Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Benjamin accompanied them this far on their journey. Their many friends will wish them a pleasant time and safe return.

—The old opera house recently purchased by the Orphans society has undergone extensive repairs. Beside being thoroughly overhauled inside a new roof has been put on and the exterior repaired and newly painted. Trees have been trimmed up and the appearance generally has been greatly improved.

—Those present from a distance to attend the funeral of M. K. Turner were: Mr. and Mrs. John George, Perry, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Craig, Craig, Neb.; Howard Howe, Norfolk; Miss George Brown and daughter Miss Clara of Oak Rapids; Mrs. W. S. Craig and Mrs. Mary Phillips, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Brown, Humphrey; Mr. and Mrs. John Craig and Mr. and Mrs. Mapes of Schuyler.

—Roy Page was arrested in Clark last Tuesday by Sheriff Byrne, charged with forging the name of Henry Lubker to an order on E. D. Fitzpatrick for $12.50 worth of graphophone records. When arrested he was also in possession of a horse and buggy stolen by him from parties in Omaha. He was taken there for trial.

—C. C. Gray who keeps the government rain gauge informs us that the rainfall for May (up to Monday, the 20th), is 3.70 inches. By way of comparison the total for May, 1901, was 1.74 inches, and for the same month 1900, was 1.98 inches. Competent judges say that the wheat crop is assured now beyond a doubt.

—A farmer named Bedinger, living near Humphrey, was fined $10 and costs in the county court Thursday last on a complaint preferred by Detective Viscard of the Union Pacific. Bedinger was charged with stealing a load of railroad ties valued at $12. The property was returned, and altogether it proved a rather unprofitable experiment.

—The first open-air concert of the season was given by the City Band Wednesday evening last and was attended by quite a crowd of citizens, many more no doubt would have been present had it not rained during the afternoon. The boys furnish good music and we should like to see their subscription list reach a figure that would insure the concerts regularly during the season.

—The State Pharmaceutical Association will meet in this city next week from Tuesday to Thursday. The committee on arrangements expect over four hundred people to be in attendance. The day business sessions will probably be held in the North opera house. Wednesday evening's entertainment will be the Pillsbury's Vaudeville show, and Thursday evening the dance at Masonic hall.

—A mass meeting of the tax payers and citizens of Platte county is called to meet in Monroe today (Wednesday) to discuss the proposed bonds for a new court house. While it is true that all indications point to the fact that the proposition for bonds will be defeated at the special election next month, still it is hard to understand how the juryman, witnesses and others who have just been in attendance at this present term of the district court can go home and vote against it.

—At a meeting of the board of education some time since the advisability of dispensing with presents, flowers and flower-girls at commencement was discussed. A few days later the matter was laid before the class for their approval, and the custom of sending presents and flowers to the stage at commencement time will in the future be abandoned. Parties having presents that they desire to present to members of the class will please send them to their homes. There will be no flower girls on the stage at the present commencement. Published by order of the board.

—The Tribune tells us we are offering JOURNAL subscribers is larger than any other atlas yet published. It shows each hemisphere sixty inches in circumference, the two combined forming a map of the world four feet by two and a quarter feet. These are only two out of many maps in the large volume. We will give any of our subscribers an opportunity to own one of these books. By paying up your subscription to date and $3.40 you may have the book and one year's subscription in advance to THE JOURNAL. New subscribers may have the two for $3.40.

—The baccalaureate service for the senior class was held Sunday evening at the Congregational church, the class attending in a body. Rev. Rasmussen of the Baptist church dismissed his congregation in order to attend the service. Several special selections of music were furnished by the choir. Rev. Rasmussen read the scripture lesson and offered prayer, after which Rev. Munro gave a short prayer in behalf of the two absent ones of the class, Misses Lida and Rena Turner. The sermon by Rev. Munro was a splendid discourse on "service" talking the words from Mark 1:34-44 as the thought of his talk. A very large congregation were in attendance.

—The Omaha Originals played a game here Sunday with the local base ball club, resulting in a victory for the visitors by a score of 15 to 3. The game was played in Baker's pasture just west of the city limits, Mayor Dickinson having declared that he would tolerate no Sunday ball playing within the city limits. The game had been well advertised and Humphrey, Schuyler, Silver Creek and other neighboring towns were represented. Although badly beaten still Columbus played some ball, Stab and Lohr of the home team each making a three-bagger. Some fine double plays were also made by each team. This is the first game for the Columbus team, and they went against a pretty strong aggregation to start with.

—Postoffice Inspector Swift was in town a few days ago looking up plans for the moving of the office into larger and more commodious quarters. S. C. Gray offers to erect a brick building across the alley south of the present location, 22x50 feet, two stories, with lighting from three sides. J. E. North offers his room about 20x20, now occupied by Mr. Snow, and Echols & Elliott believe their new building which will be built soon on Thirteenth street between Olive and Nebraska avenues, is a proper location for the postoffice. Wherever the selection be made by the government it will probably be done in a few weeks and the lease made for ten years. The Gray proposition seems to be the most popular with the public.

—Here is a list of questions for the progressive boy. Can you answer all of them? You can see any day a white horse, but did you ever see a white cow? How many different kinds of trees grow in your neighborhood, and what are they good for? Why does a horse eat grass backward and a cow forward? Why does a hop vine wind one way and a bean vine the other? Where should a chimney be the larger, at the top or bottom, and why? Can you tell why a horse when tethered with a rope always unravels it, while a cow always twists it into a kinky knot? How old must a grape vine be before it begins to bear? Can you tell why leaves turn upside down just before a rain? What would building be the greatest weight before breaking?

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Jenkins returned Monday noon from a trip of four weeks to California, Washington and other states. They were called home by the death of Mrs. Jenkins' brother, M. K. Turner, but were unable to reach home before the funeral.

The following is taken from Monday's Omaha World-Herald. Mrs. Kate Olafson, mother of the boy, went down Sunday but word has not been received from her as to his death. Sturak has a younger brother in the Philippines: "M. J. Sturak of Columbus, Neb., died early yesterday morning in a local hospital from the effects of injuries received by being run over by a freight train near Minden, and an amputation of one arm at the shoulder, performed later in this city. Sturak has been working in a gang on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific near Minden. He boarded a freight train Saturday, about noon, intending to come to Council Bluffs. It is stated he was discovered by a brakeman on a short distance from Minden, riding on the bumpers between two cars. The brakeman ordered him to jump off, and when he failed to do so pushed him off, it is charged, just as the train was crossing a small bridge. Sturak fell with one arm across the rails, and it was badly mangled. He was brought to this city several hours later and his arm amputated about 5 o'clock. He did not rally well from the operation. He was 24 years old, and one of his brothers, Peter Sturak, lives on North Twenty-eighth street, Omaha. Coroner Tryner will hold an inquest this afternoon." (Since the above was put into type we learn that the remains of the young man will arrive here this Tuesday evening.)

A Small Wreck.
By the breaking of a truck or an axle a wreck was caused one mile west of the Loup river bridge on the Union Pacific Thursday afternoon about 2:30.

The accident happened on an extra east bound in charge of Conductor Wallace. Six cars were derailed and the wreckage piled up high. The cars were loaded with lumber, copper, and one of eggs. A number of tramps who were riding in and on the train climbed out of the wreckage, and strange as it may appear, none were injured except one whose name we did not learn, and he only slightly.

A force of men were set to work at once to clear the track, and by the time the wrecking crew arrived from Omaha at 7 p. m., the track was cleared and open for traffic. Trains were delayed about four hours. The through passenger trains were run between Grand Island and Omaha via Lincoln over the B. & M.

"Do you know why carnations have fallen about 40 per cent in price in the last year or so?" asks a florist quoted by the Philadelphia Record. "It isn't because they are less popular—they are more popular than they ever were—but it is all on account of a little wire machine, recently invented, that costs about three and a half cents. This machine may be described as an automatic tree box of steel wire. It is a couple of feet high, and stands upon three legs. As soon as a carnation begins to grow it is slipped within the machine, and thereafter it remains upright, for this is a series of rings that take hold of it and guide it in its growth. Before the invention of this device the majority of carnations spoiled because when they became tall they fell over and the flowers rotted in the dust. Now none of them spoil, and hence their present cheapness."

Memorial services were held Sunday morning at St. Bonaventura's Catholic church, Rev. Father Scraphim officiating. Baker Post No. 9, G. A. R., veterans of the Spanish-American war and the Sons of Veterans attended. A novel and very pretty feature of the exercises was the meeting of the soldiers within a block of the church by 200 little school children from St. Francis academy who escorted them into the church, the boys on the right side the girls on the left. At the conclusion of the services the girls returned and escorted the soldiers from the church. The church was tastefully and appropriately decorated with flowers, bunting and the national colors. The exercises were largely attended and marked attention was paid to the address, the theme of the speaker's remarks being "Honor to whom honor is due."

Every school building should have a Dictionary, Encyclopedia, Bible and Atlas. We can furnish you the Atlas at a price that will astonish you. This is not an old printed book, but printed this year, 1902, containing the name, population and location in state, of every postoffice in the United States. Besides this, the book has complete maps of every state in the union, many city maps that show the exact location of every block, 48 comparative diagrams giving the statistics of the United States according to the new census and other official sources. In short, you cannot afford to be without it, when you can have it, together with THE JOURNAL for $3.40. See our advertisement on opposite page.

Columbus Won—"Tails Up."

The following from the Fremont Tribune is a good word picture of the fight for the fusion congressional convention to be held here July 15th:

The democratic and populist congressional conventions will not come to Fremont this year, Columbus having captured them both at the committee meetings held at Norfolk Monday evening. It was only after a long contest of three hours, however, that Columbus won out, and then the result of the fight was decided by the flipping of a dollar. The date for the conventions was fixed upon July 15.

On the first ballot in the democratic committee, Columbus had three votes more than Fremont. Wayne and Norfolk also received some support. A parliamentary war ensued which lasted beyond midnight, and meanwhile Norfolk and its contiguous territory got together with the purpose of throwing the convention to that city. George Coddington for Fremont and G. W. Phillips for the Platte county capital at once saw that if the fight were continued along the same lines Norfolk would win out.

Mr. Coddington accordingly went to Mr. Phillips and proposed that a dollar be tossed up to determine whether Columbus or Fremont should receive the undivided support of the southern counties. The proposition was accepted and someone was found who had the necessary coin.

"Heads," announced Mr. Coddington. "Tails," said Mr. Phillips.

The dollar flew into the air and when it came down a crowd of eager men bent over it. Tails was up and Columbus had won. It was not necessary to take another ballot, as the understanding had been so definite that the location of the convention depended upon the turning of the cart wheel alone.

In the populist committee meeting, the vote was a man in favor of Fremont. The democratic committee men from Platte and other counties, however, would not consent to a joint ballot as that would have given this city a majority of one. R. D. Kelly was the Fremont representative in the populist row-wo.
