The King Doesn't Kiss.

Many stories are related of the young king of Spain. At a recent function. In which only young people joined, a pretty girl of 16, who had danced several times with Alfonso, presented her cheek to him for a safute. Instantly he straightened up and extended his hand to her. "I don't kiss girls," he said; "they kiss my hand instead; I am your king."

THE LAST VACHT RACE SYSTEM FOR GETTING STATISTICS

Columbia Wins Three Straight and the American Cup Will Stay.

LIPTON VERY MUCH DISAPPOINTED

Last Race Proves Hardest of All-Sham rock Leads Most of the Way-Outdone However by Time Allowance-Lipton Gives Three Cheers for Columbia.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.-With victory

flags flowing from its towering mastheads and the ends of its spreaders in honor of its concluding triumph in the cup races of 1901, the gallant sloop Columbia returned to its anchorage under the escort of the entire excursion fleet. It completed its defense of the honored trophy in another stirring race with Shamrock II over a leeward and windward race of thirty miles, crossing the finish line two seconds behind its antagonist, but winning on time allowance conceded by Liptons' boat by forty-one seconds.

For the second time it has now sucessfully foiled the attempt of the Irish knight to wrest from our possession the cup that means the yachting supremacy of the world. And plucky Sir Thomas Lipton, standing on the bridge of Erin, led his guests in three hearty hurrals for the successful de-

"Columbia is the better boat," he said, "and deserves to be cheered."

The series of races just closed will always be memorial as the closest ever sailed for the cup and Sir Thomas, although defeated, will go home with the satisfaction of knowing that his golden yacht is the ablest foreign boat that ever crossed the western ocean.

During both series of races not an untoward incident has occurred and Sir Thomas will return to England far the most popular of all the foreigners who have challenged for the Americas' trophy.

Yesterday's race on paper was the closest of the series, but because of the flunking of the wind on the beat flome as a contest of the relative merits of the yachts it is not to be combared with the magnificent, truly-run and oyally fought battles of Saturday and those of Thursday last. The conditions of the race at the start yesterday were very similar to those of Thursday. The wind was strong and from the shore embroidering the sea with foam and piling up no swell-ideal conditions for the challenger. The racers were sent away before the wind, each carrying penalty for crossing the line after the handicap gun. No official record is kept of the time after that gun is fired, but the experts with stop watches estimated Columbia's handicap at fifteen seconds and Shamrock's at thirty seconds. The contest of the yachis fleeing before the following wind was picturesque, but not exciting. The big racers, like gulls, with outstretched pinions, had every inch of canvas spread, all of their light sails, including bulging spinnakers and balloon jib topsails. While taking his defeat gamely, Sir Thomas Lipton made no attempt to conceal the honest disappointment when he talked about the races on the Erin. "I am very disappointed," he said. "I cant' hide that. I thought within fiffeen minutes of the finish that we had won. I was sure as my life that we had won. When I looked around the situation had changed and we had lost. It was a hard blow to be so near winning and then to lose. should like to have got one race, ust by way of consolation. With this purpose in view, Deputy Commissioned Watson has been corresponding with statisticians in various parts of the country and the replies so far received indicate that only a few of the states succeed in obtaining a complete registration. The following discussion of the sub- or its fat content. ject was received from Chief Cressy L. Wilbur of the vital statistics division of Michigan:

"Many other states have endeavored to collect mortality statistics, but in most cases with very poor success Some of these are: Pennsylvania West Virginia, Florida, Alabama, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, California and Washington. There are two states which have adopted modern systems of registration, but so recently that their results could not be passed upon by the census, so I am not sure whether they can be included in the list of registration states or not These are Colorado and Indiana. Of the latter I am quite sure that the accuracy of the registration is very good. I may say also that the state of Illinois has adopted a new law by which certificates of death will be required. This law, if effectually administered, may perhaps bring Illinois in the list of registration states, although it has some very serious organic ef-

"I hope that in the near future Nebraska may adopt a satisfactory law for the registration of votal statistics. Snould any such legislation be undertaken, however, it will be of great mportance to avoid the very serious mistakes which are very frequently made. Thus, Iowa only a few years ago adopted new registration laws for the collection of deaths, which any person at all informed in registration methods could have said from the start would be utterly worthless in practice, as they have since turned out to be."

Filing of a Petition Sets Gossiples

Tongues Wagging. IOWA FALLS, Oct. 7.-The filing of petition in the district court by Mrs. Fannie Wisner Crockett praying for a divorce from her husband, Frank W. Crockett, has created a sensation in this county, where the couple has lived for years, and where, on account of their social position, they have been prominent. In 1895, Mr. Crockett married Mrs. Fannie Wisner, the widow of George H. Wisner, wealthy and prominent citizen of this county. One child was born to the couple, and the wife will ask custody of the offspring. The charge alleged in the petition is incompatibility of temper. The case will probably come up for trial at the next term of court. Mr. Crockett was formerly of Alden, and later principal of the schools at Williams. The published summary of results states that a unit vielded four per cent less when the ows were groomed than when they were kept uncarded, and that there markets and hotels for all she can ofwas practically no difference in the quality of the milk given under the two conditions. The conclusion reached is that grooming should lessen Here Miss Sanford generally passes the bacterial content of a cow's milk, her nights, but from early spring till out is not likely to add to its amount late in the fall she is up and away to her truck farm at daylight, often remaining there till sundown. Watering Cows at Will.-A test was made to determine the effect of allowing cows to drink at will as opposed to the practice of watering them at regular intervals. Four mature cows were selected for the test, and the amount of water drank was weighed in each case. The results showed that the cows that drank whenever they wished and in such quantities as they desired, made no more and no better milk than when they drank but twice daily.

Warm vs. Cold Water.-The report of the results of an experiment in warming water for dairy cows states that increase in the consumption of water when warmed was universally observed. The cold water was drunk more freely in November and May than in the intervening months. At all other times it was drunk much less freely than the warmed water, the ncreased consumption of water when warmed averaging from 8 to 23 per cent. This increase in consumption, nowever, resulted in no increase in the milk flow or decrease in its quality. in other words, the cow did not water her milk by increased drinking.

Excessive Amounts of Single Nurients.—Experiments were undertaken to determine the effect of adding to a standard ration excessive amounts of a single nutrient. It was found that an excess of protein (Atlantic gluten flour) had but slight effect on the quantity and none upon the quality of the milk flow. A 10 per cent excess of carbohydrates in the form of cane sugar also had but slight effect upon the quantity and none on the quality of the milk flow. The addition of a solid fat (palm oil) had a pronounced effect upon the quality of the flow, increasing the total solids 2 per cent and the fat 7 per cent. The increase appeared to be a permanent one. In similar trials reported a year ago cottonseed oil was found to increase the fat content of milk permanently to the extent of .20 to .30 per cent. Emulsified corn and linseed oils depressed the fat percentages. Financial considerations did not enter into these tests, as the protein, carbohydrates and fats added were so costly as to make very expensive rations. Effect of Large Grain Rations.-To determine the effect of large grain rations, four, eight and twelve pounds of different grain rations were fed at different times, with hay and silage. The results from a financial standpoint showed that an increase of grain from four pounds to eight, or to twelve pounds, seldom yielded enough more butter to pay the cost of the extra grain. In practically every case, however, there was enough more skim milk and enough better manure made to more than offset the extra expense for grain. When the by-products are considered the profit was each time in favor of the eight-pound ration as compared with the four-pound and generally in favor of the twelve-pound as compared with the eight-pound ra

Our Trade with Spain. Trade relations between the United States and Spain have resumed the conditions existing prior to the war between the two countries. The exports from the U.S. to Spain in the fiscal year just ended were larger than in any preceding year with a single exception, 1883, and show an increase of 6 million dollars over 1899; while our imports from Spain also show a marked increase over 1899. In the 7 months ending July 1901, our imports from Spain were $3,110,118, against $2,875,840 in the corresponding period of the preceding year, while during the same period our exports to Spain increased from $8,189,288 to $8,988,970. Raw materials form the most important feature of our exports to Spain, and fruits and iron ore the principal articles of importation. The total value of our imports from Spain in the fiscal year 1901 was $5,409,301, and in 1900, $5,950,047. The details of the 1901 importations are not available, but those of the year 1900 show: fruits, over one and a half million dollars, nuts, 518 thousand dollars; wines, 538 thousand, and iron ore, 650 thousand dollars in value. Turning to the export side, raw materials prove to be the chief feature of our export trade with Spain. Our total exports to Spain in the fiscal year 1901 were $15,484,738. against $13,399,680 .n 1900. Of the latter total, cotton was valued at $9,618,-930; mineral oil, $888,011; shooks and staves, $850,295; tobacco, $661,842; boards and planks, $426,387; breadstuffs, $236,353; iron and steel manufactures, $162,738.

Professor W. J. Kennedy of the University of Illinois has recently been elected to succeed Professor John A Craig in the Animal Husbandry Department of the Iowa Agricultural College. Professor Kennedy is a graduate of the Iowa Agricultural College and was elected to the Animal Husbandry work in the University of Illinois immediately after the completion of his course at Ames two years ago. Since hat time he has established an exceltent reputation and made a record that has rarely been equaled by a young man in college work. At the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago last December, Professor Kennedy's students won the Spoor Cham pion Trophy in the Intercollegiate Students' Judging Contest and out of a total prize list of $1,135 in a contest in which several states and Canada were competing, his students won $848.
