OSCEOLA is to have a new $7,000 auditorium.

IT is estimated that it will require $3,164,308 to run the state of Nebraska the next two years.

SENATOR MILLARD leaves Omaha today (Tuesday) for Washington where he expects to remain until after March 1.

IT seems to be a settled fact that Congressman Cannon of Illinois will be the next speaker of the house of representatives.

ACCORDING to late figures there were 40,000 less votes cast at this year's Nebraska state election over the vote of two years ago.

THE Nebraska state board of public lands and buildings has negotiated for the purchase of $300,000 bonds as an investment for the permanent school fund.

OWING to the bitter fight waged against J. H. Mickey for governor his plurality was the smallest on the ticket, 5,355 and Fowler for superintendent the largest—16,272.

FRED. SMITH, a coal dealer of St. Louis, was fined $500 the other day in police court for delivering a short weight load of coal to a patron. The judge gave him the maximum penalty prescribed by law.

CAMPBELL BROS'. circus has returned to Fairbury for the winter. This is a Nebraska product and the management of the show report the best business this season of any since they have been on the road.

THE statement is made in a telegram received at Omaha recently, Manitoba claims that of its total population, 3,000 were formerly Nebraskans, who took property with them to Canada to the estimated amount of $5,000,000.

AT the state woman's suffrage convention to be held in Tecumseh, December 2 to 4, one evening is given over to the men, when Governor-elect J. H. Mickey, A. L. Bixby, W. M. Maupin and other prominent men will address the public.

MCCARTHY'S plurality over Robinson for congress in this district according to the official count is 660, the total vote for McCarthy being 19,201, while Robinson's total was 18,541. Beveridge, the prohibition candidate, received a total of 632 in the district.

THE Baltimore American is of the opinion that railroads are now making legitimate profits enough to pay their increase in wages. It will not be necessary nor good policy for them to put an extra tax on the public in the way of increased freight rates.

WHEN railroads have more business on hand than they can comfortably handle, observes the Washington Star, it is difficult to see why any of them should feel the necessity of combining to hold up rates. A project to increase facilities, would appear to be more in keeping with the situation.

A STORY is going the rounds of the state press to the effect that a reindeer five years old was captured one day last week in a pasture four miles east of Superior. The animal fiercely fought the four men who captured it, and partly stripped the clothing off one of them. It is supposed that it had escaped from some show or Santa Claus.

THE Crete Democrat takes little comfort in the result of the election. The following might be prefaced with the remark that but for a certain republican paper the democrats would not have had this grain of comfort: "The election of G. M. Hitchcock in the Second district is one of the bright spots in the democratic gloom, today."

THE Commercial club of Schuyler met recently to agitate the building of a bridge across the Platte river. One of the propositions advanced is to plank the B. & M. railroad bridge and pay the railroad company a specified sum of money each year for the keeping of it in repair. A few of the business men of that city have become convinced that Schuyler is not receiving her share of business from the surrounding country, and the Sun scores them severely for their lethargy in allowing the neighbor towns to secure their trade.

THE Lincoln Journal says: "In line with the talk that the Burlington is to shorten its line to Grand Island about nine miles and avoid the heavy grade at Germantown by building a cut-off west of Milford, a railroad map maker says the main line of the Burlington to the west could be shortened by building from Milford to McCool Junction, where the K. C. & O. lines of the road join. It is claimed a good grade could also be obtained. The building of the cut-off west of Milford would give the road practically a double track line from Lincoln to Tamora or Utica."

THE Sidney Telegraph says: "Again the country is full of land buyers and the past sixty days will see more land change hands in Cheyenne county than has been sold during the past three years. The Union Pacific and Burlington railroads have flooded the eastern country with land literature showing how cheap these lands are and what they produced the past season. The divide lands of this county are selling considerably cheaper now than they will ninety days hence. Now is the time, if at all, for the small stockman and farmer to shut out the eastern buyers and speculators and secure all the land they possibly can."

GROWING EXPORTS OF MANUFACTURES.

It is a gratifying fact that the foreign demand for American manufactures has been increasing throughout the year. For nine months ending with September the total was $311,302,441, against $208,660,551 in the corresponding months of last year. Only once has the record of the present year been surpassed, and that was in 1900, when the total for the nine months was $338,678,000. The manufactures of the United States are sending abroad each day an average of $1,153,000 of their products and this field for their activities is steadily expanding. Ten years ago the demand for American manufactured articles was only one-third as great as now. The $100,000,000 aggregate for nine months was passed in 1899, the $200,000,000 mark in 1897, and the $300,000,000 mark in 1900. Special reasons existed for the falling off in exports last year. Copper was extremely high and the home demand for iron and steel taxed all channels of supply to the utmost. In the first three-quarters of the present year the increase in the imports of iron and steel amounts to $13,000,000 or double that for the same months in 1901. While it is true that the sale of American manufactures abroad is a small item compared with the home demand, yet it is gratifying to know that the world is constantly learning more about the excellence of the products turned out by our enterprising establishments and skilled artisans.

Our cotton manufactures sold abroad in nine months of the present year are valued at $26,168,173, against $19,689,608 last year. This increase is highly acceptable, for we raise the cotton and should manufacture it to a far greater extent. In this item the southern states, with their multiplying cotton mills, have a deep and permanent interest. American shoes have become noted in Europe and are sought on account of their unequaled style and sound workmanship. The exports of leather and its manufactures are $22,593,288, against $21,440,978 last year. Gains are seen also in agricultural implements, wood manufactures, paper, tobacco, fibers, books, maps, explosives, paints, clocks and watches, wool, jewelry, copper, liquors and paraffins. This wide range of growing exports of manufactures is one of the best assurances of continued prosperity.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE FEEDING VALUE OF SOFT CORN.

It seems to be pretty well established by the analyses made at Ames, says Wallace's Farmer, that the dry matter of soft corn, pound for pound, has about the same feeding value as that of well matured corn. It seems tolerably clear that it will require about twenty per cent more soft shelled corn to make 100 pounds of dry matter than of mature corn. The conclusion which seems to be drawn, therefore, is that by giving twenty per cent, or one-fifth, more of this soft corn the same results can be secured. This we think is a mistake although at first sight it would seem to be quite reasonable. Corn is usually fed in the ear and we are quite sure that farmers will find that it takes more than twenty per cent additional grain in the ear to make 100 pounds of weight.

We think it safe to assume that the additional water in the soft corn this year takes the place of the grain which the season failed to place there and put in water instead. This being the case, 70 pounds of ears, which heretofore made 56 pounds of corn and 14 pounds, or twenty per cent, of cob, will this year yield only 44.8 pounds of corn and thirty-eight per cent of cob. In other words, the proportion of corn to cob this year in the soft corn section will be very much less than in ordinary years; in fact, there will be nearly double the number of pounds of cob in proportion to the corn that there was in previous years. The farmer will, therefore, need to feed at least thirty per cent more of his soft corn to produce the same results than he would of corn with the usual amount of water content.

The farmer, however, need not spend much time in speculating on the feeding value of his corn. All he has to do is to take 70 pounds of ear corn of average quality, hang it up in the kitchen or in some other good place for a few days and let it dry out until it is in about the condition that corn will be next spring, then weigh it and find out how much water it has lost. Then shell, and weigh the cobs.

WEDNESDAY'S Lincoln Star says: "Peter Mortensen will be 'high man' on the republican state ticket. On the face of the returns late this afternoon his majority was 16,012. The figures were still in the process of being checked up, and the clerical errors may slightly change the result. Mr. Mortensen's total vote is 100,942. Mr. Lyman, his opponent, polled 84,930. Mr. Fowler ranks next. Mr. Smith, his competitor, polled 84,708. Mr. Fowler got 99,711. This gives him a majority of 15,003. Mr. Follmer got a slightly lower vote than Mr. Fowler, but he appears to have a larger majority. He got 99,394. Mr. Brennan's vote was 84,104. This leaves a majority for Mr. Follmer of 15,290. Mr. Marsh got 99,126 votes. His majority over Powers is 12,984. Mr. West is next to Mr. Mortensen in regard to majority. His plurality is 15,677. Mr. Weston's total vote was 98,647. Mr. De France got 82,970. McGilton got 98,320, Gilbert 87,013.

A SWEDE girl worked for us six or eight years. She had laid by several hundred dollars and last fall she concluded to go back to Sweden. She had no relatives in this country. She came alone and was not afraid to go back alone. She did not call it a visit, but was going back to stay. We told her she would be sick for home and come back. After about six months she did come back and brought a sister and two other girls with her. We asked her why she did not stay and work in Sweden. She said that $27 a year was the highest wages paid for girls and they had to work half of the time in the summer in the fields planting, pulling weeds and harvesting crops. She said: "My sister and I together are receiving $8 a week doing the housework for one family and we are living much better. Over there it is brown bread, vegetables, seldom ever any meat, butter, sugar, tea or coffee." —Central Farmer.

R. P. CLARKSON, the veteran newspaper man of Des Moines, Iowa, has just been selected as pension agent for the district composing Iowa and Nebraska.

THE U. S. Year Book for 1901 of the Department of Agriculture has been issued by the government. The frontispiece contains the portrait of the late J. Sterling Morton of our state. A number of pages are devoted to the subject of timber resources of Nebraska with several illustrations including photographs from the sand hills in Holt county and of pine timber in Dawes and Sheridan counties. The authorities at Washington are evidently making a practical study of the timber question in Nebraska. We quote the following in regard to the subject: "On account of its high value in general utility and commerce the planted timber of Nebraska has a good influence upon the social well-being of the state. Nebraska farmers know that their pleasant home surroundings are largely the result of their own labors. They have changed the wild prairie into productive farms, and in the midst of barrenness have reared comfortable homes and surrounded them with trees, until the whole state is a picture of rural comfort. The beauty of the state like its resources, has been elevated by slow, painstaking work. Each successful plantation in Nebraska by benefiting one portion has improved the entire region. The government for this reason is interested in the promotion of individual planting until every land owner shall plant in quantity sufficient for his needs. In Nebraska the government has a further duty. In the state it owns 9,798,688 acres of land, the larger body of which centers in the region known as the sand hills." Then follows an account of experimental growth of pine trees in Holt and other counties, and the opinion expressed that in all probability all this will result in the reclamation of the sand hill region.

NEBRASKA had 7,740,556 acres of corn planted in 1901, producing 109,141,840 bushels which were valued at $58,936,594. This makes an average of nearly 54c a bushel. One interesting feature is that Nebraska stands fourth in acreage and third in number of bushels. Iowa had 230,264,550 bushels and Illinois comes next with 198,025,713 bushels. Nebraska produced 42,006,885 bushels of wheat in 1901 and was fifth in the rank, Kansas standing way ahead of any other state with a record of 99,079,304 bushels. Nebraska raised 39,065,222 bushels of oats last year and stands sixth on the record with Iowa first, having raised 122,304,564 bushels. Iowa reports the greater number of young chickens raised which were 18,907,673. The United States exported 459,218 cattle in 1901. These figures are taken from a government report.

THE Springfield Republican says that never before probably in the history of railroading has there been so extensive an advance of wages by the voluntary action of the companies as is now going on. The example of the Pennsylvania is being followed in whole or part by the New York Central, the Reading, the Union Pacific, and, as reported, by the Lake Shore, the Wheeling & Lake Erie, "Big Four" and "Nickel Plate" roads, all closely related to the Vanderbilt interest. Something like 300,000 men will be affected by wage increases either already granted within a few days or practically determined upon. This is the way to broaden the foundation of a prosperity which has been in great danger of becoming top heavy.

HERR KRUPP, the great gun-maker and the richest man in Germany, died suddenly at Essen at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon of apoplexy. Moderate estimates of his fortune place it at $125,000,000. He made great sums by supplying armor plate for the new navy. Besides his iron works and shipyards he had an interest in many financial enterprises and recently had acquired extensive coal properties in connection with the North German Lloyd Steamship company. He leaves a widow and two daughters who are at school, one named Barbara, aged 17, and the second named Bertha, aged 15.

THE Omaha World-Herald asked to know how the republicans made a price of 35 and 40 cents for corn, and the Fremont Tribune answers the query very correctly in these words: "It was done by establishing confidence; opening the mills, giving employment to labor and increasing its purchasing power. These have enlarged the demand and the demand has increased the price, in spite of a very large supply. It is all plain enough when you come to examine the question. We are surprised at the ignorance of the World-Herald, whose editor was elected to congress a week or so ago."

School Notes.

The enrollment for the High school is 90. The average attendance this month was 98.5.

The Seniors have selected subjects for orations and will hand in their first productions for examination December 1.

The third number of the High School Reflector has just been published. The cover page of this number contains a half tone cut of the foot ball team. This issue is perhaps the most interesting one that has been published this year.

Dr. Paul loaned to the B. G. C. '04 Physiology class the three bones of the human ear, anvil, hammer and stirrup and Dr. Tiessing has consented to loan for the same work his valuable microscope and fine outfit of appochromatic and oil emersion lens. These will be used for Bacteriology.

An interesting experiment was performed in chemistry class showing the decomposition of water by means of iron. Hydrogen was prepared in the laboratory by passing steam through an iron tube containing small pieces of iron heated to redness. The oxygen of the steam then united with the iron, forming "magnetic oxide of iron," and hydrogen was given off and collected, in bottles, over water.

Our High school has accepted the question for debate submitted by Seward; "Resolved, That cities should own and control their own franchises." Columbus takes the affirmative. The Seward High school offers to entertain all of the Columbus people who may accompany our debaters. Now is the time to stand up for Columbus. Why not a hundred or more take advantage of the hospitality of the Seward people? December 19 is the date fixed.

PERSONAL MENTION

L. Gluck is at Tarnov today.

Bert Stillman is visiting in Fremont.

Miss Lyda McMahon was in Osceola Monday.

Chris. Gruenther was in Fremont last Thursday.

Miss Katherine Speice will visit Thursday in Omaha.

Charles Bloedorn of Platte Center was in the city Monday.

Judge Duffy was in Silver Creek Wednesday on business.

E. M. Eisenman is on a trip to the north part of the county this week.

Mrs. J. J. Sullivan and Miss Maud Parker were in Lincoln last Wednesday.

Mrs. Rasmussen went to Tarnov Friday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Schram.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Rickly of Omaha visited the family of W. T. Rickly over Sunday.

James Fagan returned home to Omaha Saturday after a visit here to his uncle, V. A. Macken.

J. T. Speicer of Hazelton, Kansas, a brother-in-law of C. J. Garlow, is visiting his relatives here.

Mrs. C. S. Easton and little daughter returned Wednesday from a visit to relatives in Silver Creek.

John Horst and daughter, Miss Gretchen, of Madison, were guests of the Wilson and Jaeggi families Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Bradley of Montera, California, are visiting Mrs. Bradley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Elston.

Mrs. Joseph Dawson left Sunday, by way of Grand Island, for her home in Kansas City, after a few weeks' visit with her relatives here.

Mrs. George Brodfuehrer returned Wednesday from a few days' visit with her mother in David City. George also visited there a few days.

Miss Clara Brown of Cedar Rapids visited relatives here last week on her way home from South Omaha. She also visited her brother E. G. Brown in Humphrey.

Mesdames C. E. Pollock, J. C. Echols and R. Jenkinson went to Silver Creek Friday to spend a few days with their brother, Horace Hudson and family, returning Monday. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hudson will also go Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with their son.

District 44 and Vicinity.

Paul Duffy, the mail carrier, camped Saturday noon near O. Quinn's chicken coop.

The threshers are busy these short days cleaning up the remaining jobs which will be finished this week.

Eva Drinnin has been on the sick list and under doctor's treatment for a week. Indigestion, we believe, to be the cause.

Henry Engel has leased the Larry Byrnes farm for a term of years and moved onto the same last week. He will work his own farm of 120 acres also. Mr. E. has plenty of help growing up and will soon be able to make the dirt fly.

The peach buds are far advanced caused by the soil being saturated with the fall rains and the warm weather. If the weather should change suddenly in this month and the thermometer get as low as 18° below we have some doubts about the peach buds surviving.

In driving through the country now a person can tell the tasty, model, up-to-date farmers, if by no other means, than to see the weeds neatly cut along the roadside surrounding his farm. There are farmers whose eyes and ears are closed to everything needful except the crowed $. If any wish to plead guilty, let them hold up their hand.

Farmers are getting their corn out and putting it into large cribs and piles as fast as it is safe this warm weather, and to insure its keeping, we should have more cold weather, and we believe the present corn market is all the farmers could ask. If we were going to sell our corn some time this winter, we would be willing to contract at the present prices, as we believe new corn will be lower in December.

MA'S "FIXIN'S."

Guess I don't care if summer's gone an' it is purt' nigh winter.
I got a ma that owns things right an' plenty of 'em too;
An' purty soon th' snows 'll come an' then ma she'll begin to Bring them air good ol' preserves up, an' I'm a tellin' you
They's been' t' last us quite a spell, f'r down there in the cellar
They's rows an' rows o' fruit jars full—an' 'tain't no laughten stuff,
An' ma she knows 'at it's all pure an' it won't hurt a feller,
But she'll just let me eat an' eat till I have got enough.

Th' swingin' shelves is all chock full o' quinces, plums an' cherries,
An' rows an' rows o' marmelade, o' jolly an' o' jam;
Peach butter? Say, them jars is full, an' them cans hold strawberries—
All home-made stuff my ma put up—no canin' fact'ry sham
Pa says a man can eat ma's fruit until his eyes are bulgin'
An' never have t' take no stuff t' cure a awful ache;
An' ma she says it does her good t' see us both indulgin'
In all we want o' her preserves an' toppin' off with cake.

An' pickles! Say, you'd ought t' see what ma she made last summer,
Cowcumbers, wottermelon rin's, tomater sauce an' slch.
At fixin' up good things like them you bet my ma's a hummer,
An' pa an' me just smile with joy when into 'em we pitch.
An' mangoes soaked in vinegar with cabbage cut for stuffin',
Some onions pickled good an' hot, an' sour kraut in th' brine!
I guess my ma has got 'em all, she never forgits nuthin'—
I bet there ain't a boy in town that's got a ma like mine.

Stoves! Stoves!

The factories have made another advance in stoves, owing to the scarcity of material, but Easton's Red Front Hardware is still selling at the same low price and will as long as his present large stock lasts. A Wrong Idea.

While the Democrats are talking that the combines whose products are protected by the United States tariff system should be cut out of such protection because they have outgrown the necessity for protection, it develops that such are not the facts. A conspicuous instance is that the rolling mills of Europe are called upon now to work at their full capacity to help the mills of this country to supply the demand for steel products. Other iron goods are also needed beyond the capacity of American plants. With the tariff kept at the protective point American plants will be enlarged to do all the work necessary for this country. With the tariff taken off, with Democratic free trade, the European mills would hold that trade and gain more as this country grew. American steel and iron workers would then come into direct competition with foreign labor, and wages would go down. The trust would not be crushed. The workers would be crushed. There is nothing plainer than that the Democratic idea is wrong from first to last.

Unfortunate.

It is unfortunate for the country and still more so for the Republican party that the debate in the senate on the Philippine bill has taken a partisan turn.—Philadelphia Ledger.

But not at all unfortunate that the Democrats have made it a partisan measure by denouncing the patriotism of our army and are berating Republicans for defending our loyal soldiers. However, the soldiers are mostly from the masses who work for a living, and if there is any one on the face of God's green earth despised and hated by Democratic free traders it is the American laborer. The Ledger is too good a paper to join, however slightly, with the foes of our soldiers merely because they are mostly breadwinners.

THEY'R E HERE!

MAKES: COLUMBIA, VICTOR, IDEAL, DEERE, CORTLAND

THEY'RE here now, so you will not have to wait. Bright, new and handsome, each one perfectly finished and the prettiest line ever shown in Columbus. No useless trappings on these buggies—the price is put into material, workmanship and finish. Each one is ready to hitch your horse to, and the price won't make a heavy load to carry. They're here, but they're going. Can't I send one your way? Inquiry and inspection desired.

STYLES: BUGGIES, SURREYS, PHAETONS, RUNABOUTS, ROADWAGONS

SHABBY CLOTHES

Eat up a man's confidence. The poorly dressed man is afraid to push ahead—it brings his clothes into prominence, and thus makes him uncomfortable. He usually gets ready-to-wear clothing. Sometimes it fits him and sometimes it doesn't. It gets worn and shabby, and still he is compelled to wear it. For about the price of ready-made clothes we could have made him an elegant suit, perfect fit, style and finish. A full line of fall goods.
