

THREE CHICAGO DOCTORS

Fallen to Do for Miss Mabelle L. LaMonte What was Accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was in an awful state for nearly three years with a complication of female troubles which three physicians called by different names, but the pains were all the same. I dreaded the time of my monthly periods for it meant a couple of days in bed in awful agony. I finally made up my mind that the good doctors were guessing; and hearing from different friends of such good results of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I tried that. I bless the day I did, for it was the dawning of a new life for me. I used five bottles before I was cured, but when they were taken I was a well woman once more. Your Compound is certainly wonderful. Several of my friends have used it since, and nothing but the best I ever hear from the use of it. Yours, MABELLE L. LAMONTE, 222 E. 11th St., Chicago, Ill.

If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound could cure Miss LaMonte—why not you? Try it and see for yourself.

CAMPFIRE SKETCHES

SOME SHORT STORIES FOR THE VETERANS.

Plans Employed to Teach War-Horror to Stand Firm—Some Can Not Be Thought to Forget the Battle of Manley—Grand Army Fading Away.

IT WAS MY BROTHER I'll hang my hat on a willow tree. I'll hang on to the war again; My peaceful home has no charm for me.

The battle-field no pain. The lady I love will soon be a bride With a diadem on her brow; Oh! why did she flatter my youthful pride?

She's going to leave me now! She took me away from my warlike lord,

And she wore a silken suit; I thought no more of my master's sword. When I played on my master's lute. She seemed to think me a boy above Her pages of low degree;

Oh! had I loved loved with a boyish love, it would have been better for me.

Then I'll hide in my breast every selfish care, I'll find my pale cheek with wine; When smiles awake the bridal pair, I'll hasten to give thee mine.

I'll laugh and I'll sing though my heart may bleed, And I'll walk in the festive train, And if I survive it, I'll mount my steed.

And 'till to the wars again. But one golden tress of her hair I'll twine

In my helmet's sable plume, And then on the fields of Palestine I'll seek an early doom.

And if by the Saracen's hand I fall, 'Mid the noble and the brave, A tear from my lady-love is all I ask for the warrior's grave.

There is considerable doubt as to the authorship of the above song, once very popular, and still occasionally sung. It is in an amusing article on T. Haynes Bayley, the song writer, credits him with it, but in this he appears to have made a mistake. The common story told as to its origin is that it was suggested by Lord Elphinstone's unfortunate attachment to the Princess Victoria. Elphinstone, who is said to have been a very handsome young man of good abilities, aspired to the hand of the heiress to the throne; and report says he was grievously disappointed when after her accession to the throne the queen became engaged to Prince Albert. Lord Elphinstone went to India, where he had a brilliant career as soldier and ruler, dying unmarried in 1860. The authorship of the song has even been imputed to Lord Elphinstone—but on no probable grounds.—Montreal Herald and Star.

TRAINING WAR-HORSES. The main difficulty in training a war horse is to accustom the animal to the thunder of firearms. A horse that can be quickly trained to the roar of cannon and musketry is an acquisition which instructors know how to appreciate.

Gov. GIBBS, WOODS WAY. Sancti Spiritus, one of the oldest towns on the island, is picking up a year ago it was the poorest town on the western continent. When Gen. Wood visited the place about a year ago he was astonished at the evidence of poverty on every hand. There was no work in progress, and the people a large part of whom were beggars, were struggling for an existence. Gen. Wood saw that the people there must have some assistance. The first thing to do was to distribute money in some way, but in a manner to teach the people to work. He had no money, but he had a horse. He really in good condition and will be prosperous in a few years. It was formerly one of the richest towns on the island, the cattle industry being extensive and paying well.—Cuban correspondent of the Boston Transcript.

AN OBJECT LESSON FOR GRANT. The story is told of the first time Grant ever had charge of a large body of men sent out to give battle, says the Post-Standard. He was colored in the early part of 1862, he was called to go to the relief of an Illinois regiment, supposed to be surrounded by rebels at Palmyra, Mo. but when he arrived the regiment had relieved itself by retreating. Grant then went out to Florida, in the same state of mind. The position he held over the hill beyond which the enemy was supposed to be in waiting. Grant says he would have "given anything to be back again in Illinois." At the top of the hill instead of troops drawn up in a battle array Grant saw a deserted camp. "It occurred to me at once that Harris had been as much afraid of me as I had been of him," said Grant. "From that event to the close of the war I never experienced trepidation upon confronting an enemy though I always felt more or less anxious. I never forgot that he had a much better reason to fear my forces as I had his."

Grant's Horse-ship. General Grant's strong point was horse-ship when he was a cadet at West Point and the ringmaster, whether as a soldier, a cadet, or a general. "I take down" the young cadet. At the cavalry exercise Grant was mounted on a powerful but vicious brute that the cadets fought shy of, and was pale as a sheet. The bar was raised higher and higher as he came around the ring till it passed the "recoiler." The stubborn brute would not step across to shy and refused to leap. Grant gritted his teeth and spurred at it but just as the horse gathered for springing his swelling body burst the girl and rider and saddle tumbled into the ring. Half stunned, he gazed himself up from the dust only to hear the strident, cynical voice of the riding-master calling out: "Cade Grant, sir, demerits for demerits without leave!"

GRAND ARMY FADING AWAY. Death is making sad inroads in the ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic. The report of the adjutant-general at the recent encampment at Cleveland shows that the number lost by death during the year ending June 30, 1901, was $166, and the total membership of the order is now placed at 269,567. This is the smallest membership given in any annual report since the early years of the organization. The death and suspension of members

FARM AND GARDEN

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO AGRICULTURISTS.

Some Up-to-Date Hints About Cultivation of the Soil and Things Thereof—Horticulture, Viticulture and Floriculture.

The Agricultural Department of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. In the Agricultural Department of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition the agriculture of the past and of the countries other than the United States will be shown, and the agriculture of the Indians and of frontier and ranch life.

The Experiment station is a modern institution of great importance and will have a prominent place here for the display of agricultural goods, physics, chemistry and biology, physiology of plant and animal life and meteorology. Soils will be classified by their characters and by regions, systems of tillage and the relation of crops will be shown, drainage and irrigation systems will be illustrated and the subject of fertilizers and their application will be treated in a way to be understood by the inquirer. Agriculture and its relation to stock raising constitutes another attractive branch of the subject.

Perhaps more interesting than all is that subdivision which will treat of the farmer, his comfort and advancement shown by the home and the architecture of all the farm buildings, the machinery, tools and appliances, and the systems which he employs in the management of the farm. The condition of the farmer past and present may thus be shown, bringing to attention the history and development of farming in this country, showing to the farmer the relation of his land in new countries and effect of transportation systems upon farming.

Farm engineering will embrace the laying out and improvement of farm lands, local irrigation and drainage, drain tiles, fences, gates, roads, bridges, windmills, motors, etc. Farm architecture will include plans and sections of typical farm houses, cottages and tenements of many localities, farm barns, stables and folds, granaries, tool and wagon houses, hot houses, green houses, apiculture, coniculture and kennels.

Feeding Wheat. Press Bulletin 75, Oklahoma experiment station: Feeding wheat to farm animals is not a novelty to the farmer who has passed through the years of the '90s and '00s in this country, as many thousands of bushels were fed during that time. Due to a very severe drought which has caused almost a total failure of corn the farmer now has the choice of feeding wheat; of which he fortunately has plenty; or letting his stock go without grain. At 67 cents per bushel, wheat is no advantage over grain within his reach, as if the price of fat stock is maintained it can be fed with profit if the proper methods are followed. The feeder has the advantage of the experience gained from '93 and '94 and any one not familiar with them should get them as they have been widely published in newspaper and paper.

The value of wheat for hog food has been demonstrated by practical feeders and the experiment stations. Pound for pound it is equal or slightly superior to corn when properly fed. A bushel of wheat will produce from 12 to 15 pounds of pork, as against 10 to 12 from a bushel of corn. Grinding 75 cents per bushel pays well, since, when fed whole and dry, about one-fourth passes through the hog undigested. Soaking does not lessen this materially, although the results are some better. Feeding wheat to fattening hogs is not profitable. There is no advantage in farmers carrying along their animals with just enough feed to keep them alive. It is not wise to have the hogs on scant feed either summer or winter. Swill and milk will not work with wheat, that combination being the best. The cattle men should be made to understand that they are not getting "4 per head more" on account of oleo being colored to resemble butter.

Contest of All Moments. Mrs. Leland Stanford is determined that the university at Palo Alto, Cal., founded in memory of her son, shall be one of the greatest educational institutions in the world. The magnificent Taj Mahal, that wonderful memorial tomb at Agra, in India, cost $16,000,000, but this is less than the endowment of the Stanford University. The one monument is but a masterpiece of beauty, the other is the source of education and inspiration to higher achievements for the countless thousands in the years to come. Mrs. Stanford has given her entire time and however, after months of continued health he is permanently cured and his announcement of this has caused a profound sensation among the physicians and the people who knew of his apparently hopeless condition.

Physicians Much Interested. Northport, Mich., Dec. 9.—The medical men are just now eagerly discussing a most remarkable cure of a severe case of Kidney Disease in this county. Mr. Byron O. Leslie of Northport has for years been a victim of kidney derangements, with all the consequent pain and annoyance. He was gradually growing worse and as the disease advanced he became very despondent, often wondering if he would have to endure this suffering all his lifetime.

At last he found a remedy that cured him in Dodd's Kidney Pills. He was much pleased, but did not say much about it lest the good effect he experienced would not last. Now, however, after months of continued good health he has concluded that he is permanently cured and his announcement of this has caused a profound sensation among the physicians and the people who knew of his apparently hopeless condition.

Utaho Martha Pratt Memorial. The town of Deerfield, Mass., has determined upon a unique memorial to Miss Martha Pratt, whose influence for good in that community has led to the erection of a perpetual her memory. Instead of erecting a monument or a bronze tablet a village club room and library was decided upon.

Purpose Specified on Card. A peculiar visiting card, the fashion of which would seem to be quite general on the continent of Europe, bears the name and address in the usual manner; on the other side are printed across each corner the words "Visit," "Congratulate," "Felicitate," "Condole," the idea being to turn up the corner which expresses the purpose of the call.

The greatest potato supply in the world is found at Stassfurt, Germany, where soluble potash salts are mined in large quantities.

A Swan Song. A dotting East End papa has a new story to tell about his little girl. According to his tale, the child, with her mother, was walking through "Wade Park" when she saw a number of swans in the pond. "What are those swans, mamma?" inquired the little girl. "Those? Why, they are swans," was the reply. A silence of more than a minute followed the reply, when the little girl said: "I have seen those swans, mamma," said she, "this must be the Swanee River that papa sings about so much."

Brown does not spell correctly. "Yes," said the school-mistress. "Quite true." "No business ability." "None at all." "Writes an unreadable hand." "True again." "And I don't know what to make of him!" "My dear friend, what on earth can you expect of a great genius?"—Atlanta Constitution.

A girl goes to lots of trouble to capture a husband, but after the capture she doesn't go to as much trouble to hold him.
