Benedict of Omaha was in the city several days looking over the plant with a view to putting in a gas plant for lighting purposes. It is claimed the light is better than the electric and the plant would be run so that light could be used day and night. A private company of citizens here may be formed to establish the plant. Robert Lewis returned last week from his western trip. He reports having had a fine time, stopping a few days each at Denver, Salt Lake, Oakland, San Jose and Los Angeles. While at the latter place he met Henry Bran. Mr. Lewis says California is a nice place for a man of means to live but advises workingmen to keep away. The concert last Tuesday evening in the Presbyterian church given under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society, was attended by a large audience; the program was excellent throughout, but the audience did not seem to become very enthusiastic until after the piano selections by Prof. Cunningham when they gave him a hearty encore. G. T. Everett left Saturday for his home in Fairfield, Iowa, where he will remain about a week. On returning the work of canvassing for the new telephone system will be continued, and in about two weeks work will be begun in putting in poles, etc. Messrs. Cottingham & Everett expect the work to be completed and the lines ready for use by November. Rural lines will be put in at the same time. Bonnie Warnick, aged 15 years, was found guilty of theft last Tuesday in Judge Ratterman's court, and was sent to the Genoa industrial school, where she was taken by Sheriff Byrnes Wednesday morning. Neighbors have missed many articles at various times and the evidence went to show that she would be back before the time when she was a national and moral training could be had than to be allowed to remain at home and continue her evil ways.

Mrs. E. H. Hensman entertained about twenty young lady friends Friday evening in honor of her niece, Mrs. Bev. Hayes (nee Jessie Williams), who has been visiting here several weeks. A book guessing game was the amusement of the evening. Each guest was given a card with an illustration drawn or painted thereon, which represented the name of a book. "In His Steps" was a boy stepping in the footsteps of a man. The drawings which were mostly done in water colors and pen and ink, were the hand work of Miss Rose Stauffer. John Tetan, a farmer who has lived near Onawa for about ten years, was arrested Saturday in Clarab and brought here for trial. He was arrested on the charge of Wm. Webster of Monroe for forging a note of $113.40. There are a number of other notes given that are probably forgeries and which are in the hands of attorneys. Mr. Tetan was brought before Judge Wagner's court Monday morning and asked for a continuance of the case until Thursday. Judge Duffy is the attorney for defendant and Whitmoyer & Gendring for the State. Albert Stenger left with us one day last week a sample of apples from his orchard that were good to look upon. They were of good size, without blemish and of fine flavor, and THE JOURNAL hopes the day is not far distant when every farmer can boast of his fruit orchard. There was a time in the history of Nebraska when it was thought the apple tree could not be grown successfully here, but that day has gone by and now there are thousands of bushels gathered annually and the fruit is pronounced the very best as regards flavor, etc. Why not have an orchard? A delegation composed of J. G. Reeder, W. A. McAllister, T. W. Adams, E. H. Chambers and S. C. Gray visited Senator Millard last Thursday at Omaha in the interest of the Gray location for the postoffice. On Friday, H. Ragatz, A. M. Post, Dr. Hansen and George Scott held a council with the senator in the interest of the Echols building. I. Gluck and Garrett Hulst also called on the senator Friday to advocate the Gray location. There will probably be nothing done immediately in the matter, but Senator Millard will make a thorough investigation of the situation before any definite action is taken. THE JOURNAL begins today the publication in another column, the proposed amendment to the state constitution. It is the duty of every voter to carefully study this before going to the polls next November and in order that all may read it the law provides that it be published in at least one paper in every county in the state, three months prior to the election. The proposed amendment, agreed to by the necessary three-fifths majority of the last legislature, is to enable us to amend the constitution hereafter by a majority vote on the proposition instead of as now by a majority of all the votes cast at the election. The Central Nebraska Assembly which will be held near Fullerton, in the beautiful Lover's Leap Park, Aug. 12 to 22, promises to be the largest attended gathering of the kind in this part of the state. The managers of the assembly have engaged many entertainers of national reputation and will expend a thousand dollars on their program alone. The Fullerton people have put the grounds in excellent condition for campers, and any one spending a vacation could not enjoy a day outing better anywhere than at the Fullerton assembly. A rate of one fare for the round trip has been arranged for over several lines of railroad. Mr. Walter Loyd has purchased the entire banking stock of the Bellwood bank from Judge Post of York. Our new bank will now be offered as follows: Walter Loyd, president; James Dell, cashier. The new officers and members are well known to everybody in the community and it is unnecessary for the Gazette to say a word in their praise. Everybody will be glad that the bank has turned into a home institution. Mr. Bickley who has been here for some time as cashier for Mr. Post, will remain in the bank yet for a week or more. He is a very pleasant gentleman to do business with and has many friends while among us.—Bellwood Gazette. The game of ball Sunday between Columbus and Fremont was witnessed by a large crowd and all got out of money except the score stood 4 to 4 at the end of the ninth. Gregory was taken out of the box in the early stage of the game, and Willie Dolan showed the older boys how to pitch ball; he plays just like his uncle of the Omaha league team, and Fremont failed to find him. Ed Kavanagh made the hit that brought in the winning run in the eleventh and the grand stand broke loose in cheers. The score was 5 to 4 in favor of the home team. Batteries, Columbus, Gregory, Dolan and Judewine; Fremont, Baum, Shannon, Umpire, McFayden. Adolph Sauer died Tuesday evening July 22, at 5:20 o'clock after an illness of eight weeks, from stomach trouble and typhoid fever. Mr. Sauer was born March 4, 1867, on the banks of Lake Geneva, Switzerland, and was the oldest of a family of twelve children. Max, who is in the U. S. navy, and Gus, living in Chicago, together with their mother who resides in this city, are the only ones living of the once large family. Mr. Sauer moved with his parents from Switzerland to Illinois when 12 years old, and from there to Columbus four years later. He learned the tailor trade with his father who had charge of that department in Kramer Bro's store at that time. Of late years he has been a bar tender. On April 27, 1922, he was married to Miss Frieda Scholten and on the following day went to Lincoln with Company K, First Nebraska Volunteers of which he was sergeant, but was discharged by the examining surgeons as not having strong lung power. Mrs. Sauer was a devoted nurse during her husband's last illness. Funeral services were held at the home on Nebraska Avenue, H. J. Hudson conducting same. The Sons of Herman, Orphans society and City Band all marching to the cemetery, the Sons of Herman having in charge the impressive ritual services at that order at the grave. Mr. Sauer was a young man of happy disposition and a favorite among his many acquaintances.

Herman Berringer, who some eight years ago worked at the printing business in this city, but who of late years has held a position in the government printing office at Washington, D. C., arrived here Monday last and will visit the family of his brother-in-law, E. M. Eisenman, for several days. He was accompanied by his wife and mother, the latter having been living with her daughter, Mrs. Loeb, at Nebraska City. Mr. Berringer tells us that his brother Charles, another old-time Columbus boy, has a position in the Waltham Watch factory at Waltham, Mass. Mr. Berringer has a vacation of six weeks, the most of which time will be spent in the west prior to returning to the capital city. John J. Dickinson, living south of Monroe on the Loop, received a few days ago his papers in proving up on a homestead. Mr. Dickinson's parents were old settlers in the same neighborhood, but the homestead just proved up had never been taken from the government in all these years. The farm as it now stands is suitable more for grazing than any other purpose, but is well worth the cost the government asks for obtaining possession. THE JOURNAL is now publishing a final proof notice of Mary Dronz who has a homestead near Duncan. It has been a good many years since the homestead days in Platte county, and the publication of these notices has caused considerable comment and recollections of pioneer days by the old settlers. John Lehmann died at his home in the eastern part of town, this Tuesday morning after a short illness lasting but three days. Mr. Lehmann was born August 1, 1862, in Wurtemberg, Germany, and came to America when but 17 years of age. The past ten years he has made Columbus his home and for about three years past has been engaged in the real estate business, the firm being known as Lehmann & Herchenhan. Mr. Lehmann was married October 7, 1894, to Miss Anna Riener, who with two young sons, survive him. He also leaves his parents, one sister and four brothers, all residing in Germany. Mrs. Eisinger, of this city and an aunt in Iowa are the only relatives in America. At the hour of going to press arrangements for the funeral had not been completed. The family will have the sympathy of all friends and neighbors in their affliction. Martha Howard, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Howard, died at the family home on west Thirtieth street Monday morning at about 7 o'clock from inflammation of the bowels. Martha was taken sick Thursday evening and although everything possible was done for her welfare to relieve the patient suffering, she passed to the great beyond, where pain and sorrow are not known. Martha was born at Papillion April 24, 1891. She was a beautiful child both in appearance and character, a favorite among her large circle of acquaintances. The home will be saddened by her absence and the home beyond will have more attraction for her loved ones left on earth. The family have sincere heartfelt sympathy of the whole community in their bereavement. Funeral services will be held this Wednesday afternoon from the home. The ball game Friday between Springfield and Columbus called at 4 p. m. was stopped by the rain. A fair sized crowd was out to witness the sport and until the shower came up a very interesting game was put up by both teams, neither side being able to get a man around to the home plate, although Springfield had two men on third during the four innings. The rain came down in drops as large as marbles, and to those who were in the grand stand the storm seemed more violent than on the outside. Most of the crowd stayed for town through the mud and rain, but soon the Springfield game. As the team from down the Platte was here for two games both were played on Saturday and won by Columbus, as the Springfield sluggers were unable to spring Loeb's curves to any appreciable extent, being able in the fourteen innings of the two games to make but four hits, two of which netted runs. Score first game, Columbus 2; Springfield 0. Second game, Columbus 9; Springfield 2. The Washington Post recently gave a lengthy account of Charles B. Hanford who played "The Taming of the Shrew" here last week. We clip a portion of the article: "We call the small coterie of actors who have been presenting Shakespearean and classic drama during recent years no one has been more faithful or consistent than Mr. Charles B. Hanford. Out of the 20 years that he has been on the stage, 18 have been devoted to this line. Mr. Hanford has just returned to town after a season of thirty-five weeks through the west and the south, where he made a big hit as Petruchio in "The Taming of the Shrew." This was the only piece used by Mr. Hanford. It was preceded by a curtain-raiser, called "The Old Guard." In thirty-five weeks Mr. Hanford appeared in thirty-four states and traveled 19,000 miles. He says that while his success has been remarkably successful in all the towns on his route, those in Iowa, Texas, Nebraska and the states comprising the great Northwest seemed to be the greatest admirers of Shakespeare."
