Who are the would-be third-termers running for office in Platte county?

For Dr. D. G. Walker for coroner. He is well qualified for the place, and for awhile, should the contingency arise.

Through the youngest of all the presidents, Mr. Roosevelt's first days in his high office have evidenced his great ability.

JOHN EVANS of Omaha died last week. He was noted in Odd Fellow circles, having been a prominent member of the order in Nebraska for fifty-one years.

It is presumed that W. J. Bryan has entered the campaign in Nebraska, to continue till the day of election. He has already made speeches in several places.

SEYMOUR BENJAMIN TELLMAN in his lecture on the dispensary system of liquor selling, says that "it destroys the liver of treating, which is the chief cause of drunkenness."

When the new ruling on fake publications gets down to actual business, there will be a shrinkage in second-class postal matter. The ruling gives a legitimate publication as how to do business.—Blair Pilot.

The commercial apple crop of 1901, according to the final report of the American Agriculturalist, is placed at 25,000,000 barrels, against 24,000,000 barrels one year ago and nearly 70,000,000 in the bumper crop year, 1900.

JOHN MONT, the anarchist, has been sentenced to one year in the penitentiary in the court of special sessions New York City for publishing in his paper, the Freiheit, an alleged seditious article on the day following the shooting of the late President McKinley.

EARLY Saturday night fire broke out on the fourth floor of the Great Western Type Foundry, Omaha, the reported damage from which is given at $25,000 to $50,000. May & Co. being $10,000; Great Western Type Foundry $10,000; Carpenter Paper Co., Marver Chemical Co. and others, unestimated.

RECAPITULATE will doubtless be the guiding principle of action on the part of our government to extend our commerce with foreign nations. The United States is now in a situation, with its increased and still increasing facilities, to hold its own, providing it cares for its own, with its own merchant marine.

In a forthcoming number of the Ladies' Home Journal Cleveland Moffatt is going to tell for the first time the real story of Ira D. Sankey's great voice. Not the least interesting of the incidents he will relate is the singer's own description of how that famous hymn, "The Ninety and Nine," came to be written.

MEMORANDUMS are still discussing the feud between the State University and the graduates of Minnesota, on the 12th, and say that, notwithstanding the score of 19 to 0, against them, the Nebraska men put up a game to be proud of. Ten thousand people witnessed the game, and it is declared to have been one of the best ever seen at Minneapolis.

This number of tons of both sugar last year, is estimated as follows: California, 95,000; Michigan, 90,000; Colorado, 20,000; Utah, 15,000; Nebraska, 7,000; New York, 7,000; Wisconsin, 3,000; Minnesota, 2,000; Washington, 2,000; Oregon, 2,000—a total of 185,000 tons. The cane sugar production is estimated as follows: Southern states 300,000 tons; Porto Rico, 200,000 tons; Hawaii, 200,000 tons; total, 700,000.

Two times and out is just as fair to the man who served the public as superintendent of public instruction, sheriff or county clerk, as it is for the county treasurer, whose tenure of office is by law fixed at two consecutive terms.

"Next in advantage to having the thing to sell is to have the convenience to carry it to the buyer. We must encourage our merchant marine. We must have more ships. They must be under the American flag, built and manned and owned by Americans. They will not only be profitable in a commercial sense, they will be messengers of peace and amity wherever they go."—McKinley.

AS TO TREASURER.

The office of county treasurer under J. G. Becker has been carefully and honestly administered during the past two years, and there is no known reason why there should be a change.

The above five-line paragraph is clipped from a recent number of the Humphrey Democrat. And yet it will be remembered that a somewhat similar paragraph might have been written in regard to a late treasurer of Platte county, presented by the democracy for the suffrage of voters, who afterwards was found lacking by tens of thousands in his accounts, and who yet owes some fifteen thousand, which probably the county will have to make good because owing to the state. It is supposed that prosecution in this matter, by the county attorney, was not pushed because of delinquency to influential friends and relatives.

The JOURNAL does not, for a moment, impugn the integrity of John Becker, because we believe he will account for every cent that has passed through his hands, but there are others, and the republican candidate for treasurer, Leo Martin, who is a thorough business man, by no means a professional politician or office-seeker, is one of them.

Fidelity to trust is a good thing in private, as well as official life. None can be too faithful, but democrats of Platte county, because of their recent party experience, are in no position to claim all the honesty going to candidates of public funds.

CARL J. ERNST, republican candidate for regent (says the Lincoln News), came to Nebraska in 1888, and has been constantly identified with the development of the state ever since that time. In his career, industry, honesty and sound judgment are some of the qualities which helped him to command success. Mr. Ernst has always been a republican, but with the exception of one term as a member of the Lincoln school board he has never been an office holder. In 1893, he was nominated for a place on the board of education without his seeking. At the polls he received the largest popular vote ever cast for that office in Lincoln up to that time. He served one term of three years on the board of education, one year occupying the president's chair. At the end of that time he declined a reelection. He devoted most of his time and attention to the financial and business affairs of the board. For many years he has been interested in the state university in Nebraska. "The largest institution in Nebraska," he never seriously considered the question of becoming a candidate for regent until Mr. C. H. Merrill positively declined to run for a third term and suggested Mr. Ernst as a suitable man to take his place. His candidacy was at once advocated with much enthusiasm by the Lincoln people who remembered with much gratitude his work on the school board and he received the unanimous vote of the republican state convention.

WILLIAM A. McALLISTER, is not a man, new to the people of Platte county, but on the contrary, well and favorably known, a citizen always ready to take his full part in all matters of public concern. With all county officers have to do with important interests, there is none that seems closer to the people than that of county judge. The license to wed is issued from his office. The power to appoint guardians and administrators is conferred by law upon him. The probate of the wills of deceased persons is done before him. Under the law he may act as the custodian of these wills during the life of the testator. With the settlement of estates he has to do, and the thousands of details of his duties are almost too numerous to mention; none of them are trivial, all are important, and some of them vital to those concerned. Voters of Platte county have the opportunity afforded them by the action of the republican convention, to cast their ballots for a man in every way well qualified for the position. See that your ballot has on it the name of William A. McAllister for county judge.

CAPTAIN CHARLES W. JENS, republican candidate for county clerk, is a man thoroughly well qualified for the position, having had just such experience as would make him an efficient officer. The primary consideration always, is a sound judgment; then a strong desire to do right; a courageous determination to discharge duty, and with a thorough knowledge of details, and a good acquaintance with the people whom he serves. All these Mr. Jens has, and those who know best how he has been in civil and military life are his best friends. His acquaintances would trust him to the utmost. The same excellent judgment, staunch courage and firm fidelity that was so conspicuous in his military career, have characterized him in civil life, and would find exercise in the office of county clerk. Vote for Captain Jens.

GEOSEB ENOCHSBERGER, the young man who is in the republican candidate for sheriff, is making an active campaign for the position. THE JOURNAL believes that for various reasons a number of democrats and populists will vote for Mr. Brodfuehrer. He has been honorably working his way along in the world; has studied law with Mr. Garlow; who has honorably served his country as a soldier; has determination, pluck and courage, is a man of steady habits and will make an efficient sheriff of Platte county.

THE application for a permanent injunction against the city of Akron, Ohio, seeks to enjoin issuing $100,000 in bonds for the payment of salaries of municipal employes and improvements. If the temporary injunction is made permanent the city commissioners declare they will close all departments pending and contract no more debts. There is no question about the city being bankrupt and a receivership will be the best resort to straighten matters out.

THE withdrawal of Mr. Gould from the republican state ticket, on which he had been nominated for university regent, leaves the state committee free to fill the place left vacant with a new name. Mr. Gould is entitled to credit for taking this step voluntarily and thus relieving the party of the embarrassment which a persistence in his candidacy, in the face of the charges that have been made against him, would necessarily entail.

Mr. Gould's statements of his relations with Bartley are entirely frank and straightforward and leave no question but that he, as an individual, was entirely blameless, so far as the deposit by Bartley of public money in the bank with which Mr. Gould was connected was concerned. On the contrary, the exhibit showing that Mr. Gould had made good out of his own private resources all but a very small part of the outstanding obligations of the broken bank is decidedly to his credit. The only weak spot in the statement is that the debt to the state, in the name of Bartley, should not have been given preference over other creditors of the bank, after it became apparent that the money belonged to the state school fund.

The incident emphasizes one point, whose lesson should not be overlooked: It is the pernicious and indefensible practice of candidates of public funds making deposits of public money in their own names. Bartley had no more right to deposit state money in his own name in any bank than he had to convert the funds to his own use. Unfortunately this practice has not yet been stopped. To put an effective bar to it the next legislature should enact a law requiring candidates of public funds to deposit public money only in the name of the state, county, city or school district and making a violation of these requirements a criminal offense.

With the state ticket reconstructed republicans will be able to appeal to the people with renewed proof that the party has been regenerated and may be depended upon to stand firmly by its declaration of principles.—Omaha Bee.

A DARING burglary was committed at Grand Island last Wednesday night at the residence of Frank W. Miles. Mr. Miles was awakened by a noise in the hall; raised up in bed and was given a blow on the head which dazed him. He soon made further attempts to get up, intending to go after his revolver, but felt something thrown in his face. When he was out of the bed, he found there were two burglars. They had left a rear door open, though they had gained entrance at a window. When they dashed out at the door, he fired after them and thinks he hit one of them. They dropped a sack they had and which contained clothing, etc., valued at about $200, but got away with a pocket-book with about $25. What was thrown was carbolic acid, striking Mr. Miles mostly in the neck, but all over Mr. Miles' face, causing great pain, but fortunately not injuring the eyes as he was asleep. If house-breaking at night, and robbery are to be supplemented by maiming and torture, it is high time that a very effective mode of defensive warfare be pursued by decent people.

If the World-Herald is making all this talk about State Treasurer Steuber as an argument for the election of Conrad Hollenbeck to the supreme bench it is likely to meet with disappointment. The average voter will fail to understand how the election of a fusion supreme judge can influence the actions of the state treasurer. The people are at present concerned in the selection of a worthy man for the supreme judgeship and will cast their votes accordingly.—Norfolk News.

—Art Boston, who has been teaching school the past few weeks in Summit township and boarded with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bailey, is now ill with small-pox at the home of his parents. He contracted the disease while he was teaching Tuesday and decided to continue the quarantine on the Boston residence for three more weeks. Mr. Boston, who has been released from the former quarantine on his residence, is again quarantined. The entire family here and the sympathy of their many friends in Bellwood and vicinity.—Gazette.

—The younger men of all parties have not been ignorant of the fact that a special effort has been made to discourage any one of their years from serving their country in an official capacity in civil life. In fact, the only objection now urged against George Brodfuehrer, the republican candidate for sheriff of this county, is that he is too young. But, withal, they persistently refuse from his side. The young man who is able to do and does even his own living work by his own efforts, and who, in his struggles, serves his country as a soldier, enduring the hardships and the perils, and is 25 years of age, level-headed and of sound judgment, as is George Brodfuehrer, will make as creditable a sheriff as we have ever had. Young men, do not be brow-beaten because you are not yet 30 or 35.

At Dayton, Ohio, he was married to Miss Johanna Foley, who still survives him. He lived for a while at Omaha, moving to this county in 1857 locating in Shell Creek valley, a beautiful site for a home. His life has been an honorable one throughout, and he had the respect of all who knew him. He leaves, besides the faithful partner of his joys and sorrows, three sons and four daughters: James W. Thomas F., Daniel D., Mrs. Kate Morris of New York City, Miss Maggie, Nellie and Mary Lynch. The funeral was Friday morning, from the residence at 9 o'clock, and from the Catholic church in Platte Center at 10 o'clock, burial in St. Joseph's cemetery.

—John S. Freeman, as delegate elect representing the lodge here, and H. J. Hudson as a member of the Grand Lodge, attended the session of that body at Kearney last week. Mrs. Mabel Jentinson representing the Reobek lodge at their association meeting. There were some 700 delegates to the former and 300 to the latter. Never have they had more enjoyable times. Everything that could be done for the visiting brethren and donors was heartily done, and Kearney will be long remembered for her generous hospitality. By way of street and business-house display there was considerable attraction in the electric-light combination, one being the three links in colored lights; F. L. and T. and brilliant; Reobek, in oriental costume, at the well, etc.

—The grading of several of the streets of the city seems to be giving the best of satisfaction. The road bed sufficient for the passage of teams is rounded up in the center with gutters at the side, so that water falls from the road into the ditches and, when the work is completed, will flow east and south till the streets are dry again. For the first time in the history of the city, the grade has been established scientifically by a survey, and plotted, so that the overseer of the streets could work intelligently. The grade plans left on each side of the graded road is no inconsiderable part of the improvement, as, if kept for grass, there will be much less dust in summer time and much less work to be done in grading. We notice, however, that already the grass line is being used for the travel of teams. Ninth and Tenth have been graded and now work is going along on Thirteenth and Fourteenth.

—Captain Charles W. Jens was born in Germany in 1868, coming to this country when about two years old. For over ten years Mr. Jens has been employed in Friedholm's store, this city, where he has been a most faithful and trusted employee. When the militia company, the Whitteymer Rifles, was organized here, Mr. Jens was elected lieutenant, and Co. Co. was elected captain. Mr. Jens is a republican candidate for county clerk, and it goes without saying that he will make as good a record in that office as he did a soldier in the army, for the same solid qualities necessary to the one find ample play in the other. The man who managed well for his company of soldiers will manage the important affairs in the county clerk's office.

—The Fremont Tribune sent a representative to Seward to investigate in regard to the reported discovery of coal, heretofore mentioned in THE JOURNAL. There are about a dozen houses in the village, which is the first station south of Wahoo and is twenty-eight miles from Fremont. The work of prospecting is being done on the farm of Nels Gibson by John Joseph and John Stronck, two well known business men of Wahoo. They say that there is one vein at 152 feet from eighteen inches to two feet thick; another at the depth of 235 feet, four and a half feet thick, and two and a half feet below this still another vein about eight feet thick. It is expected that another vein will be encountered in a day or so, as favorable indications of it have already been noticed. Above each of the veins is a stratum of shale and slate that usually accompany coal deposits. The drill is only five inches in diameter. Other borings are to be made in the neighborhood to discover how broad a section has an underlying coal deposit. If it is found to be wide enough extent, a shaft will be sunk and actual mining begun. It may be a "pocket," but we expect about a mile and a half westward of the present working a well was sunk a year or so ago to the depth of 400 feet with no trace of coal, at least none detected by the drillers; to the east about a mile, a well of 300 feet depth and like results. The Tribune reporter says the locality looks like a coal country. It is rugged and broken, and he concludes his lengthy report which we have greatly condensed by saying: "It will not be long until more accurate information will be had concerning the quantity and quality of the discovery. Meantime it may be said to be highly favorable that a good workable coal mine will be developed there within a year."

Death of George Schmitt. Sunday morning, October 20, at a lingering illness, departed this life, at the residence of his sister, Mrs. J. P. Becker, of this city. He was the fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Schmitt; was born in Huntington county, Indiana, April 9, 1860. Moved to Illinois with the family early in life, and with them came to Nebraska in 1872. He had a severe illness in early youth which left him afflicted with a cough, which was annoying to him, but not painful. He had employment with Dr. C. B. Stillman, when he conducted his drugstore on Eleventh street this city. In 1881, his health failing him somewhat, he went to Denver, where for two years he was engaged in like work as before. About forty miles south of Denver James Brown, formerly of this county and a friend of Mr. Schmitt's, had a ranch, and advised him to try the climate, which he did until in 1886 in February, when, after a severe spell of sickness from an abscess, he was brought back to this city, where he improved somewhat, remaining two years and then returned to Colorado. This time his sojourn in that state was until March 11 of this year, when his brother Daniel again made the sad journey to the sunshine state, returning with the failing brother on the 14th of March. Since that date George had steadily failed, not without times of seeming returning strength, until the end came. The surviving brothers are Jacob; John of Seattle, Washington, and Daniel; the sisters, Mrs. Caroline Mast, Lincoln; Mrs. J. P. Becker and Miss Lizzie Schmitt.
