CALIFORNIA votes $125,000 for an exhibit of that state's products at the St. Louis exposition.

It is predicted that great damage will be done to the oyster industry in the south by the present flood.

Today, Wednesday, Genoa tax payers vote on a school house bond proposition. That city is very much crowded for school room.

The proposed constitutional amendment in New Hampshire granting women the right of suffrage was defeated by a vote of 35,000 to 13,000.

The question of prohibition or high license will be submitted to the voters at the coming election in the towns of Fairbury, Osceola, Elmwood and Cedar Rapids.

The Detroit Free Press is of the opinion that few of us are so fortunately situated as the railroad. We have to pay our taxes first, and discuss the constitutionality of the law afterwards.

The engineering department of the Iowa Agricultural college reports that every county in the state has clay suitable for the manufacture of clay products. The state now ranks eighth in value of clay products.

N. K. FAIRBANKS, the noted millionaire manufacturer, died at his home in Chicago Friday last, aged 73. He was a native of New York state, but had lived in Chicago for nearly half a century. He is survived by seven children.

GROVER CLEVELAND is soon to make a western tour, coming as far as Denver, which is 500 miles further west than he has ever been. He has sent word to a friend that he was going west as an "advertising agent" for tariff reform.

At Burlington, Iowa, the other day one hundred square inches of skin were successfully grafted upon the body of Carl Giese, who was seriously scalded. Fifty persons contributed the entire for the operation, which lasted five hours.

The greatest strike in the history of the Doane-Hamler copper mine at Bette Lake, near Grand Encampment, Wyo., from which some of the richest copper ores ever taken from a mine has been found, was made last Thursday night.

WILLIAM EDWARD ANNIN for many years a citizen of Omaha, died in Phoenix, Ariz., last Thursday. Mr. Annin had gone to Phoenix to ward off the consumption malarial to which he was a victim. His wife was with him. William E. Annin has been identified with western journalism and western interests for twenty-five years. Coming west in the latter '70s with a geological expedition from Princeton college.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT on his coming western trip will discuss all the important public topics that have had the attention of his administration during the past year. President Roosevelt is one of the public men who believe in taking the public into his confidence, and the public reciprocates by confiding in him and backing up his judgment with a vigorous public sentiment.—Omaha Bee.

The readiness with which President Roosevelt recedes from any position which he has made is as much to be admired as his tenacity in sticking to a purpose when he knows he is right, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press. The Flimley case, where he withdrew a commission for an $8,000 appointment after the nominee had been confirmed by the senate, on a request from that body, illustrates one characteristic; his attitude in refusing to exclude negroes from office, the other.

The Platte river at Fremont, says the Tribune, has already this spring wasted enough power to turn a thousand factories and run a string of trolley cars as long as from here to Waboo at a rate of a mile a minute. Wherefore we will be pardoned once more for calling for the construction of a canal.—Chief Game Warden Simpkins passed through Fremont yesterday with a consignment of 169 prairie chickens, which he had confiscated at Erving. The birds were locked in three trucks, but the job was done clumsily, as some of the feathers stuck out where the lid closed over the body of one of the receptacles. The illegal shipment of game was intended for a dealer at a distant point.

It has been but a few years ago that the majority of Nebraska farmers were content to dispose of their grain as soon as it was harvested and thrashed in order to meet pressing monetary obligations. A late report from Washington indicates that quite a different condition now exists and that Nebraska is right up at the top in the amount of grain being held. This report shows of last year's crop still in the possession of Nebraska farmers there is 34 per cent of wheat, 51 per cent of corn and 40 per cent of oats. The farmers of few states, even in the east exceed or equal this showing. It is a property item of much weight, and indicates that the farmers of this state are able to hold their crops for good prices.—Norfolk News.

Lincoln Letter.

(Special Correspondence.)

The feature of the session last week was the passage of the new revenue bill in the house. The final discussion of the measure was warm and protracted, brought on mostly by those who desired to inject important amendments. The efforts to seriously amend the bill failed, however, and it went on its final passage Friday. The result was 70 to 21 in favor of the bill. All but two of those voting against the measure were fusionists, driven into line against it by the party whip. In this they were simply following the program announced at the commencement of the session that they "must oppose all important legislation advanced by the republican party."

Those who have studied the new bill, as it now appears and as it undoubtedly will be accepted by the senate, declare that it will put the finances of the state on a proper basis, without additional burden on those who are already properly listing their property with the assessors. It is believed that enough hidden property will be brought to light, and better methods of collection will be enforced, to make up the deficit now yearly experienced by the state. It is known at this time that Governor Mickey has carefully read and thoroughly approves of the measure and that he had not the least intention of vetoing it.

Next in public interest to the revenue bill has been the passage of the Ramsey elevator bill in the house. It went on its final passage on Friday and received the unanimous vote of the body. On the same afternoon, in company with the revenue bill, it was given the first reading in the senate, and the second reading on Saturday, so that without doubt before the end of this week it will be sent to the governor. It is noticed that fusion papers are attacking this bill, because it was introduced by a republican, and that their clamor against the "elevator trust" was again a scheme to manufacture political thunder.

The bill to more clearly define political lines in primary elections passed both houses by practically unanimous vote, and has been sent to the governor. It has aroused the ire of that class of politicians in Omaha and Lincoln who make it a practice to run in voters of the emergency class, so that the law cannot be applied to the coming city primaries in Omaha. The feature they object to in the bill is that which requires the voter, when challenged, to swear that he has "generally" voted for the party which is holding the primaries. Republicans who support their party ticket fail to see where such a requirement in the law would injure anyone except political shysters.

The movement in the house to immediately take up and consider the appropriation bills is one of much importance to the state, as it insures careful consideration of these measures before the rush of the closing days comes. It is a new and much needed change in methods in Nebraska legislative practice, and will be watched with much interest. Heretofore the practice has been to take up private bills, and "logrolling" schemes first, shoving off the appropriation bills until the last, to the utter demoralization of business during the last few days. The old plan was one much taken advantage of by those who had doubtful claims to further, or who were looking for large grants from the treasury for favored localities. This year with the appropriation bill out of the way in good time the opportunities of "grabbing" will be limited.

It is noticeable this session that the members of the legislature and the rank and file of the party have no patience with the many time-dishonored schemes to ignore the statutes and raid the treasury. This has again been shown in the general protest against the plan of two or three of the members to load down the pay rolls of the house with the useless and illegal employees. The prompt action of the state auditor when the matter was called to his attention led to an immediate discharge of some of those who had been secretly added to the pay roll, and there is some amusement in the house over the efforts of the responsible parties to "explain."

WALLACE FARMER of Des Moines, Iowa, endorses the idea of each county in that state using the county poor farms as an agricultural experimental station. We clip the following in reference to the plan: "If the boards of supervisors in the various counties and in the various states can be induced to conduct experiments on the line on which they are conducted at the agricultural colleges on every county farm, they would perform a much-needed service and would make these county farms about the most interesting spots in the country. Two things are necessary to accomplish this purpose. First, the selection of a superintendent of the poor farm not on political grounds, as most of them are selected, but because he is a skillful, practical farmer, and also awake to the interests of agricultural education, not the education of the boys but the education of the farmers in the county. To make this county education valuable to the state as well as the county, experiments should be conducted in co-operation with the experiment station of the state. The time will come, not perhaps in the near future, but in the not very distant future, when each county will have a little experiment station of its own, the lessons of which will be particularly valuable to the people of that county."

PRESIDENT MARKHAM of the Royal Geographical society, commenting on the achievements of the British Antarctic ship Discovery, says it has been proved conclusively that the greater part of the Antarctic region is a vast continent. Captain Scott, the commander of the Discovery, penetrated 100 miles further south than any previous explorer and discovered an extensive mountainous region, hitherto absolutely unknown, extending to 83.50 south. He thinks this indicates that the land stretches to the pole in a series of very lofty mountains, which is considered to be far the most important geographic result ever achieved in Antarctic explorations. The Discovery wintered 400 miles further south than any vessel had previously wintered.

GUYSTON FRANKLIN SWIFT, president of the Swift Packing company, died at his home, 4648 Ellis avenue, Chicago, Sunday morning, of internal hemorrhage, after a long illness. He was 65 years old, and was a resident of Chicago for many years. He was a member of the Swift Packing company, which is one of the largest packing companies in the world. He was a very successful business man, and his death is a great loss to the company and to the city of Chicago.

(From the Signal.)
Wm. Hennessey returned home from Columbus Saturday evening, where he had been for two weeks receiving treatment for his fractured nose.

The reorganization of the democratic party has been commenced. Last Friday evening a few democrats and a pop met in caucus in Platte Center and nominated one republican and one prohibitionist as candidates for members of the village board.

The store which Israel Gluck of Columbus put in at Tarnov last summer not having received patronage satisfactory to the proprietor he has determined to ship the goods to Platte Center and have them closed out, and for that purpose has rented of Thomas Deck the store room recently occupied by Scheidel & Co.

Rural Route No. 1.
Carl Ewart sold a bunch of fat cattle this week.
Louis Wilkon marketed hogs this week, getting top price.

The farmers all along the route are getting ready to commence seeding.

Seth Braun closed his winter term of school in the Losoke district this week.

W. M. Behrens returned home this week after being at the hospital for a short time.

Miss Grace Benson is spending her vacation this week in the country at the home of Mr. G. F. Meyer.

A. G. Knollin is shearing his sheep on the ranch this week; the work is being done by a band of shearers from the west.

The members of the Lutheran church on Losoke creek held a business meeting this week, there being some of the head officers present from Iowa and several towns in Nebraska.

Teachers' Association.
Final preparations for the meeting of the North Nebraska Teachers' association have been completed and everything indicates that there will be a large gathering from Wednesday to Friday this week. On account of the absence of Prof. Kern, who was called east Thursday by the serious illness of his father, the final management has fallen on Prof. Britell.

THE JOURNAL printed the entire program for the three days session, two weeks ago, and our readers may refer to it for particulars.

Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, the Columbus teachers will give a reception to the visitors in the hall at the High school building. The same evening the High school pupils give a reception to the contestants in the school building after the program in the opera house is finished. The building will be decorated for these occasions, and musical programs interpreted for the entertainment of the guests. Mrs. Ed. Kohlmeier, Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Bruggen will be the chaperones for the evening reception.

One of the principal features during the meeting is the Art exhibit, which will consist of 1,200 copies of famous pictures. Mrs. Brindley and Miss Green will have charge of this exhibit, the proceeds from which will be used for decorating school rooms in Columbus.

Prof. Britell has received word from several towns to reserve seats for the Wednesday evening concert, among them are Schuyler 45, Fullerton 18, Bloomfield 4 and Bedford 4. About forty teachers have sent in advance to engage rooms.

Citizens within the past few days have responded to the call for room and board, and there has been found places for 150 to 175 strangers.

School Notes.
Miss Borer and Miss Stillman visited the school Wednesday.

The Freshies have organized a track team for practice this season.

Prof. Kern has been called east again because of the critical condition of his father.

Preparations are being made for the entertainment of those who will attend the association this week.

On Wednesday afternoon a reception will be given by the faculty in the halls of the High school for the teachers. In the evening the students will entertain the contestants and their friends.

The botanical class has commenced microscopic work. By the aid of the new microscopes the most minute plants as pond-scums are being studied. Most of the students enjoy laboratory work.

One of the features of the association which especially interests the students is the North Nebraska declamatory contest. The High school will attend in a body and are ready to support their contestant, Miss Elsie Bruggen, loyally.

R. F. D. No. 3.

Hon. D. A. Becher was home over Sunday.
D. D. Bray had three teams plowing Monday morning.

Louis Beckenhuis went to Omaha Monday night with a car load of hogs.

R. Frank Lawrence has been confined to the house with a second attack of the grippe.

O. L. Baker was wandering around on this route Thursday. We did not learn the nature of his business, but presume he was buying or looking for stock cattle. Mr. Sheldon's teams have been having a hard tug hauling hay over the road west of the old Winslow farm the past week. It is in an extremely bad condition.

The carrier on this route longs to see Jack Frost together with his mortgage nine months stay chatties, deeds and records to pack his "grippe" and go to the nethermost.

Henry Behle commenced to shell his large crib of corn Thursday, but the elements were of such a disagreeable nature that endurance ceased to be a virtue, and operations came to a standstill.

A representative of the Nebraska and Iowa Children's Home society, of which Rev. Quinny is superintendent, located at Omaha, was here recently with a 12-year-old boy to place in the home of Martin Albers on route 3.

Henry Bargman feeling that spring is close at hand and that nothing like nestness about a place helps to improve the works of nature, commenced to paint his house Saturday. He was whitewashing the trunks of his fruit trees last week, which no doubt will be of wonderful benefit to them.

One morning last week as the mail wagon was nearing a very lonely spot just west of Stevens' grove, a man stepped out of the bushes with a gun in an uplifted position seemingly about to take aim at the approaching wagon. The weather was very chilly that morning but the chill that came over the driver as he looked at that raised gun were of a more sensitive nature than the weather produced, but on closer examination the thought-to-be highwayman proved to be none other than our own "Fitz," the deputy postmaster out looking for a "goose." He reported all well at the camp, and the U. S. mail went on its journey unmolested.

Mr. William Behlen of Platte county and Miss Lydia E. Schimanski of North Dakota, were married at 4 p. m. Thursday at the German Baptist church, Shell creek. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, a large company of friends gathered at the church and listened to an address by the pastor on Galatians 6:2, "Bear ye one another's burdens."

Miss Martha Papenhause presided at the organ and played Wagner's Wedding March from "Lohengrin." Mr. William Behlen and Miss Lydia E. Schimanski were groomsmen and bridesmaids. The bride was dressed in a very pretty gown of striped white silk grenadine over white, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaids were also dressed in pretty gowns of white lawn. After the ceremony all were invited to the hospitable home of Mr. Frederick Behlen and nearly one hundred guests were royally entertained. Music was furnished by the new brass instrument quartet composed of Mr. Edward Behlen, Mr. John Behlen, Mr. Arthur Behlen, Mr. Gustave Behlen, and singing by the male quartet composed of Mr. John Kamm, Mr. Fred Behlen, Mr. Fred Mindrup, Mr. Edward Behlen. The young couple received many beautiful wedding presents. The car on this route is under obligation for the rare treat he received through this event.
