—Members of the Congregational church expect to build additional rooms to their parsonage, enlarging the dining room and adding both room and bed room.

—The old Willard & Tiffany barn on Thirtieth street, built in the early '70s, is being torn down by Dr. Hansen, who recently bought the building of Jack Damsen.

—A story is told of a Boston lawyer whose quick wit never deserted him, either in the court room or elsewhere. One day a client entered his office, and throwing back his coat, said irritably: "Why, your office, sir, is as hot as an oven." "Why shouldn't it be?" was the calm response. "It's here that I make my bread."—Youth's Companion.

—The Methodist church and parsonage are undergoing some improvements, over $500 having been subscribed. A new roof has already been put on the church, and the inside will be re-papered. A kitchen and bath room will be added to the parsonage. A committee of the church has a proposition under advisement to decide whether more extensive improvements should be put in.

—There will be three special trains pass through Columbus late in the afternoon or night on next Friday, carrying 300 or more of the brainiest women of our country from the New England states to the biennial meeting of the Woman's club, which meet in Los Angeles, California. The delegation chose the Union Pacific to carry them from Council Bluffs to the coast.

—Peter Anderson returned Friday from the east, where he had been with stock, stopping with his brother A. Anderson, until Sunday, when he went to his home at Ft. Collins, Colorado. He tells us that a company is about starting a beet-sugar factory within a half-mile of his ranch. They have purchased 120 acres of land at $150 an acre, and expect to erect a factory of the capacity of 1,000 tons a day.

—G. W. Barnhart, a former citizen of Columbus in the early '70s, was in the city several days last week, starting for his home at Ft. Worth, Texas, Monday. George says his section of the south is prospering. Two large packing houses are soon to be erected in his city, which he says will give them a better and nearer market for their cattle and hogs. Two weeks ago they were enjoying strawberries, and the grass is now three or four inches tall.

—E. A. Clark, special agent for the government rural free delivery route, is in the city. Monday and Tuesday morning Mr. Clark went over the routes, laid out by H. H. Hunteman, George Drinain and H. E. Reed, all of which are north and east of town. At 1:30 o'clock this Tuesday afternoon Mr. Clark held an examination of applicants for the carriers. There were fourteen applicants for the position. It is altogether probable that the three routes will be established.

—The band entertainment Tuesday evening last is spoken of as one of the very best of their programmes. A business man would call it A, No. 1, and so it was throughout, the only possible criticism being that it was lengthy, which was the fault (so to speak) of the audience, in their demand of encore. Miss Ethel Galley by her vocal contributions, and Master Schavland, by his wonderful performance at the piano, added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

—The local board of Nebraska Children's home association consists of Rev. Munro, president; H. E. Babcock, vice president; J. D. Stires, treasurer; Wm. Way, secretary. Any one wishing to know about a child, can apply to either of these for information. Miss Lorena M. Hathaway of Omaha was here last week, and placed a little boy with Wm. Terrell. There are, at the Home in Omaha, two little girl babies; one, 2-year-old girl, one 2-year-old; one, 12; three boys between 5 and 12. They have more children to care for this year than at any other time.

—The following is from last Thursday's Madison Chronicle: "District Clerk Schavland and son, Oscar, went to Columbus Tuesday to be present at the concert that evening given by the Columbus band. Master Oscar was on the program for two piano numbers, and as usual pleased his audience and elicited great applause. He played four numbers instead of two. Mr. Schavland compliments very highly the Columbus band and its able leader, Prof. Gerlich. He says it is the finest aggregation of musicians he has heard since the exposition. He also said the orchestra, under the main leadership, was excellent. The orchestra is composed of seven students from the Columbus high school and four members of the band. The ten included five instrumentalists in the state better than Prof. Gerlich."

—Lena, wife of Fred Pitts, living ten miles northeast of Platte Center, hung herself with a clothes line in the chicken house, and the body was found about 9 o'clock Monday morning. Her trouble was melancholia. She was about 60 years old and leaves her husband, three sons and one daughter.

—The new Congregational church at Newman Grove has been dedicated. It is complete at a cost of $4,000 with furnishing $600. It is out of debt, and one of the most churches in Madison county. The church has grown and prospered under the able and tireless efforts of the pastor, Rev. C. D. Gearhart.

—The Leigh World gives particulars of some crooked work done by agents in taking notes for stock food to be shipped by the Eureka Stock Food company of Omaha. Notes were signed and given, when the parties signing supposed they were placing orders for the food, the notes afterwards turning up at the Maple Valley bank.

—Herman and Joseph Gross of Milwaukee, Wis., were in the city last week on their way to transport business at Madison and Battle Creek. Herman made a pleasant call at JOURNAL headquarters, and both will probably come this way on their return home. They were among Columbus' best business men in the early '70s, and to see them is to renew the old times.

—The appreciation of our efforts to assist in fine military has been very gratifying. The smart new styles that we are constantly introducing, the general excellence of the materials, and our determination to have our price always the lowest consistent with quality, are bringing customers in greater numbers than ever. J. C. Fillman.

—Half the people who wear glasses do not wear the right ones. Improperly fitted glasses are often worse than none. They are a constant strain, and permanently injure the eyes. Be on the safe side, if your eyes trouble you, and consult Dr. Seymour when he is here Friday, May 23, at the Thurston Hotel. His reputation is above question.

—A story is told of a Boston lawyer whose quick wit never deserted him, either in the court room or elsewhere. One day a client entered his office, and throwing back his coat, said irritably: "Why, your office, sir, is as hot as an oven." "Why shouldn't it be?" was the calm response. —The U. P. bridge at Gardner, between Damsen and Silver Creek, 64 feet in length, was discovered on five Sunday evening, supposed to have been set by No. 5, and was rendered impassable until Monday. The pile-driver and a gang of men went from here Monday morning to make repairs. We understand that the engineer on a freight train first discovered the condition of the bridge, and gave the notice.

—The Schuyler Quill says that Mrs. M. D. McKeane died at her home in Grand prairie Sunday evening after a protracted illness of over a year. She leaves a husband and four children.

—Mrs. Jacob Munsell died at her home near Richland Monday, and was buried in the Richland cemetery Wednesday. She had lived on the homestead since 1880. Ex-Sheriff A. C. McLeod and family left Wednesday for Everett, Washington, their future home.

—An amended petition has been filed in the case of the county against the boardman of James W. Lynch, former county treasurer, setting forth the fact of the death of Thomas Lynch, one of the bondsmen, who is said to have left a large estate, and leave was granted to proceed against the executor of his will unless cause is shown within five days why such procedure should not be made. The alleged shortage is some $16,000. A special session of the board of supervisors is called for April 24, to consider the offer of a compromise settlement with the bondsmen.

—Several weeks ago the Signal mentioned a telephone system that was being put in by the farmers northeast of town, using wire fences as the means of conveyance. So far they have not made a success of it because they had not purchased the right kind of an instrument. This is to be remedied in a few days and a line reaching from Oldenbush to Platte Center, with several branches will soon be in operation. The Seime Bros. & Lawrence have the matter in charge, and they inform us that as soon as the line is into Platte Center several business houses will put in instruments.—Platte Center Signal.

—Miss Minnie Becker and Mrs. L. W. Snow entertained the literary and Shakespeare departments of the Woman's club Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Becker. Mrs. Snow has been the leader of the Shakespeare department and Miss Becker of the literary the past year. The two departments included a large number of the club members, which were nearly all present. The afternoon was spent in games the honors, a handsome bouquet of roses being carried off by Miss Lydia McElhannon. Each guest found a pink carnation tied to her napkin with a white ribbon when lunch was served.

—An essay purporting to have been written by an English schoolboy is going the rounds of the papers, and is just as ridiculous as if written by an American boy with a similar amount of misinformation on the subject. "Breath is made of air. We breathe out with our lungs, our lights, our kidneys. If it wasn't for our breath we should die when we slept. Our breath keeps the life going through the nose when we are asleep. Boys that stay in a room all day should not breathe. Should wait until they get outdoors. Boys in a room make carbonic oxide. Carbonic oxide is more poisonous than bad dogs. A heap of soldiers was in a black hole in India, and carbonic oxide got in that black hole and killed every one before morning. Girls kill the breath with corsets that squeeze the diaphragm. If I was a girl I would rather be a boy, I can run and holler and have a good big dream."

—The Monroe Republican says that this spring George Emerson put out a forty acre orchard, 4,000 trees, the varieties being Ben Davis, Jonnet and Winsap, all winter apples. The trees are protected by a sheet of cottonwood, which is covered around the young trees, keeping off the sun's hot rays in summer and the rabbits in winter. Thirty acres of this orchard will be irrigated by the Great Eastern canal and the remaining ten acres on the north side of the canal will get the benefit of the seepage. As this is the first large orchard, in this vicinity, planted under irrigation, its progress will be watched with interest by all those interested in horticulture. The fact that Mr. Emerson raised the trees on the same farm they were planted on, will no doubt be a big advantage as they will not have to become acclimated. This season summer squash will be planted between the rows of trees, which are of ample width.

—The following clipping from a Whatcom, Washington, daily has been kindly sent to us by interested parties, but we do not know what day the event occurred. We believe it was some time about the 2d. The friends of Mrs. Warren here will wish her a very happy and prosperous future: At the residence of the bride's father, R. G. Hurd, in Whatcom, at 10 o'clock this morning, Charles Yule and Mrs. Anna Hurd Warren were united in marriage. Rev. Gilman Parker officiating. After the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Yule left on the R. B. & C. train at 1 o'clock for Vancouver and British Columbia on their wedding trip. Mr. Yule is the efficient shipping clerk for the Northwest Hdw. Company, and the bride is the accomplished music teacher and singer. Both are highly respected members of the First Baptist church of Whatcom. They will be at home to their friends after May 1, at 2327 Elizabeth street. No cards.

—In the paper read by Father Dufosse at the recent conference of Catholic priests in this city, occurs the following with reference to the first settlers in or near Lone Tree: "The first mass was celebrated in the Kambrik section, in the year 1870. The services were Michael Tobin, John Burson, Mrs. M. L. Wright, Mrs. Vaughn and daughter, now Mrs. Wallitzer, Thomas Kelly, R. H. Kambrik and their families, Michael Duffin and Stephen Heaton. Father Ryan was the attending priest, who came from Columbus on a hand-car. Father Ryan visited Lone Tree and celebrated mass occasionally for about four years. His territory extended from Columbus, Nebraska, to Cheyenne, Wyoming, and he usually traveled on a hand-car and was a familiar figure in every community. Occasionally a family or railroad man was added to the Catholic population. Henry Egleston arriving in May, 1871, and A. Stone a short time afterwards."

A FAMILY MATTER

Is a family matter when the problem of buying groceries is under consideration. The wife knows what brand of goods has the flavor that suits the taste, and she knows from experience just how much the best should cost. Your part of the matrimonial contract in this respect is to let her choose her goods—she can do it much better than you—and her mind will tell her to buy her provisions here.

Crockery is something we make a specialty of. Good qualities and low prices are jammed together in each article.

Lamps in so many different patterns and designs that we cannot enumerate. They are the best all-around lamps we could buy on the market. They are waiting for a test—why not give one a test now? Prices correct.

Chinaware for use and ornamentation in large quantities at prices that cannot help but tempt your pocket-book and the quality is in every piece.

Woodenware Wash tubs, bowls, baskets, etc., in an almost wholesale variety. The prices on these articles are low while the quality is high.

Call and See Our New Line of Wall Paper.

Don't wait until everything has been picked over. We carry a full line of Wall Paper, Paints, Plastics, Varnishes, Brushes, Window Shades, Sash Rods, Floor Wax and every thing pertaining to the needs of a good housekeeper.

ECHOLS & DIETRICHS,

Painters and Paper Hangers.

—Moses Jerome died this Tuesday morning at 6:30 o'clock, after an illness of about five years from chronic rheumatism of the heart. Mr. Jerome came to Columbus about nine years ago. He had been prominent to that time, lived in Fremont, this state, and Illinois, where he had engaged in the heavy business. Mr. Jerome leaves a wife, two sons, William and Harry, the former by his first wife, and one daughter, Miss Helen, to mourn his loss. Mr. Jerome was a man of unusually bright intellect and a deep thinker, but self-sacrificing to a high degree, and in the more than 71 years of his mortal life, the last 36 of them have been in the shadow of a dreaded disease. Let us hope that in the Summer Land his spirit finds a genial home.

—We find the following mention in Sunday's Omaha Bee, among David City items, which will be of interest to many JOURNAL readers: "M. J. Brown of Oosola, the owner of Lilly B, 227 1/2, visited the Keystone farm last week and had a chat with Superintendent Thomas. That some of the time was spent in praising Congoser colts may be easily guessed. Lilly B is by The Congoser, 2:15; dam Pharis, the dam of The Congoser, 2:15; by Danton, son of Bonanza 271. Lilly B received her record last year as a 3-year-old, and is the first Congoser colt, not owned by the Keystone farm, that has been given a price her a number of times, but has refused to do so. He would not accept a bona fide offer of $2,500, an excellent price for a young horse with a slow record. Mr. Brown and several other competent judges believe that Lilly B will beat 2:10. She is certainly bred in speed-producing lines, being by a sire of 2:10 speed, and out of a dam of 2:12 speed. Mr. Brown will give her careful preparation and start her in July and August in the pink of condition. She has been entered in the $1,000 stake to be trotted at Seward, August 5-8."

—James Kinneer, well known to many JOURNAL readers, having worked for James Welch as a miller about five years prior to 1894, when he went into the United States navy, where he has been serving ever since, arrived in the city Friday. He has had a varied experience since he left here. Mostly, he was on the Pacific side; was in the wreck of 1899 at Samoa and one of the survivors of it. The American coat of arms, given by him to the Sons of Veterans of this city, was a souvenir of that time. Questioned as to the now celebrated destruction of the Spanish fleet by Dewey, he says that Dewey was certainly "the right man in the right place." The United States owned the navy yard before breakfast, in Mr. Kinneer's brief statement of the result. The ships were in the same line of battle all the way through the fight, beginning at the distance of 5,000 yards, and closing at a distance of 3,000. He says that the islands are no benefit to us; that we will always have trouble with them, more or less fighting to do; thousands of people there, never did do any work, lived by stealing and will keep it up. It don't take much for them to live on—a little rice and fruit. Mr. Kinneer was paid off, and left Hong Kong, China, March 2. He may possibly go back, but he thinks now that he will stay and make Columbus his home. Columbus soldiers in Manila were indebted to Mr. Kinneer for many favors, while in the service.
