—Worms take refuge in the small intestines, where they can easily multiply. WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE will destroy these parasites. The verdict of the people tells plainly how well it has succeeded. Price 25 cents. A. Heintz and Pollock & Co.
—Henry Moeckels of St. Bernard last week through the Farmers & Merchants bank real estate business purchased Otto Born's farm consisting of 300 acres which he paid the sum of $11,900 for. This makes it $29.50 an acre which shows the state county land is worth living on.—Lindsay Post.
—Roni Miller, who had been a resident of Nebraska for thirty years, formerly living in this city, died Thursday last week at Shelby. His affliction was dropsy, and he was 76 years old. He served six years as a soldier, and was in the Franco-German war. We believe that he was also a soldier in the War of the Rebellion on the Union side.
—O. M. Cafferty, who had been here several days in the interest of McLaughlin Bros. of Columbus, Ohio, went to Hampshire Thursday. The horse that he has been offering to sell for $3,200, though only two years old, weighs 1,800 pounds and took first prize at the Pan-American exhibit, in a class numbering forty-eight, one of which has since sold for $5,000.
—Papa was cutting Freddy's hair very well, but was not quick at the job, and Fred, who is 6 years of age, found the function very tiresome. At last he said: "Are you nearly done, daddy?" "Very near. I've just the front to do now," replied the father. "The front?" "Yes," replied the mother, "that the back will grow again while you are cutting the front."—Stray Stories.
—Mrs. J. F. Bedford was called east by the sudden death of her brother, D. F. Trainor in Ottawa, Illinois, on the 18th. Mr. Trainor was an able attorney of his city, and 43 years old. He had finished a case in court defending a man tried for murder and was taken to a hotel on account of illness. Afterward, when the message was brought him of the jury acquitting the prisoner, Mr. Trainor clasped his hands in joy and said he would rest and take a good sleep. An hour later he was found dead in bed.

—Mrs. Dr. Mary Clark and family have sold their property here, and are preparing to move to Lincoln. THE JOURNAL commends them to the good graces of Lincoln people, and joins their hosts of friends here in wishing them health and prosperity.
—Wednesday night Ed. Maher had the misfortune to lose thirteen calves. In attempting to cross Shell creek they broke through the ice and were drowned. Mr. and Mrs. F. Stone and Miss Emily Elippe departed on Tuesday for Jennings, Louisiana, where they will spend the holidays.—Piette Center Signal.
—Disease and danger lurk in the vital organs. The blood becomes vitiated and the general health is undermined whenever the stomach and liver fail to perform their functions as nature intended. HERBINE will tone up the stomach regulate the liver, where other preparations only relieve. Price 50 cents. A. Heintz and Pollock & Co.
—Roy Rhone, wife, and son Robert of Kearney are in the city to make their annual visit to the Furrand family. Mr. Rhone, father of Mrs. Furrand, is also here. Robert is now manager of the American school of music in Council Bluffs, but will resign soon to take a better position in Kansas City.
—Mr. Ellis J. Williams and Miss Rene Williams both of Monroe were married by Rev. Lane in the Methodist parsonage last Tuesday. A peculiar circumstance of the wedding was the fact that the bride did not change her name and that the names of the father of both bride and groom were the same, John Williams.
—Master George Staab, son of John Staab of Bohoet who was operated upon for gun shot wound of the thigh on the day after the shooting by Dr. Alger of Leigh, assisted by Dr. McKinley of Humphrey, was operated upon a second time by Dr. Alger owing to involvement of the knee joint. Dr. Dewey gave the chloroform. Since then the boy is fast recovering from blood poisoning.—Leigh World.
—J. A. Baird of the Cedar Rapids Outlook has been traveling in the west, and writes to his paper describing a visit with M. H. Barber, for some years formerly editor of the Nance County Journal at Fallerton, Neb., now living at Boise, Idaho, and engaged in the sheep business, coming to his home from his ranch about once every two weeks. Mr. Barber's many friends will be glad to learn that he finds his 1,000 sheep good, paying property.
—Ida Brindley Thursday morning at about daylight, the thermometer being about ten degrees below zero, broke through the ice at Stevens' lake and went down into the water up to his neck. He got out all right, but was by no means slow in making tracks for the Baker ranch three miles north. On the way out he met Spencer Eise, who professed for his use the team and wagon, but he very forcibly declined any outside help, and trod northward just the same as an old soldier would have done under like circumstances—the best he could, to keep warm.
—Wednesday evening last, Adrian M. Newsom gave one of his unique entertainments as an improvisator, at the opera house to a well-pleased audience. Mr. Adrian knows well just how to strike the various chords of sympathetic feeling in the human breast, from the quiet, dry, inside laugh to the hilarious outbreak; from the solemn to the mournful and the tragic—a whole show in himself, but on this occasion he was assisted very nicely by a junior high school orchestra, whose part was very pleasing to the audience.
—The youngsters with their sleds Saturday were improving the situation for the increasing warmth of the sun might not be out about their enjoyment. If there had been a mountain or even good-sized hill near by, there would have been no better fun than to slide down and walk back up; as it was they could only take turns in pulling the sled, or wait their chance and ask the driver if they could hang on behind. The driver who responds "Yes," has his abounding thanks in the evident vigor of the sport, and the fact that it recalls childhood scenes of similar "fun alive."

—Blossy Borach, who had lived eighteen miles southwest of this city for twenty-four years, was killed December 19. He and Jack Lisco were on Ocoola purchasing Christmas goods and were on their way home, when their team became unmanageable and ran away. The miles north of Ocoola they ran into a tree, killing both men. Lisco driving, but a few minutes—one having his forehead cut open, the other his neck broken. Mr. Borach leaves a widow and six children, three at home and three married. The funeral was at Duncan Saturday morning at 10, Rev. Stanowick officiating. We could learn no further particulars.
—If every man and woman who does business of any sort would study at least the fundamental principles of law and apply them with good judgment to the practical affairs of life there would be fewer troubles than now. Among recent Nebraska decisions, we note: A transfer made for the purpose and with the intent of defrauding creditors being of no effect as to the latter, no advantage can be taken of the vendor, as against them, by reason thereof. Hence, although the judgment debtor may have been indebted to the vendor at the date of the fraudulent transfer, the latter is not entitled to a lien on the goods for such amount nor to have it deducted from his liability as garnishee. . . . An action to foreclose a tax lien is barred within five years after the time to redeem from the tax sale has expired.
—Twelve of the twenty-eight democratic editors of the state met here Friday to organize "for the social and material welfare of its members, and the better and more harmonious promulgation of democratic principles." The membership fee is one dollar, the annual dues one dollar, and the time of meeting the first Tuesday in February each year. E. H. Rowley was elected president; J. H. Johnson vice president; James Tansler secretary and treasurer. C. H. Swallow acted as secretary of the temporary organization. The next meeting will be held at Lincoln. During the day, the business affairs of the association were considered, and in the evening the visiting editors were the guests of the citizens of Columbus at a banquet at the Thurston, Mayor Bagatz making the reception speech.

—George Young, whose home was near North Bend, died Tuesday last week, his death said to have resulted from an attack of the grip, from which he had suffered at intervals for several years. He was born in Scotland, March 30, 1822; came to America in 1850, locating in Lake county, Illinois. In 1856 he moved to Nebraska, reaching Omaha on the 4th day of July, and located at his residence in Dodge county soon afterwards. In December of that year his wife died, leaving four children, the latest born, Seth W., an infant only a few days old and the first male white child born in Dodge county. His wife was the first white woman who died in the county. In 1859, Mr. Young married Miss Elizabeth Sloss, who died the following year. In 1869, he married Miss Joannetta Morrison, who died in 1872. He again married, in the fall of 1879, Miss Anna C. Kelley. His age was 79 years. The funeral services were held at 10 o'clock Friday morning, Rev. Swan officiating. The deceased was well known to many of the older Journal readers, and he was highly respected by all who knew him, for his integrity, independence and fidelity.

—If every man and woman who does business of any sort would study at least the fundamental principles of law and apply them with good judgment to the practical affairs of life there would be fewer troubles than now. Among recent Nebraska decisions, we note: A transfer made for the purpose and with the intent of defrauding creditors being of no effect as to the latter, no advantage can be taken of the vendor, as against them, by reason thereof. Hence, although the judgment debtor may have been indebted to the vendor at the date of the fraudulent transfer, the latter is not entitled to a lien on the goods for such amount nor to have it deducted from his liability as garnishee. . . . An action to foreclose a tax lien is barred within five years after the time to redeem from the tax sale has expired.
—Twelve of the twenty-eight democratic editors of the state met here Friday to organize "for the social and material welfare of its members, and the better and more harmonious promulgation of democratic principles." The membership fee is one dollar, the annual dues one dollar, and the time of meeting the first Tuesday in February each year. E. H. Rowley was elected president; J. H. Johnson vice president; James Tansler secretary and treasurer. C. H. Swallow acted as secretary of the temporary organization. The next meeting will be held at Lincoln. During the day, the business affairs of the association were considered, and in the evening the visiting editors were the guests of the citizens of Columbus at a banquet at the Thurston, Mayor Bagatz making the reception speech.

—George Young, whose home was near North Bend, died Tuesday last week, his death said to have resulted from an attack of the grip, from which he had suffered at intervals for several years. He was born in Scotland, March 30, 1822; came to America in 1850, locating in Lake county, Illinois. In 1856 he moved to Nebraska, reaching Omaha on the 4th day of July, and located at his residence in Dodge county soon afterwards. In December of that year his wife died, leaving four children, the latest born, Seth W., an infant only a few days old and the first male white child born in Dodge county. His wife was the first white woman who died in the county. In 1859, Mr. Young married Miss Elizabeth Sloss, who died the following year. In 1869, he married Miss Joannetta Morrison, who died in 1872. He again married, in the fall of 1879, Miss Anna C. Kelley. His age was 79 years. The funeral services were held at 10 o'clock Friday morning, Rev. Swan officiating. The deceased was well known to many of the older Journal readers, and he was highly respected by all who knew him, for his integrity, independence and fidelity.
