—The new Gray business building on North street is progressing rapidly, and is expected to be completed in a few days. The workmen have been adjusted to suit all concerned.
—Frank North, in company of Union Pacific railroad officials, passed through Columbus Monday on a business trip into Wyoming. Frank, we presume, will attend to the short-hand work.
—Mrs. L. W. Snow left Tuesday for Tecumseh where she met Mr. Snow and from there they go together to Oklahoma City where they will visit and also transact business, remaining about two weeks.
—John Sink, of the firm of Sink & Bloom of Hastings, is in the city looking up a location for a cigar manufactory. The firm employ twelve workmen and have a large establishment in Hastings.
—Mrs. Buckley, who for six weeks has been sick at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jack Dolan, is now improving. Mr. Buckley and son John are now visiting the Dolan family. Mr. Buckley is shipping clerk at the U. P. depot in Omaha.
—Services will be held every evening this week in the Methodist church, Rev. Benedict of Sioux City having charge. Song service beginning at 7:30. Presiding Elder Millard will hold the quarterly services in the church next Sunday morning.
—Captain E. C. Hockenberger, who left here several months ago for St. Paul, Minn., has resigned his commission as captain of Co. K, First Regiment Nebraska National Guard. The company do not yet know who his successor will be.
—George Winslow returned Sunday to his home in Holt county after a few days' visit with relatives and friends. Mrs. H. M. Winslow and C. J. Garlow will leave today, Wednesday, for the same place. Mr. Garlow will return in a few days.
—Rev. D. T. Armstrong, a returned Presbyterian missionary from Siam, visited Monday with Rev. Halsey. The two gentlemen were former schoolmates. Rev. Armstrong was on his way to Central City where he was to address an audience Monday evening.
—From Woodville notes in St. Edward Sun we notice that Miss Jessie Maw was taken very sick Sunday, and that Dr. Arnold of this city thought it best for her to come to the hospital for treatment. Martin Apper has been secured to finish Miss Maw's term of school.
—The case of Kyle vs. Eisenmann Saturday was decided in favor of Eisenmann, the decision being no cause for action. Kyle sued for rental due him on land which was rented on the shares. The land produced no crop and Kyle claimed the land had not been properly cared for.
—It is generally conceded now that the rural mail service will eventually be the cause of general good roads. Indiana is the first state to pass a law to compel counties to keep the roads in repair on which the mail routes have been established. In other states are now seen to follow her example. The rural delivery will have served a two-fold purpose if it necessitates good roads.

—The Albion Argus says that Mrs. Leonard Hahl and daughter went to Platte and Omaha while Mr. Hahl looks at South Dakota; that J. H. Parker made a business trip to Columbus, Wednesday. He is looking after the concrete sidewalk business.
—George Flynn, one of the delivery boys at Ragatz's store, was thrown from his wagon Friday near the Union Pacific depot. The horse became frightened at an engine and ran into the pack house plowing Flynn several feet. No damage done and the young man did not lose any time from his work.
—Henry Henschman, who has been conducting a saloon business in the McKinstry building on Eleventh street for several years, last week purchased the store building immediately west of Mrs. R. H. Henry, which has been occupied by L. F. Aasbo as a storage room. Mr. Henschman expects to build a brick building on the lot in the near future.
—The farm residences of Otto Kummer, Kinsley Ben, Henry Martin and Thomas Design were all connected with the city last week through the Independent Telephone company. Otto Kummer is the furthest out, eighteen miles south of Columbus. Those in the country who have the telephone connection, thoroughly enjoy the benefits derived from it.
—T. W. Adams of Columbus was in town Thursday. Mrs. Barclay Jones of Columbus is the guest of Mrs. Charles Kelley. Arrangements have been made to commence work on the Monroe telephone line as soon as the material arrives. H. J. Hendryx left Monday for Maryland and Virginia, where he goes to look up a new location.—Monroe Republicans.
—At the Easter masquerade ball given by the Orpheus society in their hall Monday evening, the largest crowd was present that the society has ever had the pleasure of entertaining. The Orpheus orchestra furnished the music and lunch was served about midnight. The participants retired during the small hours of the night, having spent a very enjoyable time.
—Mrs. Patrick Hayes and children of Platte Center visited a few days with her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Carrig, last week, on their way to Blaine, Washington, where they expect to make their future home. Mr. Hayes has been there over a year where he and his son Frank are both employed in a saw mill. The Hayes family were among the oldest settlers in this community.
—Rolla Baird, editor of the Spalding Enterprise, was in town Wednesday on his way to Blaine, Idaho, where he expects to remain for several months and may decide to locate. He has leased his newspaper plant at Spalding. Mr. Baird is brother of George Baird, the mill clerk, and son of Editor Baird of Cedar Rapids who has raised a large family, nearly all of whom are in the newspaper profession.
—Fifty new engines have been ordered by the Union Pacific of the Baldwin Locomotive works. Twenty of the new engines are of the Atlantic passenger type, with eighty-four-inch driving wheels, and weighing 190,000 pounds each; twenty will be consolidation engines with fifty-seven-inch driving wheels; and ten will be ten-wheel locomotives, with seventy-two-inch driving wheels, weighing 194,000 pounds each.
—Charles L. Stillman left Saturday for Lead, South Dakota, where he has purchased one of the leading drug stores in the western country. If there is any young man in Columbus who deserves success, it is Charles Stillman, and his many good friends in his native town, where he, and his father before him, have been makers of local history, will wish him all that he deserves. His mother and sister, Mrs. Lela, and brother, Bert, will continue to reside in Columbus.
—Miss Nettie Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Reid living west of the city, died at her home Friday, after a two week illness. Miss Reid was 22 years old. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Presbyterian church, Rev. Halsey officiating. Besides the parents, three brothers who live near Columbus, Mrs. Burke, a sister, and William Reid, both of Aberdeen, South Dakota, were all present at the funeral.
—Monday's Lincoln Star contained the following: "A salary to be earned in the future cannot be bartered away or contracted for in the present. The supreme court in the case of the Columbus National bank against William O'Brien has declared that such a transaction is against public policy and is void. William O'Brien was county attorney of Platte county. In a business deal he gave the bank his notes and as security contracted to pay his salary as yet to be earned. The supreme court asserted that the contract was inimical to the public good and contrary to the principles of law. Commissioner Pound wrote this opinion."

—Albert Giger and family returned to Columbus Saturday from Ellensburg, Washington, where they have been living the past two years. Mr. Giger had not sold his residence property here, and returns to make this his future home, concluding that, after all, Platte county is about as good as any place to live. Mr. Giger was formerly employed in the wooden shoe factory of C. A. Lutz & Co. On Wednesday he leaves for Switzerland where he will spend three months, principally to look after the estate of his father-in-law, and on his return to this city will probably engage in business. Columbus is always glad to welcome back her good old-time citizens.
—Governor Mickey has announced the appointment of his staff for the ensuing two years and Columbus is remembered in the distribution. The first active duties that the staff will be called upon to perform will be to take part in the inaugural ceremonies of the Louisiana Purchase exposition. The names and ranks of the members of the staff follow: On General Staff—Col. George E. Jenkins, quartermaster and commissary general, Fairbury; Col. Carroll D. Evans, surgeon general, Columbus; Col. Charles J. Hill, inspector general, Fairbury; Col. John A. Eberhardt, judge advocate, Platte Center. Aides de Camp—Col. E. H. Tracy, Norfolk; Col. E. A. Adams, Superior; Col. C. A. Miles, Hastings; Col. Jacob Dew, Tecumseh; Col. Wilson Chess, Twenty-first infantry, United States army, Lincoln; Col. W. W. McLaughlin, Hastings; Col. S. M. Matlack, Lincoln; Col. J. W. Thomas, Omaha; Col. H. P. F. Taylor, Washburn; Col. G. W. Kaylor, Red Cloud.

—The cattle on the Sheldon ranch which have been afflicted with ergot poisoning are all improving and out of the herd of 40 that were suffering about three weeks ago, 30 have recovered. Mr. Sheldon is of the opinion that the feeding of plenty of grain has been the best remedy for the cattle, although he has been doctoring in other ways for the disease. The cattle on the Kummer ranch south of the river which have been similarly afflicted are also improving.
—At a meeting of the school board last week the committee on buildings and grounds was instructed to enter into contract for the construction of brick walls around school grounds in the city. County Superintendent Leary was given permission to use the High school building for holding the institute in June. The board unanimously voted that a resolution of thanks be extended Mrs. John Steffler for the present to the natural history museum of the High school, of a mounted golden eagle and a snow owl. An offer was made to the school board for purchase of the two lots, 3 and 4, in block 23, (west of C. C. Gray's residence) for $900. The board did not consider the amount sufficient and rejected the offer.
—A. C. Andersen, the florist in east Columbus, has been doing a rushing business the past few weeks. Everything in the way of blooming flowers was engaged several days before Easter, and as it has become customary to give blooming plants for Easter presents, many of these were engaged. Mr. Andersen does an extensive business outside of Columbus in selling seeds. The hot house buildings, two in number, are each 25x50 feet and are well filled with growing flowers. Mrs. A. J. Smith, the other florist in the city, has also been receiving numerous orders for the Easter season.
—The first intimation that the Union Pacific company intends to erect a new depot in Genoa at an early date was received Saturday, when a representative of the road arrived and requested that the new elevator of Wells, Abbott & Nieman, upon which the contractor was about to commence work, be located two or three feet north of the site of the old one, as the company expected to relocate the track running north of the depot. Monday morning a civil engineer in the employ of the company surveyed the ground for the new side track and site of the proposed depot. Mr. and Mrs. Julius Phillips arrived home from Columbus Sunday with their little son who recently underwent an operation by which an abscess removed from the back of his head. The child is rapidly recovering.—Genoa Times.
—Last Tuesday many towns of the state considered the question of license or prohibition in their election. The result has been that many towns which were prohibition have "gone wet" and vice versa. Anti-license won in McCool Junction, Humboldt, Beaver City, Edgar, Lawrence, Osceola, Lyons, David City, Ainsley, Nelson, Oak, Aurora, Louisville, Cosad, Craig, Broken Bow and Stanton, while the license ticket won in Johnson, Elwood, Tekamah, Superior, Fullerton, Elgin, Friend, Shelby, Oakland, Ainsworth, Springfield, Neligh, Beatrice, Waco, Benedict, Henderson, Elk Creek, Harvard and Tobias. Stromsburg is equally divided with the council, while the mayor, the license candidate, holds the deciding vote. Newman Grove stands for license—144 for, 63 against. Alma went "dry" for the first time in 18 years, by twice the majority ever polled. Bladen elected two of the three anti-license candidates.
—The Quill says that some time during the next thirty days the name of the Schuyler flour mill will be changed and the firm will be incorporated. It will be known as the Wells-Abbott-Nieman company. The growth of this concern has been phenomenal. In 1870 it was established as Wells & Nieman on Shell creek and had fifty barrels capacity. The mill has grown steadily from the beginning and during last summer additions were made and the capacity of the flour output alone reached 1,200 barrels a day. During this summer the capacity will be increased 300 barrels. Besides flour the mill has an extensive corn meal department, probably the largest of its kind in the state, and makes several brands of cereal foods. The output reaches all points of the United States and also a number of foreign countries. At the present time fifty people are on the payroll of the company.
—The city council met April 9 to canvass the votes of the recent election and adjourned to meet the following evening. At the meeting Friday, Councilmen Gieson, Galley and Sheldon, and Mayor Beecher were installed in their respective offices and took their seats. Galley was elected president of the council. P. J. McCaffrey and Fred A. Brunhorst were, upon application, re-appointed as engineer and assistant engineer, respectively, at the city pumping station. Wholesale and retail liquor licenses and also druggists' permits were granted. The council accepted the resignation of Councilman Stillman and elected J. B. Gietzen to take his place. Councilman Clark introduced a motion to make the Telegram the official paper of the city. Mr. Galley offered an amendment to the motion asking that the printing be left to bids, which amendment carried. The council will meet again Friday evening. The mayor has not yet made his assignment.
—The city election last Tuesday passed off very quietly, only a light vote being cast in any of the wards. The endorsement of the democratic candidates by some of the democratic candidates to run, took the election almost entirely out of politics. The republicans had four candidates on the ticket and elected all. Charles Sheldon was elected councilman of the Third ward by a majority of six votes. J. H. Galley for councilman Second ward and Bert Galley for city treasurer had scarcely any votes cast against them. For members of school board both parties nominated one man and endorsed the other party's candidate. M. Brugger was nominated by the democrats and W. A. McAllister by the republicans, the latter to take the place of George A. Scott, whose term expires this spring. The democrats endorsed by the republicans and elected are: John G. Beecher, mayor; Wm. Beecher, clerk; B. L. Bamber, engineer; Jacob Grzeski, councilman First ward.

J. C. FILLMAN.

Schuyler merchants are many of them feeling pretty much discouraged over the poor prospect of getting a new bridge across the Platte. Why not put on a stiff upper lip and all work toward getting the bridge back instead of sitting around moping. Work has commenced and is progressing rapidly on the county jail building. Several cars of brick and stone have been received and are being hauled to the grounds. More people think that $5,000 is more than should have been expended on the jail. However there is no use in putting up a poor structure.—Schuyler Sun.

—Albert Pearson Swearingen, an old-time settler of this community, died early this Tuesday morning at the hospital, from heart trouble, aged 59 years. Mr. Swearingen was born in Troy, Iowa. He was a member of the Ninth Iowa cavalry, and held the office of commissary sergeant, experiencing the horrors of war for about two years. About twenty-eight years ago Mr. Swearingen came to this state, purchasing the farm about eight miles south of Columbus where he has made his home since with the exception of a few years spent in Lincoln. His wife died about twelve years ago. The deceased leaves three children—Mrs. Haggerty living near Bellwood, and Earle and Floyd, who are both engaged in business in Lincoln, all of whom were present at the time of his death. Mr. Swearingen was a member of the Masonic lodge of Shelby and also of the Ben Hur lodge. Funeral services will be held this Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at the home of James Kinman, a neighbor, after which the body will be interred in Westleyan cemetery near Osceola, where his wife and two children are buried. Mr. Swearingen was a man who made many friends, and his genial nature will be remembered by all the old settlers and those who know him.
