Bound to Have Their Morning Kiss.

It is not often that a fond young couple will repeatedly expose themselves to the ridicule of hundreds of people for the pleasure of a kiss, but such is the case with a young man and a young woman who part a few moments before 7 o'clock each morning at a prominent Fuiladelphia corner according to a local account. The young man is a tall, handsome fellow. who seems to think there is no prize in the world half so fine as the little woman who clings affectionately to his side. They invariably step at the corner for a few moments' chat before parting, and the sad look on both their faces is almost enough to break the iceman's heart. When it is nearly time for the whistle to blow the young man takes his darling tenderly in his arms and plants on her pretty lips a long. ingering kiss. Cabinet Gathers Around Council Table of the New Chief Executive.

SECRETARY LONG IS TO RESIGN

Other Members Will Probably Finish Their Terms-Senators Pay Respects to Mr. Roosevelt-Secretary Cortelyon Remains With Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.-After suspense of three days as a mark of respect to the dead president the business of the government at Washington was resumed yesterday. The train bearing President Roosevelt and his cabinet arrived at the Pennsylvania station at 9:20 o'clock and fifteen minutes lates the president entered the white house and going to the elevator proceeded at once to the cabinet room, where President McKinley was wont to do most of his work. When the new chief executive reached the white house he walked briskly to the big front door, which swung wide open to receive him. Secretary Long, who soon joined him, informed the president as to the condition of affairs in his office and was asked as to the work of the Schley court of inquiry. With Senator Cullom, President Roosevelt exchanged pleasant greetings and received the assurance of the hearty support of the Illinois senator. With Senator Proctor there was a similar exchange of expressions of good will.

The president's former secretary, Mr. Loeb, jr., will remain with him probably as assistant secretary. Mr. affect the young man's nerve in the Cortelyou, at the president's earnest request, will retain his position as his

> At 11 o'clock all the members of the cabinet had arrived at the white house and soon were seated around the familiar table. President Roosevelt occupied a seat at the head and in the chair long occupied by his predecessor. It all seemed strange to these devoted advisers of the dead president, to sit at the table without him at its head, and the gloom and solemnity which characterized the meeting was not unbefitting the occasion. Nearly all the members of the present cabinet are quite sure to remain during Mr. Roosevelt's term, but it is very probable that Secretary Long will retire within the next few months. He feels that he can resign without embarrassment to Mr. Roosevelt and therefore it is thought that within the next few months he will ask the president to permit him to retire to private life. The cabinet was in session about an hour and a half, all of the time being spent in a general review of the more important questions which will' require the attention of the new pres-

All the members were present except Attorney General Knox, who stopped for a few days in Pittsburg. Each member explained to the president the policy which had been followed in dealing with the matters under consideration and their present status. No new business was taken

Members subsequently expressed themselves as having full confidence in Mr. Roosevelt's ability to give the country a strong, able and conservative administration, and he will have their loyal support to the same degree as they gave it to the late president. It is thought that Tuesdays new chief executive as cabinet days, following in this the preference of Mr.

Soon after reaching the Philippines these officials, with Surgeon General Sternberg, made a circuit of the archipelago on the transport Lawton. The more southerly ports of the island, of which comparatively little could be heard, were found to be prosperous, with American and Filipincs fraternizing. Late Blight of Pointons. The Vermont station sends out a circular warning farmers of the an-pearance of late blight. In part the circular says: Potate blight is threatening Vermont fields. Unless proper measures are promptly taken to meet this disease there will be serious damage to the crop. Professor Jones, botanist of the Vermont Experiment Station, has been visiting potato fields and stands back of this information. black spots and when examined carefully on the under side each spot revealed the delicate white mildew which is the cause of the disease. prompt application of Bordeaux mixture in such fields is the only thing that can prevent serious loss from blight and rot. The best remedy for late blight is the Bordeaux mixture, which is made as follows: Take 11/2 pounds of blue vitriol (copper sulphate) and 1 pound of quick lime (not air slaked) to ten gallons of water. Dissolve the vitriol in one-half the water, slake the lime in another vessel and add it to the rest of the water, thus making a thin whitewash. Then mix the two and stir thoroughly. Add paris green if desired for bugs. This may be applied in whatever way is most convenient, the aim being to cover the upper surface of every leaf as completely as possible. This can be done best and most economically of both time and mixture by means of a spray pump. But a sprinkling can or even a pail and a wisp of hay may serve the purpose in the absence of the pump. Be sure to apply liberally, using at least three barrels to the acre. Bordeaux mixture will not injure the plants if used in any amount. Do the work promptly and thoroughly or it will be of little use.

I am an eastern man, New Hampshire birth, and find things are very different here from east of the Rockies. I have lived in Iowa and spent one rear at the Ames Dairy School. Here man, if he has some land, puts a wire fence around it, and makes a wire corral in one corner of the lot, cuts out some cows from his bunch of stock, hires a few Swiss, Dagoes, or Mexicans; gets a rope, or one to each man, perhaps, a bucket each, and, lo! he is ranches here where the manager will not go near the milk corral for days milkers. I know of one herd of cows that had 25 cows out of 125 that had only three teats each, and another herd had 15 out of 75. One horn and three teats, they say, is a sign of a Swiss milker. Milkers here are required to milk 30 cows each, twice a day; they receive $30 to $35 per month, with board. I wonder how an eastern man vould like to be sent into a corral with 175 to 200 cows all loose, and be told to find and milk his thirty twice a day; possibly he might have to lasso and rope ten of the number before he could milk and yet this is done from one rear's end to another. The smaller farmers, some of them with 30 to 40 ows, have stanchions to tie in while they milk, but on the large ones it is out of doors, in the mud in the rainy eason, and hot sun in summer. Of course the men spill plenty of milk to pay interest on a good stanchion, and ome of them are not particular to chase after a cow when she runs from them before they get her finished. This helps account for three teats

White Holland Turkeys Mary L. Schaal: The White Holland turkey hen makes an excellent mother and the young turkeys mature earlier than most breeds, and that appears to be the thing desired; for what feed it takes to keep a turkey will almost fatten a pig. So the earliest maturing bird is what we want. Some complain that White Holland turkeys are not large enough. The largest turkey is not always the most desirable for market. People living in cities do not always want an extra large turkey, unless for hotel or boarding-house. The White Holland turkey also makes a better appearance dressed for the market, for they are naturally plump and do not have unsightly black pin feather marks on them, and when you once sell them, people want them again. The meat is juicy and not coarse, and being small-boned these turkeys carve

Last week the New Jersey crop report said: "The horned worm is doing onsiderable damage to tomatoes, whole fields having been destroyed in some places." This is the same insect that we illustrated on our Agricultural page last week. Usually these worms do not appear in sufficient numbers to be menace to the crop. Hand picking is about the only method that is recommended and is generally effective. The use of poisons on tomato vines or tobacco plants can hardly be encouraged, as tomato plants are already bearing fruit and tobacco is used entire. When As the fall wheat was the winning the worms first appear they should be requently seen on tomato plants.

> "One thing is true both south and north, late chicks are not very valuable. In the former locality excessive heat reduces activity and size; and in the latter early frosts and cold weather check growth at the other end of the season." So says a contemporary. But we would suggest that by leeding beef meal or meat in some form, with green cut bone, even late chicks can be given a start that will give them a good size by the time frosts become frequent. Only those that have tried it know the effect of such feeding.

L. A. Goodman, secretary of the Missouri State Horticultural Society, reports that the drouth of more than 90 days' duration has inflicted great injury on apple and peach orchards. Some of the orchardists to save their trees are thinning the fruit one-half. Wellultivated orchards are holding their fruit best. This is good testimony of the value of cultivation. The thinning of the fruit is an excellent idea, especially in a dry year.

For a long time Horney has loved Sarah Kleinman and Sarah has loved George, who was a member of the Methodist church. For three years they debated as to which one of them should change religion, Horney also urging that they be married and let the matter of religion go. But Miss Kleinman would not consent, and, of course, the man was finally forced to give in. So the other day he applied to Rabbi Newman to make him a Hebrew. It will be necessary for him to change part of his name, and in future he will be known as Abraham Tyson Horney.

Sandals May Become Popular. The fashion of sandal-wearing is said to be growing popular in England. The chief objection urged against the fashion is that it enlarges at a time, trusting everything to the the feet their proper development. It will in variably be found that the person with neat, well-shaped hands has feet to correspond. In allowing the feet to have the free play that nature intended them to have is ant to make them large and ungainly, then sailors, who spend most of their time and do most of their work on bare feet. and who hitherto have always been faones, will have to abandon their clain to this coveted possession. Every one will allow that sandals are the coolest foot covering for summer, by doubtless most people will be surprised to hear that it is claimed that they are the warmest wear in winter. If persons suffering from cold feet or chilblains would wear sandals over good thick woolen socks, it is said they would soon find themselves cured of these afflictions.

We visited the territorties of Alberta, Assiniboia, and Saskatchewan, and found them far surpassing our imagination, but rittle did I expect to find such rich, loamy soil, so much of it, and so uniform in its level prairie lay. I do think the soil of Canada as a rule equals if not excels the finest prairie farm lands of Indiana. These lands are immense in their richness, and when once the sod is rotled and pulverized, it is as pliable and as easily cultivated as Indiana sandy

I truly think Canada offers a fine opening for a young man or a man who is renting land in Indiana. One hundred and sixty acres of good black land will cost you on.y $10 at the time you enter it, and by plowing and cultivating five acres each year for three years, gives you one hundred and sixty acres of good land for $10. This land can be bought from the railroad comoanies, private corporations or the government for $3 to $4 per acre. From a financial standpoint, I beieve that for a series of years (five) a young man can make $10 in Canada, whereas he would only make $1 here. and I feel sure that I spent more money to get my eighty acre farm in White county, Indiana, cultivated than it would cost me to cultivate eight hundred acres in Canada.
