-Rev. Halsey of this city and Rev. Adams of Monroe will exchange pulpits in the Presbyterian churches of the two towns next Sunday.
-I have a nice stock of geraniums for house or bedding. Also ferns and other ornamental plants at very low prices. Mrs. A. Smith.
-Wm. J. Eisenman of Oconee and Mary Ellen Hawk were united in marriage last Wednesday, Rev. Rasmussen performing the ceremony.
-Miss Ellen Brown has resigned as teacher in district 65, near St. Edward. Her place will probably be filled by Miss Margaret Ragan for the remainder of the term.
-M. Vogel has purchased of I. Subbensen the store building west of M. Casan's meat market on Thirteenth street, and contemplates starting a saloon there.
-Forty car loads of cinders are being used this week by the Union Pacific between the city and the Loup bridge as ballast where the late high water damaged the roadbed.
-One farmer south of the Loup found a hay stack after the flood, which had floated down stream, with a litter of little pigs about two days old on the top, all living and contented.
-The Sunday Omaha News gave a picture of Mrs. Braggold of this city, portraying her at the wash tub. The account gives an exaggerated description of her loss during the flood last week.
-E. H. Jenkins was down from his Madison county ranch over Sunday visiting his family. He is making some valuable improvements in the way of buildings for the comfort of his stock.
-Fred Ulrich and sister, Mrs. Minnie Lipp, started Monday evening for Virginia where Mrs. Lipp will remain with her husband who has located on a farm there. Fred will return after a visit of about a month.
-Judge Post returned Saturday from a few days' visit to Chicago. Mrs. Post returned from the same city on Monday after spending several weeks with her daughter, who underwent an operation. Miss Post is now much improved.
-The following suits have been filed in Justice Wagner's court: Robt. O'Brien vs. Al. Davis for $22.50 on account; G. R. Coleman vs. James R. Robinson, $95 on a note; C. E. Williamson vs. Guy O. Toulson, $155 for land commission.
-We learn from the Platte Center Signal that Pat Hayes' family are about to move to Washington to join Pat, who has been there something over a year. Mrs. Hayes announces a sale of household goods for the 26th of this month.
-Every effort has been made by the citizens of Fullerton to find the body of A. P. Jarvis who was drowned in the Loup river while crossing in a boat last Tuesday. No trace has as yet been found. Mr. Jarvis was chief of the fire department in Fullerton.
-Miss Iva Robinson and Miss Clara Robinson of Genoa were in town Saturday on the way to their schools south of Genoa. They were unable to cross the river at Genoa and had to come to Columbus to reach their destination. Miss Iva Johnson is a niece of Miss Hattie Baker.
-County Clerk Phillips received a letter Monday from officials in Nance county inquiring about the cost, etc., of our Loup wagon bridge. Nance county lost their wagon bridges over the Loup at Palmer, Fullerton and Genoa during the flood, and estimate their loss at over $60,000.
-Work has begun on the new dwelling of C. E. Follock on west Fourteenth street. The structure is to be two-story, with attic, colonial style of architecture, and when completed will be one of the largest, handsomest and costliest residences in the city. C. J. Scott & Son are the contractors.
-Charles Gow, for several months an employe at the Thurston hotel, left the city Thursday taking the horse and buggy belonging to the hotel with him to Schuyler where they were found in a livery barn. Mr. Gow is charged with having taken money and articles from the hotel which did not belong to him.
-Schuyler Smn: F. A. Lawrence of Columbus, formerly of Richland, was in the city Wednesday on business. James Fambles of Columbus will be in the county jail. The Puskey Jail company and H. E. Woods of this city could not come to an agreement and the contract was closed with the Columbus man.
-At the school board meeting last Tuesday the board decided to offer the mother of graduation to Guy's Exam and Principal Bickel will determine whether the class shall have an center or if each one shall participate in the program. One hundred dollars was allowed for expenses for the graduation.
-All young men of the city are requested to meet in the common chamber this Tuesday evening. Rev. Halsey is endeavoring to organize a young men's club which will be for social intercourse, athletic games, etc. The meeting tonight will be in the nature of a social and a cordial invitation is extended to all young men.
-In the session of the North Nebraska Teachers' Association to be held here April 1, 2 and 3, the Fremont Tribune gives the place of meeting at Norfolk instead of Columbus. Norfolk has had the meeting so many times in past years that it has become accustomed to receiving the honors even when others have the work to perform.
-The irrigation dam over the Cedar river at Erickson, went out last Saturday at 2 o'clock. It is not known yet the extent of damage done there, but the river at Cedar Rapids was eighteen inches higher on account of the break. The dam was about half a mile wide and two miles long, was well constructed and a favorite pleasure resort for miles around.
-Fire Chief L. F. Gottschalk is placing in all homes having telephones the different fire districts of the city printed cards giving instructions what to do in case of a fire. A very little study will make it plain to all, and if properly used will be a great benefit to women in locating fire, and save precious minutes in making their runs at such times.
-Work on the foundation walls of the new two-story brick store building on North street was begun last week and will be pushed to completion. We understand the lower floors will be occupied by a stock of dry goods for the accommodation of the Gray Mercantile Company's patrons and the upper floors fitted up for offices. James Parnell has the contract.
-Harry Beardley has been appointed rural letter carrier, and Earle Weaver his substitute. Beardley takes the place of John Huber who recently resigned. Paul Duffy has had his route and was delivering mail as Huber's substitute, but the inspector decided that the substitute could not continually take the place of the regular carrier which leaves Duffy out.
-The concert given by the Auditorium orchestra last Tuesday evening was well attended and a decided success from a musical standpoint. The selections rendered were of the highest class and the leader, Mr. Joseph Bensch, deserves great credit for the progress of the organization. Miss Lottie Hockenberger was heartily encoored for the vocal solo she so charmingly rendered.
-D. D. Benedict of Sioux City, an evangelist from the Northwest Iowa conference of the Methodist church, will assist Rev. Luce in holding revival services here, beginning with April 5. Announcement had been made that the services would begin with the first week of April but the plans have been changed on account of the teachers' association meeting in the city April 1, 2 and 3.
-G. W. Brown of Cedar Rapids, was a Columbus visitor, returning home today. Mr. Brown was one of the old settlers of Columbus, and among the very first teachers of the city schools. Later he went to Cedar Rapids before for miles distant all that could be seen, was hills. Cedar Rapids is now a very thriving village in a thrifty well settled community.
-John Schmoeker has received word from Rev. Englehart, a former resident of Polk county but the past ten years of Julesburg, Colorado, that he expects to return with his family to Columbus to make his future home. Mr. Englehart is a man of means and expects to engage in ranch business in this community. Mrs. Englehart was formerly Miss Horst and the family are very well known south of Columbus.
-F. T. Walker returned from Cedar Rapids Wednesday where he spent several days closing up some important land sales he had made during the year. Among the tracts were 900 acres to Henry Ragatz, 480 acres to C. H. Sheldon, 320 acres to Walter W. Butler, 160 acres to Mrs. Lucy Ann Coakson, 320 acres to Judge J. A. Grimmon. Mr. Walker, in company with two gentlemen of Cedar Rapids, also purchased 1200 acres of the improved land near Spaulding.
-During the three days that the North Nebraska Teachers' association is held in Columbus there will be an art exhibit in the language room of the Columbus High school. The pictures for this display come from the Honors E. Turner collection and represent the following well known houses: Berlin Photograph Co., Franz Hanzstengel Co. and the Soule Photo Studio Co. The collection is the most interesting of its kind in existence, containing copies of the most beautiful paintings in the world, ancient and modern; photographs of the most famous architectural works, and the most beautiful photographs of our own wonderful natural scenery. An admission of ten cents will be charged. The fund raised by this exhibit will be used in decorating the public schools of our city. See the collection and help a good cause along.
-Last Wednesday night the Overland Limited passenger and freight train No. 27 had a head end collision at Gilmore. One man was instantly killed and four were injured. The fault lies with E. H. Secord the operator at Gilmore, who forgot that the train were to pass there and had thrown the switch to permit the freight to go out. The freeman on the freight was killed, and four injured, the injured are: James Taylor, passenger engineer, Otis Wilson freeman on passenger, George M. Church, baggage man, and a man who was stealing a ride on the freight. James Taylor was for several years a resident of Columbus, remaining on the bench needs of the Union Pacific east from here, and had just recently been transferred from engineer on a freight to that of a passenger train. George Church, the baggage man, who was badly burned in the accident, was also formerly on one of the branch roads. Both Taylor and Wilson jumped into the ditch and were badly burned and cut and sustained broken bones. The engine was damaged, three freight cars derailed, and baggage or ruined.
-The following parties have been given marriage licenses during the past week by Judge Ratterman: Herman Lindstrom of Clay county and Minnie Klaver of Platte county; William Estman and Mary Ellen Hawk, both of Platte county; E. L. A. Westcott of Creston and Mary McCurdy of Madison; Earl Ludwig and Pearl Anson, both of Creston; Edward L. Taylor and Lillie Samsel, both of Lindsay; William Batt-hair of Saunders county and Doretta Mohrman of Platte county.
-The Commercial club has purchased six lots in the eastern part of town adjoining both the Union Pacific and B. & M. tracks, for the use of the new brick and tile plant. The firm name will be The Karr-Nichols Co. the members of which expect to begin the erection of buildings, etc., at once. The gentlemen agree to establish a plant with a capacity of two million brick a year, and the Commercial club agree to turn over the deeds to the Karr-Nichols Co. when the plant is built and in operation. Mayor Dickinson and President Phillips of the club have been untiring in securing this enterprise and deserve great credit for their success.
-Telegraphic news from Washington, D. C. dated the 15th, says: "Upon the commencement of the new fiscal year, July 1, the postoffice department will re-adjust the service of eight Nebraska postoffices, by increasing the salaries for clerk hire and making allowances in some cases for the employment of additional clerks. The offices to be affected are as follows: Columbus—one additional clerk at a salary of $500 a year; one clerk increased from $500 to $600, and one clerk increased from $700 to $800." Other towns mentioned as having an increase are Fremont, Grand Island, Hastings, Nebraska City, Norfolk, Plattsmouth and York.
-Sup't Leavy was visiting schools last week. He found them in good condition. The teachers, he says, are taking a great deal of interest in securing libraries. Many are making preparations to attend the N. N. T. A. which will be held in Columbus April 1, 2 and 3. Platte county teachers should take a pride in this meeting and be able to carry away the prize for the best attendance. The benefits to be derived from this meeting will be acquaintance with prominent educators, exchange of ideas, general enthusiasm and impetus to our country. Teachers can hardly afford to stay away and each school board should see, as many are doing, that its teacher is given an opportunity to attend.
-At the Bean school house entertainment last Friday evening, twenty dollars was realized, clear of expense, the money to be used for the purchasing of books for a school library for the district. A. J. Mason, teacher of the school has been the instigator of the plan. There are several schools in the county interested in the library work and Sup't Leavy has compiled a list of good books from those used in the high school and public library, which will be of value to the teachers. Among the teachers besides Mr. Mason who are now working up the library interest are: Misses Mary Cronin, district 19; Laura Christensen, district 74; Anna Webster, district 38 and Belle Harris, district 28.
-Chris Huggier, of near Osceola, came near losing his life in the flood last Monday. He had been visiting his sister, Mrs. John Ernst, west of E. Y. Lisco's, and was returning home when the flood of ice and water overtook him south of Lisco's residence. The horse became frightened and broke away from the buggy and soon the vehicle was thrown by the ice to a barb wire fence. Mr. Huggier by following the fence managed to save his life. Misses Lydia and Jome Sparhawk also had a narrow escape on Wednesday. They were driving near the Lisco residence and in attempting to go around a culvert where a bridge had been washed out, their horse got into a deep hole, and but for the timely assistance of some one passing, all might have been drowned.
-Carl Kramer returned Friday from Bonesteel, South Dakota, where he visited W. B. Backus, formerly of Columbus. Mr. Backus is practicing law in that city. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McFayden, also formerly of Columbus, are conducting a hotel there. Bonesteel is two miles from the Rosebud Indian agency which will be opened by the government for homesteads. It had been generally understood that the reservation would be opened this spring, but the law requires that congress shall pass upon this matter and it can therefore not be settled before that body meets next fall. Bonesteel expects to be greatly benefited by the settlement of the reservation. Mr. Kramer says that the land there is good but barren of trees.
-Several farmers of Boone county have recently left there for other parts and in that connection the Albion News is moved to make a few very truthful statements as follows: "Immigration agents and all others should understand by this time that one of the principal missions of this newspaper is to 'stand up' for Nebraska." We have been thus "standing up" for nearly twenty-four years and it has become chronic with us. We repeat and are honest in our declaration, that we believe farmers especially are "deluded" when they think they can find a better country than Nebraska. There is no section of the whole United States where the farmers have made more substantial progress than here in Boone county, or where there is a brighter prospect for the future. However, we have no quarrel with those who differ with us, but shall maintain our privilege of believing they are "deluded" just the same. Selah!"
-Rev. H. H. Millard, presiding elder of the Grand Island district of the Methodist church, was in the city Friday and purchased the residence of H. E. Backus on west Fifteenth street. Rev. Millard and family will move to Columbus some time about June and will make this city their home. For some time past the presiding elder has contemplated this change, this city being more central for reaching the towns of the district. The Grand Island district includes the counties north of the Platte river, as far west as Grand Island, east to Ames, and including a large territory north. It is altogether probable that hereafter the presiding elder will make his home in Columbus as the church has recognized for some time that the traveling expense would be much less while living here. In that case the district

BEGINNING

The millinery season with a vim. New York and Chicago's most attractive hat creations on exhibit will clearly demonstrate the great care that has been exercised in the matter of selection. Each hat has been carefully selected by our trimmer, Miss Hattie Selzer.

would be re-named the Columbus district. Rev. Millard has a family consisting of a wife and one young daughter. Mr. Babcock expects to erect a new residence on his lots west of C. H. Sheldon's, a dwelling of large proportions that will be a credit to the city.

The annual High school oratorical contest was held Friday evening in North opera house, a large audience greeting the contestants. The different grades in the High school were represented in large numbers and occupied the four boxes and stalls, also part of the down stairs sections were reserved for the larger classes. The exercises were excellent, the entire evening's program being given by the young people. The High school orchestra under the leadership of Prof. Poirer rendered several selections. The soloists were Miss Lottie Hockenberger, vocal solo. Misses Fran Hockenberger and Emma Ragatz piano solos, and Will Boettcher violin solo. There were seven contestants and all represented their part excellently. The judges were Rev. Luce, Rev. Halsey and Dr. Paul. The decision of the judges was: first place Elsie Bruegger, second, Pauline Elise and third, Rappi Wagner. Miss Bruegger will represent Columbus at the North Nebraska contest, which will meet in this city the first week in April.
-Many of the merchants have remarked the falling off of trade since the Loup river wagon bridge has been out of repair. Columbus receives a large patronage from the south, which is well settled up with enterprising farmers. The long distance to Silver Creek and Osceola gives this city the larger part of the trade for miles south of town, and quick work should be the motto of those who are entrusted with seeing to the repairs on this bridge. Since the above was put into type the approach has been repaired so that teams are now passing over as usual. The Loup and Platte rivers both went on a general rampage last week and the bridges that stood the strain seem to be in the minority, although the Platte wagon bridge which does not appear to be strong, did not lose a pier when the ice broke up Wednesday afternoon. The Loup bridge at Fullerton was taken out, sections of it being carried as far as Genoa. The Genoa and Palmer bridges also went out. The Silver Creek and Schuyler wagon bridges on the Platte also went down with the ice. The Loup river is now clear of floating ice, but there is much yet to be seen backed up in many of the low places.
