses below and perish. It is a great scheme, and if the lights are kept among the trees these night-doubtless very many insects will be prevented from being born.

The shirt waist for men during the coming season is making more than the usual mere talk. Manufacturers have been very busy during the past winter making the comfortable garment, and now will spend considerable time in time in manufacturing public opinion in favor of their use. All kinds of suggestions are being used, among them, seemingly, the most powerful being that the garment is really a man's and not a woman's, being simply a modification of the "lord of creation" as he has been wont to appear for centuries in his shirt sleeves, about his every-day work in summer time. If there is to be a change a fashion let it be modeled on lines of usefulness and not on mere gaudy show.

The following from the Occoila Record is but a fair index in a general way of what is happening in all this portion of fair Nebraska: "Two land sales took place here yesterday which shows the advance made in prices the past few years. T. D. Richards bought 80 acres about four miles north of town with no improvements except that it is broken out, and paid $3000 for it. He bought it of Geo. B. Laft, who bought it three years ago for $1900. After selling to Mr. Richards he bought a quarter section from J. L. Makenzie for $5000. This quarter was a part of the Shank land near Benah with very inferior improvements but a splendid piece of land. Mr. Makenzie bought it in January 1896, for $2700. There is no better farming country in the world than Polk county when it rains, and in the thirty years of settlement rain has failed very seldom. George Winslow for Polk county.

Stand up for Polk county.
—George Winslow and Fred Bruggeman were coming down from Humphrey Sunday, having in their wagon a jack thinking to haul him across the country in quicker time than he could travel on all fours. When nearing Platte Center, on a sliding road, the jack lurched to the lower side, and George says that what then happened was done the quickest ever he saw anything. He looked around, and then he knew that the team plunged ahead, and he and his companion with the seat and some boards were thrown to the ground about eight feet, the team ran away, throwing the jack out of the wagon and dragging him about fifty yards. They were caught at the edge of Platte Center by Miss Anna Webster. George's right foot arm (the arm) was broken near the wrist, and the wrist put out of place. He walked a mile and had it fixed up. Mr. Bruggeman had his face scratched in the fall.

Wildly Lodge No. 44 I. O. O. F. had an unusually festive occasion Tuesday night of last week, winding up a banquet at the Meridian. Six candidates were put through their courses, four not appearing as was contemplated, deferring until this Tuesday evening. The Schuyler San has this to say: "About thirty-five Old Fellows went to Columbus Tuesday evening to put on the initiatory degree at the Columbus lodge. Six candidates were received in the lodge. After the work was over the visitors were invited to seat themselves at the banquet table which was groaning under the weight of good things. To say that the Schuylerites partook freely of the viands would but half express it. A night of enjoyment was spent and the visitors felt that they had been royally entertained by the Columbus brothers. Most of the weary crowd returned on the early train Wednesday morning, a few waiting until 7 o'clock." Besides the Schuyler working force, there were a few brethren from Omaha, and some resident here, who are members of the order in South Dakota and Minnesota.

School Notes.
There are five weeks more of school. Several students are suffering with colds.

A case or two of suspension occurred last week.

To California and Back.
If you realized—as do those who have been there—that a delightful experience a month in California is, you would not fail to take advantage of the low rates to San Francisco which the Burlington offers on account of the Epworth League meeting in that city in July.

The cost of reaching California will be reduced one-half. Add to this that the summer climate of San Francisco is very nearly perfect, and it is easy to understand why tens of thousands are eagerly looking forward to what, in their opinion, will be the holiday of a lifetime.

Beautifully illustrated folder, giving full information about rates, scenery, route, stop-over privileges, through cars, etc., mailed on request.

Creston.
[From the Statesman.]
L. Woodcut of South Omaha has purchased the Fusselman property in Creston, and expects to move to it.

A. Binder and family left Tuesday with his household goods for Columbus, where they expect to make their home.

The case of the State of Nebraska vs. J. B. Short was dismissed Monday by the county attorney, not having sufficient evidence for action.

Miss O'Connor left yesterday for her home in Columbus, after teaching a very successful school in the Knight district. Her school closed Tuesday.

Mr. Philip Decker, who came to Nebraska a little over a year ago, died Wednesday morning, April 24th, aged 75 years, and was buried in the Creston cemetery.

Death of Mrs. L. G. Wheeler.
Mrs. L. G. Wheeler, who for several years lived in this city, but later at University Place near Lincoln, died April 22 at her home there, of heart failure, after a brief illness. The funeral services were conducted at the family residence by Rev. Wm. M. Worley of University Place, interment at Wynka cemetery.

Oeta L. Olin was born July 29, 1846, at Greenville, Ohio; was married in Illinois, January 4, 1869, to Lucius G. Wheeler. To them were born five children, three of them now living, Misses Murieta and Beulah, and Claude. Her husband died in Illinois, October 22, 1892. Mrs. Wheeler moved to this city in 1891.

At the age of 25 years she was converted and united with the Methodist church. During her last sickness she often expressed her willingness to go. The afflicted daughters and son will have the sympathy of their acquaintances here in their sorrow.

That City Guide.
The Committee on Public Streets and Sidewalks have before them for consideration and report, a subject important to every property owner in the city. While the Journal has no doubt but that the committee are abundantly able and willing to make their investigations and report accordingly, we have no doubt but that many property holders and taxpayers could throw some side light on the subject that would be of use to the committee in their work of determining what ought to be done.

In discussing this matter with a Journal reporter, one citizen presents this general view: Present conditions should be disturbed as little as possible. The general trend of some portions of the city seems to be a fall toward the east; in others toward the south. Different degrees of fall may be found profitable with different streets, each section being a subordinate part of the system, all working harmoniously together for the end in view. A survey would give the facts to guide upon, and would save all it would cost in expense.

There is a local ordinance in regard to permanent sidewalks, requiring that they shall be laid to the established grade, which, it would seem, will be impossible to enforce until a grade shall have been established.

Many cases have occurred in the business portion of the city (two that we know personally) in the block where the Journal is situated, where property owners desired to have the grade lowered by their sidewalk, but were answered by City Engineer Arnold: "You can guess it just as well as I can." It will be accurate, accurate and up-to-date to guess any more in this matter.

The sanitary considerations are doubtless far more important than any other, and these come when the drainage of the city is to be provided for.

The city has just about practical experience enough in a general way to know that a good sewerage system for the entire city would be a vast improvement over present conditions and conduce greatly to the health and comfort of the people.

The Journal believes that whatever shall be done, the mayor and council will do with reference to the general welfare, without special favor to any particular locality, but it is always best that special interests be represented by those concerned.

Harry Ward's Minstrels.
Lovers of minstrelsy will be glad to know that the date of Harry Ward's Minstrels has positively been decided, and that they will appear at the opera house Wednesday May 1st. Mr. Ward has this season done all in his power to secure the best talent in the minstrel world, and by the long list of star artists with the organization, he has certainly picked the cream of the profession. The first part is said to be the grandest ever staged. Among some of the famous singers are Mr. Thomas Crockett, Mr. Harry Sylvester, Mr. Chaney Holland, Mr. Will Frank, Mr. Monroee Howard, and besides this list, the celebrated Pan-American Exposition Quartette and Master Hersey, from the Cathedral of Montreal, will appear. A long list of specialties by such well known vaudeville artists as Decker and Raach, the Great Newton, Muller Musical Team, Harry Ward, the next president of minstrelsy, and fully thirty others. Seats on sale at the usual place.
