—The Platte County Bank at Platte Center, R. B. Dickinson, president, is about to have a new home in which to do business, the 22nd brick being in contrast for completion by September 10. The masons are already through with their part of the work.

—Victor Palmaster returned last evening from Oklahoma. Victor has a good claim 3½ miles southwest of McKnight and 19 miles south of Lawton. He left George Newhoff in El Reno, and Bert White in the same town, and Victor informs us that Bert is practicing law in Ponca City, Okla.—Creston Statesman.

—The county supervisor, it seems, are having compiled a list of persons in Platte county who are the holders of mortgages on Platte county lands, with a view to converting the tax lists.

—Charles Wals, accompanied by his son Charles Wals, is visiting his father Charles Wals of this city. The son and grandson live at Newman Grove. They came down Monday, expecting to be here several days.

—Prof. I. H. Britell returned Wednesday from Des Moines, Iowa, where he was in attendance at Drake University, taking special lessons in astronomy, having the privilege of using, at convenience, their fine telescope.

—There were 134 railroad tickets sold in St. Edward for Columbus the day of the Ringling circus, and in Platte Center 118 tickets were sold, besides, as the Signal says, probably more than that number driving down overland.

—Rev. H. C. Myers, the Schuyler preacher who a few years ago made such a stir there, died at Stanton Tuesday of last week. He had an operation performed some time ago, removing a tumor from which he never recovered.

—The Nebraska Farmer remarks that if the farmers of the state shall have been induced by the situation this season to effectively try ensilage of the corn crop, the drought will, after all, have proved a blessing, in disguise, and worth millions of dollars.

—There is every indication that the potato market will at least be interesting the coming winter. Already lovers of the tuber are imagining that potatoes never tasted so good as now. From all parts of the country come stories of a short potato crop.

—Three cases of typhoid fever in Genoa, the first cases in fourteen years, and these in the same block in which there were several cases at that time, says the Leader. The local doctor recommends cleaning out the wells, and to boil all drinking water.

—Saturday night when the Columbus local was two miles south of Madison, a brakebeam broke, and as a consequence a refrigerator car was derailed, two box cars smashed and the track badly torn up. The wreck was cleaned up by 6 o'clock Sunday morning.

—The democratic county convention will be held at Platte Center, Saturday, September 14, at 2 o'clock. The "People's Independent Party" convention for the county will be held at the same place and hour, and they may work together or not, just as they shall choose to do.

—Frank T. Walker returned Thursday from a trip through the north end of the county. He reports the corn crop in far better condition than he expected to find it, and says that with a good rain inside of ten days the north end of the county will have more corn than reports would indicate.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Stall of Lincoln arrived at Oconto a few days ago to visit their children in Valley precinct as well as other folk county friends. Mr. Stall, who was very sick for several months last fall and winter, is much improved and looks much like his old self.—Oconto Record.

—In addition to those we mentioned in last week's JOURNAL, the following persons have attended the Fullerton Assembly from this city: Miss Ethel Heinrich, Misses Martha and Frances Turner, Mrs. T. D. Robinson, Prof. Garlick, George Scott, Jr., Mrs. Kate Bardwell, Miss Angie Early.

—Henry Gass returned Sunday from Hot Springs, S. D., where he had been for several days enjoying the pleasant weather. He gives a very graphic description of life on the mountains, and the apparent dangers of stage-coach riding on mountain sides, at break-neck speed. Of the mountain towns Lead is taking the lead.

—From now on to the end of the season there will be many suggestions as to the preservation of the corn stalks. Put into large stacks, distributing a liberal amount of salt among the fodder, is highly recommended, rather than to stand in shocks to dry out in the field. There is more than the usual talk of ensilage in Nebraska.

—Piles are not only in, and of themselves very painful and annoying, but often greatly aggravate and even cause other grave and painful affections, and should, therefore not be neglected. TABLET'S BUCKEYE PILE OINTMENT is a great boon to sufferers as it will cure them. Price 50 cents in bottles. Tubes, 75 cents. A. Heintz and Pollock & Co.

—Friday, in Justice Curtis' court, Andrew Peterson was held to the district court on complaint of Albert Grella, charging him and Sidney Smith with assault and battery. Some of Peterson's cattle had been taken up by Grella, and when the latter demanded $7 as damages, Peterson seems to have lost his temper somewhat. Smith was not held. All the parties live near Platte Center. The bond was fixed at $200.

—Fred R. Gregorius has been commissioned by Governor Savage as special deputy game and fish commissioner for Platte and Colfax counties. The instructions are to keep close tab on those who are violating the law. The fine is all the way from $5 to $20 for each offense, and the pay of officials comes from the fines collected. Besides the known offenders, there are others not known to the public, who will be active in the hunt for violators.

—The Glenwood, Iowa, base ball team played here Sunday against the home nine, a game being witnessed by a large crowd of people, many of whom were from Norfolk, Humphrey and Platte Center. Glenwood has been touring Nebraska, and out of fourteen contests they lost but one game, which was to Norfolk on Saturday, 4 to 7. Some of their players are good enough for professional, indeed one of them, we believe, is a professional. They were successful here, by a score of 19 to 5.

—Saturday morning a calamity happened to Clark, Neb., a fire starting in an ice house at the rear of Donaldson's saloon, destroying that and T. L. Dixon's general merchandise store; James Douglas' restaurant; Frank Williams' meat market; Frank Matthews' furniture store; Purdy's restaurant, two ice houses and Horstman's barn. The loss is estimated at $20,000, only partially covered by insurance. It was a row of wooden buildings on the west side of Main street.

Echo Canon, Utah.

Traversed Only by the Union Pacific.

A NOTED ENGLISH TRAVELER SAYS:

"It moves along like some majestic poem in a series of incomparable stanzas. There is nothing like it in the Himalayas that I know of, nor in the Sullivan Range. In the Bolan Pass, on the Afghan frontier, there are intervals of equal sublimity; and even as a whole it may compare with it. But taken for all in all—it's length (some thirty miles), its astonishing diversity of contour, its beauty, as well as its grandeur—I confess that Echo Canon is one of the masterpieces of nature."

W. H. BENHAM,
Agent.

—One of the threehens employed on Olson Bros. place, owned by J. S. Robinson and Tom Malone, thirteen miles northwest of this city, was painfully and severely injured Tuesday. He was killing the machinery and caught his right arm in the belt and had it whirled about a valley and frightfully mangled. When the accident happened a cutting broke and a wheel flew off, striking him on the head, inflicting a severe wound and rendered him unconscious. The bones of the arm above the elbow were broken and crushed and parts protruded through the flesh. The unfortunate man, whose name could not be learned, was taken to Newman Grove and given medical care. It is thought that the arm can be saved.—Madison Chronicle.

—Two young men, one of them from St. Edward, the other from Fullerton, hired a team from Snyder's livery barn at Fullerton Friday week, and taking two Fullerton girls of 13 and 15 years of age, started out for a lark. The Genoa Leader says: "They passed through Genoa at about one o'clock in the morning yelling like Comanche Indians on the war path, the girls mingling their soprano voices with the bass war whoops of their male companions. Snyder overtook them at Columbus the next morning, and the boys meditated upon the errors of their ways in the Fullerton jail until Monday when they were fined $50 apiece and upon payment of same were released."

—A. B. Heath of the Nebraska Farmer was in the city Saturday, having been on a tour going as far northwest as Atkinson, Nebraska. He was accompanied by an artist, and the result of their journeyings will be given later to the readers of the Farmer. They found many interesting things for publication, none more so, perhaps, than their notes on alfalfa. At one ranch, that of Hoffman & Belland, near Neligh, some thousand acres is devoted to alfalfa, some of which was sown five years ago. The older the sod, the better the results are. All along the way, there is more or less of alfalfa, which is growing in favor as its merits become known.

—Paul Hagel, Jr., received a postal card the other day from a friend at Nebraska City which, to the uninitiated, is quite a novelty in the way of shorthand writing for the blind. A pointed stylus is used, and letters are represented by different combinations of points, the numbers being made from right to left on the reverse side, and the reading done from left to right, the tips of the fingers passing over the raised cardboard, the characters are recognized as representing the letters that spell out the words. Paul tells us that the library at the state's institution at Nebraska City is composed in this way, and that much of the school work is so conducted. The students become very expert in the use of their fingers in reading the raised dots.
